Prohibition State Convention.

The prohibition electors of the State of Nebraska, and all persons who are willing to pledge themselves to vote for John P. St. John for president, are requested to meet at Red Ribbon hall in the city of Lincoln, Thursday, September 11th, 1884, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination five candidates for presidential electors; also candidates for such State offices as may be required, for the selection of a State central committee, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

This action is made necessary by the attitude of the old political parties toward the question of prohibition; one of them being in alliance with the liquor traffic, while the other has for years ignored the positions of thousands of citizens for the submission of prohibitory constitutional amendments to the vote of the people.

The basis of representation shall be one delegate for each one thousand inhabitants, to be elected by mass conventions called by the several counties of the State, under the same conditions as provided herein. Where no call is issued for such county conventions by local committees, the electors in sympathy with this call will convene at their respective county seats on Saturday, September 6th, for the purpose of electing delegates to the State convention.

Prohibitionists throughout the state will immediately form St. John clubs for aggressive work, and send the names of their officers to one of the undersigned.

Parties desiring reduced fare can purchase round trip tickets at their point of starting. Such tickets can only be obtained on certificates signed by C. F. S. Templin, Nebraska City, to whom application should be made at once.

Institute Notes.

The offering session of the Cass county teachers' institute was held in the school house on Monday evening, Prof. D. D. Martindale delivering the introductory address.

On Tuesday, the work of the institute was begun in earnest, the regular daily exercises being adopted as follows:

School law, theory and practice, by Supt. Alton.

Physiology and arithmetic, by Prof. W. W. Drummond.

Orthography and writing, by S. L. Hawley.

Geography, by M. O. Weed.

United States history, Prof. J. B. Philbert.

Civil government, by Prof. Alex McIntosh.

Tuesday evening the time was taken up with a discussion, on the question, Resolved, that teaching unfits a person for other vocations.

The chief disputants were Supt. Alton, for the affirmative, and Mr. J. B. Philbert for the negative. The subject was very well handled by both sides, judgment being rendered in favor of the negative.

The attendance yesterday embraced some sixty five teachers, which is said to be the largest number that ever attended an institute in the county.—W. W. Republican.

C. A. Keith Lies.

The State Journal this morning, has a reply evidently prepared under the dictation of the news man, which reply is in answer to an article in the Plattsmouth Journal upon the difficulty on the train the night home from the convention when a "smart" news man was thumped. This news agent, it seems, had his home in Lincoln and his name is C. A. Keith; he gives the State Journal a statement in which he imposes on the Journal man with a pack of lies. The HERALD man was on that train himself and knows whereof he speaks. There were no drunken men on that train from among the Plattsmouth delegation. The car was crowded and the news agent had his wares spread in two seats. Mr. McMaken made room in one and sat down. He paid for his ride, and he had a right to a seat. This newsagent, Keith attempted to jerk him out and struck him. At this Mr. J. B. Strode reached out and felt in under Keith's ear, and if it hadn't been for the intervention on the part of McMaken's friends, there wouldn't be any impudent news agent named Keith running on the trains now. This Keith rushes into print to insult the whole Plattsmouth delegation who were on the train and lie about them. This big headed train rooster may wake up some fine day and find that the B. & M. authorities have kicked him overboard, for the officials of the road aim to treat passengers decently, and when such chaps as this Keith occupy two or three seats in a car and attempt to run the whole train they need a little attention from the company itself. Keith had better be watching his job than publishing lying explanations.—[State Journal please copy.]
