FOR PRESIDENT, JAMES G. BLAINE, of Maine.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT. JOHN A. LOGAN, of Illinois.

From the political outlook there is North Carelina.

CHAIRMAN DORSEY comes to the front in an open letter to the editor of the Omaha Republican, which is calculated to tone that organ up.

AND now, after a re-consideration of Indiana's Third Plank, Doctor Miller abandons the "cautious declaration" theory, and rather thinks, Joe Mc Donald had temporarily stepped out of the Indiana convention for a --- something. while Dan Voorhees got in his work in favor of -protection.

When Doctor Miller admits that the bourbons' straddle in Indiana, things are becoming very serious, the Lincoln Journal should at once put in an ap-the forlorn hope. What a glorious spectacle it would be to see Geo. Wilthe support of Mr. Samuel J. Tilden "Purity and reform" in that case would be a greater joke than was the speciac ular exhibition of poor old Horace Greeley posing as the leader of the Democracy in 1872.

One class of democratic organs like the Times and Harper's Weekly dare the democracy of the country to immoate their Cobden candidate at the Chimust be Cleveland, or death-to democracy. The other class swear by the great horn spoon that the ex sheriff of Buffalo can never receive their support, and in the meantime the many in the expectation that Cleveland's gourd will wither, refuse to sprout.

Henri says, of Messrs. Randall and Barnum, "they are dangerous," "only as conspirators."

The most remarkable feature of modern democracy, is the fict, that all the bloody-shirt, strictly loyal, anything to save the union, portion of the democ racy, are just such patricts as Henry Watterson and the shot gun-free-trade party of the South; while the traitors are northern democrat like Sam Ran-

MR. BLAINE'S FOREIGN POLICY. From the Chleago Tribune,

The dispatch which was prepared by transmission to the diplomatic representative of this country in the Argentine Republic, and which was printed in the last issue of the Chicago Tri bune, contains an exact interpretation of his foreign policy, and a full exposivery little doubt but the republican tion of his views of the relations which party can carry West Virginia and should exist between the United States and the American continent. It is no rush prediction to assert that in his forthcoming letter of acceptance Mr. Blaine will reiterate the sentiments contained in that dispatch, and that his views of the foreign policy of the country will not be found to have changed in any particular since it was

Does and his notorious high smelling record. this look like war with Chili, or any other South American State? Can any thing be farther from beilig rent poliev than the following frank statemen :

"It seems also desirable to disclaim in advance any purpose on the part of the United States to prejudge the is su s to be presented to the congress. It is far from the intent of this government to appear before the congress as to any sense the protector of its neighbors, or the predestined and necessary arbitrator of their disputes. The United States will enter into the deliberations of the congress on the same footing as the other Powers represented, and with the loyal determination to approach any proposed solution, not merely in its own interest, or with a view to asserting its own pow er, but as as a single member among many co-ordinate and coequal States. Whatever conque ts this country may achieve under that policy will be those of peace and co-operation, and will be of a character hat shill enhance the importance and the dignity of this country and brad her mere closely to the other American States. The Pall Mall Gazett reached the very core of the Blaine policy when it said:

"Wherever Blaine can oust the British from the position they hold on the American Continent he will endeavor to replace English influence and trade by American."

The Gazette exactly hits the mark. Mr. Blaine believes in a Western conti nental trade policy, in reciprocity of mutual benefit between us and our American neighbors, in an adequate navy, in ample coast defenses, in a commercial marine, and that this country
