Plunkett Sisters, at the Opera House, tonight.

The weight and measure social last night is reported as being a very pleasant affair in every way and a success.

Don't forget to go out to hear the Plunkett Sisters Dramatic Company in Aurora Floyd, at the Opera House tonight.

Mr. Myron E. Wheeler and Frank Wheeler came down from Lincoln, last evening, accompanied by two young ladies of Lincoln, and the merry party are guests of Maj. and Mrs. Wheeler.

Don't fail to go and hear the Plunkett Sisters tonight.

We have received from A. S. Barnes & Co., samples of their new 1st, 2d, and 3d school readers, which are without doubt the handsomest school books ever published. The books are of the highest character, and worthy examination from school boards and districts that may be looking for the best in the line of school books.

Some enterprising individual in Omaha, so it is reported, loaded his grocery store onto a raft, last night, and started down stream about 4 o'clock this morning, in order to dodge "that little bill, you know." He has not passed as yet, and arrangements are being made to induce him to stop here, if not to locate.

Much excitement was occasioned in the home of Mr. J. N. Wise by the failure of Willard Wise, last evening, to return with the rest of the party who were at the picnic at Bellevue, all inquiry failed to trace him and telegrams were sent to Bellevue. Fortunately no bad result was in the case, for Willard had got carried by Orenopsis in the wrong coach and was put off at Cedar Creek, and he is now all right at home.

This evening occurs the wedding of Mr. Charles E. Duke and Miss Lena Levings, at the home of Mrs. Levings, in the Second Ward, this city. The wedding will be a very pleasant one in every respect.

Mr. P. H. Swift and Mr. James Patterson, Jr., will stand guard over the groom, and Miss Alma Waterman and Miss Anna Livingston attend the bride to the altar.

Both of these young folks are so well and favorably known that the HERALD will, in advance, wish for them all happiness.

THE MAGICAL METEOR.

It Dissolves Like a Drop of Dew Before the Morning Sun.

The Most Mysterious Element of the Strange Phenomenon.

Special to the State Journal.

Your correspondent has just returned from the spot where the aerial visitor fell last Friday. It is gone, dissolved into air. A tremendous rain storm yesterday afternoon, beginning about 2 o'clock. As it approached, in regular blizzard style, most of those assembled to watch the mysterious visitor, fled to shelter. A dozen or more among whom was your correspondent, waited to see the effect of the rain upon the glowing mass of metal. The storm came down from the north, rest a sheet of flying spray and a torrent of rain. It was impossible to see more than a rod through the driving, blinding mass. It lasted for half an hour, and when it slackened so that the aerolite should have been visible it was no longer there. The draw was running three feet deep in water, and supposing it had floated off the strange vessel the party crossed over at the risk of their lives.

They were astounded to find that the queer object had melted; dissolved by the water like a spoonful of salt. Scarcely a vestige of it remained. Small, jelly like pools stood here and there on the ground, but under the eyes of the observers these grew thinner and thinner till they were but muddy water joining the rills that led to the current a few feet away. The air was filled with a faint sweetish smell.

The whole affair is bewildering in the highest degree, and will no doubt forever remain a mystery.

Alt Williamson, the injured cowboy, left yesterday for Denver, accompanied by his brother. It is learned he will never recover his eyesight, but otherwise he does not appear to be seriously injured.

There has been a continued stream of investigators here for the past two days, among them a number of members of the press. The Denver Tribune representative was among the witnesses to the evanishment of the wonderful visitor. There are a thousand theories about as to how it came and what it was, but they are all unfortunately incapable of solution.

YOUNG MEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB.

An Organization for the Campaign.

Last evening as per announcement in the HERALD, a large number of young men who had signed the call for a young men's Republican club, assembled at the County Judge's office and effected an organization for the campaign. The boys were full of enthusiasm over the promise of a wide awake campaign, and the club will be heard from in no unimpeachable terms when the campaign is fairly opened.

A campaign Glee Club, from the best male voices, will be one of the attractions of the club, steps having been taken already for its organization. A torch-light club of one hundred will be organized and uniformed as soon as they may be needed, and they will hold themselves in readiness for meetings here or out in the State wherever public demonstrations are the order. The boys will come to the front, and other cities in the State will be invited to show up with them.

At the meeting last night, and after permanent organization was effected, the executive committee that will have largely the work of the campaign in hand, gave notice of a meeting tonight at Mayor Smith's office, at which time they will secure a club room and arrange for a further canvass of names, as well as outlining early campaign work. The club will meet at the place designated by the executive committee, on next Monday evening.

A neat pamphlet just issued by the C. B. & Q. R. R., shows that the "Burlington Route" has 5,000 miles of steel track and that it hauls every day in the year over its several lines 200 passenger and 500 freight trains. It is the only line carrying the fast mail west from Chicago, and the line over which ran the first through international train between the City of Mexico and Chicago. Of 235,313 cars of grain inspected at Chicago, on all the roads centering there, for the year 1883, the Burlington carried 75,619 or 32.25 per cent.

THE FLOWER MISSION.

Noble Work of Warm Hearts and Kindly Hands.

As had been duly announced in the Journal a number of the ladies in Lincoln, as Flower Mission day approached were interesting themselves in its proper observance. Themselves in the enjoyment of liberty and happiness, their hearts went out to those who, by crime or misfortune, had been shut away from the sunlight and flowers the Creator had lavished upon the children of earth. With the earnest zeal and holy enthusiasm which ever animates the bosom of the gentler sex when appealed to on behalf of the suffering and the unhappy, they bestowed themselves to give the inmates of the State Prison and the Insane Hospital at least one brief glimpse and friendly reminder of the beautiful world outside that was waking to new life and more glorious beauty under the quickening beams of the summer sun.

With this laudable object in view they collected last Saturday a vast quantity of beautiful flowers, arranged them with most exquisite taste and placed them on ice to keep their freshness till the next day.

Sunday morning a number of ladies and gentlemen visited the penitentiary. The flowers had been taken there early in the morning and each inmate received a bouquet.

At the usual hour for religious services the prisoners were mustered in the chapel and the visitors appeared. Chaplain Howe gave up his time and it was employed by the ladies. Mrs. Hardy made the convicts a short and pathetic talk on "Home and Mother," stirring no doubt many a rough heart to its profoundest depths and awakening sensations to which it had long been a stranger.

Mrs. Angie Newman, in her pleasant and interesting way, related the history of the flower mission work, and it would be strange if many a blessing did not pass the closed portals of the grim walls for the poor and crippled, but noble-hearted woman far away who, herself a prisoner for life in an invalid's narrow room, devoted all her days to those who are shut away from the blessings so cheap to the free but so dear to the inmates of a cell. Mrs. Newman was listened to with marked interest.

Miss Minnie Parker rendered a select reading in her finished style, to the great gratification of her hearers, and the simple but exceedingly pleasing exercises ceased. The prison officials extended the warm-hearted visitors all the assistance in their power, and seemed to be pleased at the alleviation of the gloom and solitude of their charge.

The philanthropic party visited the asylum and adorned the walls with baskets of flowers and talked with a number of inmates. The most profuse thanks were tendered them by those able to comprehend their generous intentions, and the softening influence of the gifts was plainly noticeable on all. Here too the officers kindly co-operated.

It is not invidious to say that to Mr. Newman is due the chief credit for the success of this unique but helpful charity. It cannot be too much commended.

Besides these there were some, among the very few extremely poor and sick, who had occasion to thank the noble hearts engaged in the halcyon task of lightning affliction.—Lincoln Journal.
