—Two drunks were arrested last evening by officer John Fitzpatrick. They were tried before Judge Mathews this morning and plead guilty. One of the men's fines were paid and he was let go, and the other man being unable to raise the fine and costs was returned to jail.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Creamer were pleasantly surprised Tuesday night by the appearance of their two sons and one daughter, of Monmouth, Ill., who came quite unexpectedly. They will visit for a few days and then return to their home.—Echo.

—Yesterday afternoon Charley Jean was loading hay, and after he had got through he stuck the fork into the ground intending to jump off of the hay rack, but he fell and in falling struck the fork handle with his side. It was thought first that a couple of the ribs were broken, but after a thorough examination it was decided that they were not injured, though the jar used him up enough to confine him to his room.

—W. C. Bake and wife, of Quincy, Ill., are visiting J. C. Eikenbary and family.

—The electric belt man has been giving Plattsmouth a raid during the past few days.

—The shelving has been erected on the west wall of Carruth's jewelry rooms and the stock of the new store is being placed.

—Will J. Warrick's father, G. M. Warrick, arrived in the city this morning. He will remain some time visiting with Will.

—Rev. Henry and wife, of Greenwood, who has been visiting the past few days with Mr. McElwain and family, returned to their home to-day.

—The M. E. Church ladies will give a sociable Tuesday evening, Sept. 20, at Mrs. Wash Smith's corner of 5th and Marble streets. Not only the ladies, but Mr. and Mrs. Smith, extend an invitation to everybody to come and have a good time.

DIED.—Little Nellie Benscoten, aged two years and six months, died last Thursday night of typhoid malarial fever, at the home of her parents in the northwest part of the city, and was buried yesterday afternoon. Nellie had been sick just one month; her parents had worked patiently with her hoping she might recover, but death finally took their little one from them. In their bereavement and sorrow they have the sympathy of their friends and community.

—Sack suits to excel tailor-made garments in fit and make at Mayer's Opera House Clothing Store.

—Last evening Mrs. A. N. Sullivan put some sweet potatoes in the oven of her gasoline stove to keep them warm while she was getting supper. She was called from the room for a little bit, and when she returned and opened the door to the oven, the flames shot out some three or four feet across the room. She tried to shut off the gasoline, but was unable to control it, so she had to leave the room and let it burn, which it did, doing no damage except smoking up the room and giving the family a pretty bad fright for a little while. The sweet potatoes were not hurt. The real cause of the action of the stove is not known, but Mrs. Sullivan thinks that the oil in some way leaked from the burner into the oven and partially evaporated, and opening the door gave communication from the gas to the fire, and of course the result was a combustion.

—Mother's friend shirt waists at Mayer's the reliable clothiers.

Another Infant in Court.

A daughter of Hiram Pierce was walking down Main street yesterday afternoon in company with a lady friend and her two-year-old son, when she met her divorced husband, George Ashburn, who was permitted to see and take the child. Mr. Ashburn refused to return the child to his mother, and took him to a friend's named Johnson, who lives on the corner of Vine and 7th. Mrs. Ashburn, not being able to obtain her child by herself, sought her father, who had Marshall Mallick arrest Mr. Ashburn, who staid with Mallick until the child was found, but was not confined to jail. The case was heard before Judge Russell this morning who continued the case for 30 days, and gave the child into the custody of its mother for that time.

—English melton, cassimere, chevrot, and tricot four button frock suits at Mayer's.

M. E. Church.

With the services at the M. E. church to-morrow, the present conference year will close. The pastor desires that there may be a full attendance of all who are interested in the work of the church.

The services will be held at 11 a. m. and at 7:45 p. m.

—Light, colored and black worsted prince Albert suits perfect fitting at Mayer's.

A Pleasant Evening.

Last evening a number of our society-loving folks, procured carriages and wended their way to the rural home of Miss Alice Jean, about two miles south of town. The evening was spent in social enjoyment and music, and about ten o'clock supper was served, after which the company returned to their homes.

The following were those from the city: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Eikenbary, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Judge C. Russell, Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Davis, Mr. Mutz and daughter, Misses May and Annie Russell, Miss May Sullivan, Charley Coleman and our representative.

AMUSEMENTS.

MARIE PRESCOTT.

This talented actress, who will make her first appearance in this city on Wednesday evening Sept. 21st is among the foremost of American artists. Her professional career has been one of great success, and she has at various times been identified with the brightest stars and strongest companies of the dramatic profession. Prominent among her notable engagements was that with Salvini, the distinguished Italian tragedian. In 1880 she received such a flattering offer from this eminent actor that she abandoned her own starring tour to accept it, and the world's greatest tragedian, upon the conclusion of his two years' tour of the country, was gracious enough to acknowledge that much of his success was due to the artistic and conscientious efforts of Miss Prescott.

In a letter to Miss Prescott Salvini says:

"After seeing all the American artists, I consider you the first."

In the portrayal of the highest legitimate roles, Miss Prescott certainly excels, and having achieved a success, both artistically and financially, has made her position secure among the most brilliant lights of the profession which she so highly adorns. For the present season Miss Prescott comes before a public, which has been exceedingly kind to her, with a repertoire of standard plays and supported by a company of good strength headed by the talented young actor, R. D. McLean. Mr. McLean is young, of mainly figure, excellent stage presence, and with a voice which is illimitable in quality, and is considered by many competent critics to be the most gifted young actor now on the American stage.

The play for Wednesday evening will be the grand romantic drama "Ingomar," with Mr. McLean in the title role, and Miss Prescott as Parthenia.

For Sale.
