Blind Boone at the Opera House tonight. Hear him.

The tent meetings continue up on Chicago avenue and seem to be well attended.

W. L. Tucker is doing a good piece of work repairing the walks at the court house.

C. G. Herold has closed out his stock of goods here, and will ship them to his store in Lincoln.

Our special reporter was at the democratic meeting last evening, and he no doubt enjoyed the gathering.

The foundation walls of Hatt & Co's brick block are complete, and the work is being pushed rapidly forward.

The city delegates to the county convention will leave on the 8:15 train tomorrow morning for Louisville.

The republican convention meets at Louisville tomorrow, and a large and enthusiastic meeting it will be.

Mr. Frank Barnhouse and family are very happy over the arrival of a nine pound boy. Mrs. Dr. Foster is in attendance.

The store room vacated by C. G. Herold is for rent, and we hear Mr. O'Rourke, the tailor, is contemplating leasing the room for his headquarters.

Blind Boone had a very large house last evening, and one of the best audiences in many days gathered at the opera house. Blind Boone gives his second entertainment this evening.

The culvert work at the depot is being pushed rapidly forward, and is a great improvement. When it is completed, and the ground filled, it will make extra yard room for the company for two or three hundred more cars.

Charles H. Van Wyck, U. S. Senator for all Nebraska, passes through this evening on the K. C. for Omaha, where he will register for the night at the Paxton Hotel, returning tomorrow by the same route for his cornfields in old Otce.

The nearest reply to the brutal assaults made upon Mr. Blaine by Puck, The Post, and Harper's Weekly, with their tatted cartoons, was made the other day by Roscoe Conkling, who remarked "that they were republican scars honorably won in the service of his country."

In another column will be noted the card of John J. Kouhn, the B. & M. architect. Our citizens are very fortunate in having a man so well qualified, as Mr. Kouhn is, as a resident. His recommendations from the Pullman Car Co., the Northwestern railway and other companies that he has worked for, attest strongly to his skill as an engineer and draughtsman.

The Journal is very sore over so many HERALD men being selected on the Plattsmouth city delegation to the republican convention Saturday next. Never mind, Mr. Journal, all that are on the delegation as well as those who are not, are republicans, that's the reason. However, we don't like the idea of supporting a Journal man, and financial backer in that convention, and hope the Journal won't insist on our doing so.

"Why dost thou converse with this trunk of humors, that bolting hutch of brutishness, that swollen parcel of drosses, that huge bombard of sack, that stuffed cloak-bag of guts, that roasted Manningtree ox, with the pudding in his belly, that reverend vice, that grey iniquity, that vanity of years."—Prince Hal in Shakespeare's Henry IV.

A trucking knave, an empty nothingness who defiles whatever he reaches, and a duminatee who to him is unapproachable: a Republican Greedy Reformer, having an ambition to disintegrate the party which now harbors him, most likely under protest, appears now in a new role, and having his ambition as an anti-foreign immigration apostle nipped in the bud, poses as a lecturer on responsibility. The HERALD representative demeans himself with his fellow citizens in further advertising this great "What is it," or antiquated Grimaldi, but will venture to say that the HERALD's "devil" has more responsibility, moral, political and financial than our friend of the Journal.

Difference between Blaine and Cleveland.

I am sure that honorable democrats alike with honorable republicans will justify me in defending the honor of my family, if need be, with my life. JAMES G. BLAINE.

These are the closing words of Mr. Blaine's reply to a villainous charge made against himself and Mrs. Blaine by the Indianapolis Sentinel, a democratic newspaper. The managers of this libelous sheet have been sued for $50,000 damages, and steps have been taken to cause their immediate arrest on the charge of criminal libel; and this is the way the republican candidate takes to the woods.

Is Man Immortal?

What is immortality? Naturally eternal or undying. What is mortality? Being subject to death. What is man? A triune being composed of body, soul and spirit, 1 Thea., 5: 23.

We have usually been taught that when the body dies the real man does not die, but lives right on, thinks, acts, loves and hates, in heaven or hell, just the same as while in the body upon the earth. But is this true? Every day we see men die. Did any person see anything leave the body at death? No, not in a single instance. So far, then, as actual sight and observation go, all the evidence is against this popular doctrine. Reason is against it. How can a man think without brains, walk without feet, see without eyes, hear without ears? It is absurd and contrary to reason. But does not the Bible teach that the dead are conscious? No, not in a single text; but it everywhere teaches just the reverse. If the dead live right on and go to heaven or hell as soon as they die, what need is there of a future judgment? Again, if the soul or spirit can live just as well out of the body as in the body, and go immediately to a place of happiness or torment, what is the use of a resurrection, a doctrine plainly taught in both the old and new testaments? If men do not go to heaven or hell at death, you may ask where do they go? Let the Bible answer the question. It says, "they are dead." Death is thus defined by Webster: "The extinction of life." Now notice the following plain declarations: "Your fathers did eat manna in the wilderness and are dead," Job, 6: 49. "David is both dead and buried," Acts, 2: 29. "The dead in Christ shall rise first," 1 Thes., 4: 16. Many other texts of like character were read.

Several texts were also read to show that the dead are quietly sleeping; that they know not anything; that their thoughts have perished, etc., and are waiting in this condition for the resurrection morn, when the voice of the archangel will be heard calling the silent sleepers forth, at which time "the mossy old graves" will be opened, all the saints of God will come forth, clothed with immortality and eternal life. "Then will be brought to pass the saying, death is swallowed up in victory," 1 Cor., 15: 51 to close.

Hence we conclude, if the saints are dead they are not alive. If they are in their graves, they are not in heaven. If they have no thoughts, then they are not thinking. If they know nothing, then they are not intelligent. If they are asleep, they are not awake. If they are to be rewarded at the judgment, they are not rewarded now.

The fate of the wicked will be considered this evening. Is the death of those that come short of salvation, "eternal life in misery," or does death, as used in the Bible, signify ceasing to live, as usually understood?

Prof. Drummond's Lecture.

A fair sized audience greeted Prof. Drummond last night at the Congregational church to hear his lecture on nature. He spoke in a very entertaining way and presented some very good ideas. His discourse was divided into three parts, mineral, botanical, and animal nature. The theme and aim of the lecture was of course to show what might be gained by a careful study of nature, how the minds of the pupils expanded and how many of the beauties hidden from ordinary view would unfold themselves to the eye of close student. He dwelt upon the success and failure in teaching and in life generally and held wide one might fail in one or half a dozen particular fields of labor he, if persistent, would finally light upon a place of great usefulness and become very successful. The lecture was well delivered and highly enjoyed.—State Democrat.

Our Boys.

Two of our promising boys Mr. Joseph Gilmore and Ami Todd were walking along the street yesterday, when they met the Glendale Hoosier. Jesse Burnett, the trio repaired to M. B. Murphy's and were weighed which resulted as follows:

Todd, 227½; Gilmore, 242½; Burnett, 246½; the total weight for the three is 717½. Who can beat it?

The Young Men's Republican Club of Plattsmouth had a demonstration last Monday. A Glee Club of twelve voices furnished excellent music. The speakers were John M. Thurston, of Omaha and J. L. Calwell of Lincoln. The meeting was very enthusiastic.—[Crete Globe.

Belleve College.

The HERALD is indebted to Prof. C. M. Des Isles, secretary of the Faculty of Belleve College, of Belleve, Sarpy county, Nebraska. This young institution is under the care of the Presbyterian Synod of Nebraska, and is in a flourishing condition, having just completed its first school year. The next term will open September 17, 1884 with a complete corps of able instructors filling its various chairs. Its curriculum shows it to be an institution where the best facilities are offered for a high classical or practical education. The new college building which has been in process of construction during the past two years is almost completed, and the friends and managers of this institution, are justly elated over its very flattering condition and prospects for the future.
