Her address in the evening related to the grand results of missionary efforts in the last century, and the hopeful outlook for the future. Miss Baker is giving her entire time to this work without any pledged support whatever, taking whatever the people generously contribute to aid her. She comes to Nebraska from a tour of the Illinois and Central Illinois Conferences, and after filling a number of engagements throughout this state, will go to Colorado, where she will represent her work; and from there to Kansas in the interest of the cause she so eloquently advocates. From Plattsmouth she goes to Weeping Water where she speaks this evening.

OMAHA'S BIG FIRE.

Terrific Explosion and Fire at the Gas Works

From the Bee.

Saturday afternoon about 3 o'clock a terrific explosion occurred at the gas works and the frightened people for blocks around rushed into the street to discover the building a moment later a sheet of flames. The fire alarms were sent in and in a few minutes all the fire companies in the city were on the scene combatting the devouring element. Thousands of people gathered and watched the flames roll near the great tank full of gas, the explosion of which would entail terrible destruction. The two valves opening into the tank were securely closed and the firemen turned nine streams of water upon the building and did all in their power to stay the progress of the flames. The continual explosion of gas pipes and the ignited escaping gas made the fire a most difficult thing to fight, and it was over an hour and a half before the flames were fairly under control.

During the course of the fire it was found necessary to open the tank of naphtha on the north side of the building to prevent it from exploding. The escaping fluid caught fire and the flames leaped up in a startling manner, causing a general stampede among the spectators. The ground where stood a group of firemen was covered with oil, and in a moment the men were enveloped in the flames. Pipeman Cassady, of No. 1, was badly burned, and McGuire, Patton, Crowley and Miller of the same company had their clothes set on fire and were more or less scorched.

It looked for a while as though the tank would soon be reached by the flames, but Firemen McBride, Grebe, Turner and Noonan rushed bravely into the face of the flames, and after a desperate fight succeeded in quenching the fire in the escaping oil. The oil caught fire a second time and was again extinguished.

By a quarter of 5 the fire was out, and half an hour later the workmen were busy removing the debris and making preparation to repair the damage done.

It was discovered that the explosion resulting in the fire was caused by the leakage of gas from the generator into the blow pipes. In the explosion the blower was torn to pieces, but fortunately no workmen were near enough to get hurt.

Mr. Isaac Battin, the superintendent of the works, hopes to have the damaged machinery repaired sufficiently by Monday to resume the manufacture of gas. To economize the present scant supply. Saturday night the street lamps in the city were not lighted, and shortly after midnight the gas was turned off entirely.

About $20,000 damage was done by the fire, but is is all covered by insurance.

—"Keep in de middle ob de road" is the order in Omaha after dark.

—The street cars can now go as far as the turn table on Third street.

—H. A. Waterman & Son are erecting a brick office at their lumber yard.

—A portion of the old Boyd packing house at Omaha is being remodeled and fixed up for a fuel gas factory. A capacity of 15,000,000 cubic per 24 hours, is to be the size of the plant. The gas will be made from water by what is known as Reinhold Boecklen's improved process, which consists, in the main, in passing super-heated steam into a bed of incandescent coal, and it is claimed it can be make for ten per cent less than the actual cost of of coal, extra of cost of hauling, etc. This gas is also said to be superior to natural gas and can be furnished cheaper. The company erecting the plant intend to supply all factories, etc. in Omaha with it, and hope to start about Jan. 1.

—Miss Baker who spoke at the M. E. church yesterday experienced a severe fall caused by a loose board in the sidewalk, from which she received some severe bruises, but we hope no permanent injury. She was somewhat lame when she went away this morning. It seems there should be more care in keeping up the walks along the main gthorouhfares of the city. A few more damage suits may make the city both poorer and wiser.

The continuous decrease of crime in England is very remarkable. So recently as 1869 the prisons contained no less than 11,600 convicts. In July last there were only 7,441. What is also very interesting the education act marked the turning point in the history of crime. Since the passage of that act the decrease of crime has been steady.

A Military Revolt in China.

The Chinese frontier town of Dublashan was a short time ago frightened by a military revolt. Four officers, with one general, were killed, and three forts set on fire. The commander-in-chief fled to the lakes. The panic was indescribable. Although the mutineers had not touched anybody or anything in the city the entire population took to flight and the governor of the neighboring Russian posts made ready to meet an attack if the Chinese should pursue the townsfolk. But they did not. They seized all the provisions and every cent of money they could find in the barracks and decamped. —Chicago News.

Swindlers of China.

The native merchants of China are said to be inveterate swindlers. A foreign dealer at Tientsin recently contracted for 1,500 bales of camel's wool, guaranteed free from dirt and sand. When the first installment had passed through the cleaning machine 35 per cent. of its gross weight was found to be sand and gravel, and besides that the wool had been wet to make the dirt stick in and also to make it heavier.—Foreign Letter.

Cutting California in Two.

A scheme is on foot to make two states out of California, the lower half to be called Coronado. The new state could begin life with a population of 163,000, a property valuation of $100,000,000, and 27,000 square miles of territory.—Chicago News.
