The Two Johns.

A Little Something About the Funniest Show on the Road.

Next Thursday (New Years day) matinee and night, the Two Johns Comedy Company, headed by the old-time comedians, John Stewart and John Hart, and an excellent singing comedy organization, will make their first appearance in Omaha, at Boyd's Opera House. The "Two Johns" are said to be a rollicksome, jolly set of people, who have the faculty of sending their auditors home after an evening of hilarious enjoyment from listening to the comical sayings, and seeing the ludicrous situations presented during this play. A very pleasing feature of the entertainment is the singing introduced by members of the company, consisting of gems from opera in costume, solos, duets and quartettes.—Omaha Herald.

The Adams Brothers.

These renowned gymnasts and acrobats who are attracting much attention in Omaha have been engaged by the rink management to give an entertainment in this city Saturday evening before the entertainment in the rink they will give an open air exhibition on a wire stretched across main St. at 9th. This entertainment will be something entirely new and the feats the Adams Bros. perform are wonderful, their exhibition receiving unstinted praise wherever they appear.
