WHO HAS CHANGED?
 Boston Journal: Wednesday evening, June 30, 1876, the republicans of Massachusetts assembled in Faneuil Hall to ratify the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler. Gov. Rice presided and his eloquent and touching reference to Mr. Blaine, says the report, elicited long and hearty applause. Ex Gov. Rice heartily indorses the nomination of Mr. Blaine today. The next speaker was the Hon. R. H. Dana, one of the delegates. He praised the alacrity of the Maine delegation in taking the initiative to make the nomination of Mr. Hayes unanimous. The Hon. E. Rockwood Hoar, who was another delegate-at-large, next addressed the meeting and in the course of his remarks paid the following high tribute to James G. Blaine:

"There was a great difference among the representatives of Massachusetts in their choice and preferences. Mr. Blaine [cheers] whose friend I have been honored by calling myself for years, whose brilliant qualities and great public services have attracted to him an extent of regard among the republicans of the country to which no other man has attained [applause], received in that convention an enthusiastic, persistent, and affectionate support, which must have been a comfort to him and will be the most precious treasure of his life.

The Rev. James Freeman Clarke, another delegate, followed Mr. Hoar after declaring that the Massachusetts delegates who voted for Mr. Blaine had just as good a right to their preferences as had those who voted for Mr. Bristow, he spoke of Mr. Blaine as follows:

"I do not think that Mr. Blaine had a single personal enemy in the delegation, nor one who did not admire his splendid abilities, his great past service, his chivalric courage. In him, no doubt, more than in any other public man who has appeared among us during the last decade, are to be found the qualities described by an American poet:

The monarch-mind, the mystery of command,
 The birth-hour gift, the art Napoleon of
 Weaving, gathering, moulding, welding, banding,
 The hearts of thousands till they beat as one.
 [Cheers.] We all honored his character and sympathized with his sufferings. Massachusetts loves her daughter, the state of Maine."

The praise, falling but little short of that which Ingersoll bestowed upon Mr. Blaine in presenting his name to the convention, was spoken after all the testimony which the committee of the democratic house had collected had been made public, after the publication of the Mulligan letters, and when the matter was fresh in the minds of the public. Since that time Mr. Blaine has not been prominent in legislation, except so far as he has acted with the advocates of sound money to defeat the repeal of the Resumption act and to prevent the free coinage of silver. Nevertheless a few weeks ago the Rev. James Freeman Clarke not only spoke in terms derogatory of Mr. Blaine, but declared that his associates and followers are the riff raff of the party. Mr. Blaine's followers in 1876 was very nearly the same as in 1884. In 1876 Mr. Clarke spoke of that following as "complimentary terms; in 1884 it was the riff raff of the country. Is it because Mr. Blaine and his followers have deteriorated since 1876 that he condemns both in sweeping terms?"
