Down with dynamite.

THERE appears to be some flies still roosting around.

THERE was a general shaking of hands yesterday in the interest of Plattsmouth and Cass county and last Tuesday there was a grand shaking of politics in the interest of Cass county.

THE finest public roads in the world are those of British India. Thomas Stevens, the bicyclist, says that after riding 1,400 miles through the Punjab, Oude and Bengal, I am fairly at a loss to express my admiration of the enterprise that has belted India with the magnificent highways I found there. The finest is the Grand Trunk road from Peshawar, on the Afghan frontier, to Calcutta, 1,600 miles, an unbroken highway of marvelous perfection. And all this in addition to the various lines of railways, the best constructed on the globe. If such are the common roads of India, what must the highways of the crown colony of Ceylon be, that are still better than those of India?

APPARENTLY the thread upon which the peace of Europe hangs is frailer today than it was twenty-four hours ago. The life of the emperor of Germany, it has been realized for months past, may end at any moment with scarcely an instant's warning. Hopes have recently been felt, however, that the Crown Prince's health might be restored, but the condition of the latter is once more grave. The probability at this hour, indeed, seems to be that his death will occur before that of the emperor. This would give the crown of Germany into the hands of a man who is understood to favor an aggressive policy, particularly against France. It is not surprising, in view of these possibilities, that the bulletins which record the condition of the emperor and the heir apparent should be scanned with eager interest by political magnates in every capital between the Neva and the Thames.—Globe Dem.

It is not at all surprising that Georgia should desire to have Hon. John G. Carlisle make addresses before the people of its principal cities. A sentiment in favor of protection to domestic industries is steadily increasing among the thinking people of the manufacturing districts of the southern states. All of its ten members of the national house of representatives are free traders. Men are beginning to question the wisdom of a policy which during the days when it prevailed throughout the country, kept the South in a state of industrial vassalage. It is this questioning spirit which alarms the free traders, as they are aware that the system is discredited when submitted to the test of experience and logic. The protectionists now are not very formidable in Georgia, but it is the promise of what they are likely to be three or four years hence which frightens the free traders. To combat protectionism in that state while it is still comparatively feeble is what the Georgians desire Mr. Carlisle to do.

THE Administration has apparently despaired of getting any legislation of the pronounced free-trade type enacted in the coming Congress. Its principal spokesmen all seem to agree that the only tax that is reasonably certain to be abolished is the one on tobacco, which the free trader outside the tobacco-growing states is perfectly willing to let stand as it is. The remission of this tax would reduce the revenues between $27,000,000 and $30,000,000 a year. When it comes to the import duties, however, they perceive that the trouble begins. The republicans, while anxious for sensible tariff revision, will resist all assault on that system which the free traders will be likely to make. In this they will be assisted by the Randall protectionists. In fact about the only measure of tariff reduction which at the present time seems to stand any chance of adoption is the abolition or reduction of the duty on sugar. The repeal of the tobacco tax and sugar duty would lessen the revenue about $75,000,000 or $80,000,000, leaving a yearly surplus of perhaps $35,000,000. This would be more than the free traders would like to have retained, but it is less, than the sinking fund calls for, and the sinking fund law is still on the national statute book, although most democrats are apparently ignorant of the fact.—Globe Democrat.

THE WRONG CHAIR.

Tid-Bits: He had been looking upon the whiskey when it was a rich russet color, and he dropped into the dentist's chair with a sigh that blew out the window shades, and sank into a trance-like slumber.

When he awoke a few moments later and saw seven of his best teeth exhibited on the stand he exclaimed: "Now, if you got through foolin', gimme shampoo 'n hair cut."

THE END APPROACHING.

To-morrow the seven anarchists will be hung, and it will be a great relief to the citizens of the United States. The seven men have had a guard put over each one of them separately, and they are watched and guarded closer than wild beasts would be. Governor Oglesby is receiving threatening letters but he still remains firm and burns every one as it is opened. Governor Oglesby does not seem to be the least uneasy from receiving these letters. Mayor Charles E. Hay, of Springfield, offered yesterday to detail a police squad to guard the executive mansion and note the movements of all suspicious characters arriving in the city but the governor declined the offer and things are going on at the capital just the same as at any other time.

THE OLD DEMOCRATIC CRY OF "FAILURE."

The Des Moines Leader and many other democratic newspapers in this year, 1887, declare the war on intoxicating liquors a failure. The fighting element in Iowa against this great evil have not yet forgotten that the democratic party in the year 1864 declared the war for the preservation of the Union "A Failure." The great fighting element of the nation did not believe then in 1864, but pushed the battle hotter and fiercer, until a grand, glorious shout of victory went up from the millions, which told the world that the war was not a failure, and that a nation was saved and all men were free. The war on the liquor traffic is not yet over. The great moral forces of the state will yet prove to the democratic party of Iowa and all opposers of prohibition that right will prevail in the end.—Indiana Herald.

IT WILL BE A HIGH-NECK WINTER.

Washington Critic: A keen little lady, who usually tells the signs of the times pretty well, insists that this is to be a high-neck winter. Why? Just this: The social statutes in London establish the line at which ones gown must be cut, and no lady dare present herself at court unless this rule has been strictly followed. It follows that whatever the fair mistress of the white house ordains should and will receive as wide a significance. She administers a gentle but wholesome rebuke to the rearers of the extraordinary low cut gowns here of recent years by having her own cut modestly and becomingly. It is also quite in keeping with the views of the best and most artistic designers or creators of feminine fashions, but who have found their tastes laid aside to gratify their customers' desire for this species of unwholesome and unwholesome notoriety. Mrs. Cleveland being on the side of this very important reform, it is fair to presume that her example and encouragement will go farther than any other force at the present hour.

THE UPAS OF DEMOCRACY.

There is a good joke going around among the democrats. They now claim that Dave Campbell, the county treasurer, hired Field Marshal Sherman, of the Journal to abuse him, for by that means democrats who would support their ticket, the moment that Sherman commenced throwing his slime at Campbell, were led to vote for Campbell, not that they loved Higgins less, but that they disliked Whopper Sherman more. Oh, well, may Sherman & Higgins exclaim in the language of Cardinal Woolsey, "Farewell along, farewell to all our greatness. This is the state of man. Today we put forth our tender leaves of hope, (before election) to-morrow it blossoms and bears our blushing honors thick upon us. The third day comes a frost, a killing frost, (day of election) and we think, good easy man, full surely our greatness is a ripening, (getting the county treasury test in their mouth) nips our hope in the bud and then we fall together." Oh, yes! Field Marshal Sherman, you are the Upas tree of the democratic party. If any unfortunate aspirant for political honors would be so unlucky as to employ you, the Upas tree of the democratic party, whose embrace is political death, to champion their cause, the day after election they would wake up in another world.

MORAL CONDUCT.

Some Searching Questions and Conclusive Answers.

How does physical welfare effect moral conduct?

This question is agitating the minds of the best men of our country. Judges, scientists, legislators are discussing it in private, as well as the workmen, the bankers, and the clergy.

Our country, like the rest of the world, is fast filling up with men having anarchical ideas, and with other social and political extremists.

May not our morbid tendencies come from disease of the mind, caused by disease of the body? Are they not due to some deranged organ, which, in its enfeebled state, diffuses poison through the system, thus affecting the brain?

It is a long established fact that bodily disease causes most cases of insanity and "softening of the brain." The medical profession claims that the kidneys are the principal health-insuring organs of the body. If they are diseased they do not perform their proper functions and expel the poisonous matters. If these are retained and recirculated through the system they produce most of our common derangements.

We have published in our columns, from time to time, remarkable accounts of restoration to health from all manner of diseases (even of insanity, caused as above stated) by the use of Warner's safe cure. There is no doubt that this is the most popular remedy offered for sale, and from the very best information we can obtain, the sale of it continues to increase.

Why is this?

Public sentiment, as a rule, is a fair and just criterion. We find this safe cure in the largest cities, and in the most remote parts of the world. Its merits are proclaimed by the consumers, as well as the vendors. Miss Carrie L. Wallis of Beverly, Mass., is reported to have been desperately ill from general female derangements for years, and to have been restored to, and kept in excellent health by this wonderfully popular remedy, and Miss Lillie Stephens of 1223 Third street, Louisville, Ky., was raised by it from her death-bed, when her physicians said she was incurable.

A prominent gentleman, high in official position, said to us the other day, that if he was governor, and a petition for pardon was presented to him, he would require a thorough investigation, as to the physical health of the criminal at the time the crime was committed. In view of such facts, the recommendations of such a remedy are well worth consideration.

The solution of the relation of moral conduct to physical health, ought to be well established in the minds of all, and our statesmen should be prepared to meet the issues growing out of it when they appear.

Average Yield Per Cow.

The following questions have recently been asked and answered in The London Agricultural Gazette: 1. What is a fair average yield of milk per cow per annum? Five hundred and fifty gallons. 2. What is a fair proportion of butter to a given quantity of milk? One pound of butter from twenty-one pounds of milk. 3. What is a fair yield of butter from a given quantity of cream? Cream may yield from one-fifth even to one-half its weight in butter, according to thickness. 4. What is a fair yield of cheese in proportion to milk? One pound of cheese to from eleven to nine pounds of milk, according to season of the year—most in autumn.

To Tell the Age of Horses.

The Toronto Truth says: To tell the age of any horse, inspect the lower jaw, of course; The sixth front tooth the white will tell, And every doubt and fear dispel. Two middle "hippers" you behold Before the colt is two weeks old. Before eight weeks two more will come; Eight months the "corners" cut the gum. The outside grooves will disappear From middle two in just one year. In two years, from the second pair; In three the corners, too, are bare. At two the middle "hippers" drop; At three the second pair can't stop. When four years old the third pair goes; At five a full new set he shows. The deep black spots will pass from view At six years from the middle two. The second pair at seven years; At eight the spot each "corner" clears. From middle "hippers" upper jaw At nine the black spots will withdraw. The second pair at ten are white; Eleven finds the "corners" light. As time goes on, the horsemen know, The oval teeth three sided grow; They longer get, project before Till twenty, when we know no more.

Secrets of "Fruent" Medicine.

David Hostetter, of Pittsburg, Pa., who has made a vast fortune in the manufacture of bitters, is a man about 70 years of age. Physically he is insignificant. He is not much over five feet in height and of very slender build. His hair is white and he wears a gray mustache. He has a large family. His eldest son, who was threatened with consumption, is now in California and is in much better health than when he left Pittsburg. Mr. Hostetter's wealth is estimated at between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. There was a time when he peddled his medicines on foot.—New York World.

French Society Fashions.

Many fashionable French ladies are taking to the study of astronomy, and are having observatories erected in secluded parts of their gardens. A taste for rare books, curious editions and fine bindings is another fashion among French society ladies.—Democrat's Monthly.

In the state of Maine one man can shoot but three deer during the year, and but two moose.

Information to Capital Seeking Investment.

POINTERS ABOUT PLATTSMOUTH.

It is the gateway to the great South Platte country. It is situated on the Missouri River at the mouth of the Platte, at a point about half way between Chicago and Denver, only two hours by rail from Lincoln the capital, and forty minutes from Omaha, the metropolis of the State.

Population about 9,000 and rapidly increasing. Has one of the finest systems of Water Works in the State. Streets are well lighted by gas. A street railway in operation. Grades of the streets established, and bonds voted for the purpose of constructing sewerage and paving of Main Street, work to commence thereon in the spring of 1888. Has a fine four story high school building and six ward school houses. Aside from business houses over 100 residences have been constructed during the year 1887. An Opera House costing $50,000. Nebraska Preserve and Canning factory, capital $13,000, capacity 300,000 cans per year and employs 40 hands. Brick and Terra Works, capital -50,000, capacity 10,000 bricks per day, employs thirty hands. Plattsmouth Canning Factory, capital $30,000, capacity 1,500,000 cans per year and employs 125 hands, turns over in one year's business about $100,000. Two daily papers; one Republican and one Democratic. Schneibacher buggy and wagon factory. Pepperberg's cigar manufactory, employs fifteen hands, and largely supplies the trade of southwestern Nebraska. Danforth & Co's. new Packing House. The great C. B. & Q. Railroad machine shops, round houses, storehouses, &c., are maintained at this point for the use of its system west of the Missouri River, employing many hundreds of hands, and disbursing to employees monthly about $30,000. One of the finest railroad bridges in the United States spans the Missouri River at the Southern limit of the city. Over 2,000 miles of railroad conveys its freight traffic into and through our city. Ten passenger trains leave Plattsmouth daily for north, south, east and west over the C. B. & Q.; K. C. St. Joe & C. B. and the B. M. R. R. in Nebraska. The cheapness of the land around Plattsmouth and its nearness to Omaha markets together with good railroad facilities, make it not only a pleasant place to reside, but a desirable place for the establishment of manufactories. To healthy, legitimate manufacturing enterprises, the citizens of Plattsmouth would doubtless make reasonable inducements to secure their location, and correspondence is solicited. While real estate values are growing firmer each day, yet there is nothing speculative or fictitious about them, and good residence lots can be bought at from $150 to $350; land near the city can be purchased at from $200 to $100 per acre. Within the next twelve months our city expects to welcome the Missouri Pacific and the Omaha and Southern Railways into its corporate limits. The above facts are given without exaggeration and the prospects for the future prosperity of our city, more than above indicated. Parties seeking investments in Realty are earnestly requested to come and make personal investigation. While here you will be given a free ride to South Park, the most beautiful and desirable residence locality in the city, where lots may be purchased at from $150 to $200, each. This picturesque addition is accessible by either Chicago or Lincoln Avenues or by South 9th Street and may be reached in a ten minutes walk from the business center. South Park is more rapidly building up than any other part of the city. Correspondence solicited.
