Thayer has issued the following procla-

Mation: STATE OF NEBRASKA, 4 EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, 1 At this season of the year when the earth has given forth an abundant increase; when the harvests have been gathered, and realizing that the year, which is now drawing to a close, has been one of pro-perity, health and happi-ness to the pe-bie of Nabraska, it is meet that to our tleavenly Father for his unspeakable goodness. In accordance with an appropriate and time SIOUX CITY, Ia., Nov 23 .- The new turn affairs have taken in the Arensdorf case is a general surprise and has become the principal theme of conversation and speculation in the city. The story told by Mrs. Josephson, substantially as reported in these dispatches yesterday, is In accordance with an appropriate and time discussed freely in all its various phases, honored custom, and conforming to the proc-lamation of the president of the United States coming as it did so unexpected, being in It dona M. Thayer, governor of the state of Nebraska, do hereby set apart Thursday, the 21th day of this month as a day of thanks-giving, prayer and praise to the supreme ruler of the universe for his rich and manifold blessits nature so direct, positive and damaging to Arensdorf. Many are inclined to hesitate before forming an opinion as to the merits of the testimony until later. However, it must be admitted that a very large proportion of those consulted believe the testimony to be true. Mrs. Josephson proved to be a most interesting witness. In her statements she was straightforward and the most trying and adout doing good. Bright Prospects For Getting the National Republican

NEW YORK, Mov. 22,-A number of active in pushing Omaha's claims and spoke encouragingly of Omaha's chances. The chief objection urged is the possible lack of hotel facilities. A strong effort will be made by the New York members on behalf of Saratoga while Chicogo's claims will be vigorously pushed. A prominent republican editor to-day ventured the prediction that the convention would not be held five miles distant from Lake Michigan. Omaha should make clear her ability to handle the crowd that will certainly be in attendance if she hopes to secure serious consideration

CARIO, HL., Nov. 23 .- The woods are on fire for a radius of fifty miles in every direction from this place, but no damage beyond a few fences and a little ungathered corn is experienced. The smoke from the burning forest is very dense and interrupts the navigation of the river to a great extent.

Serious Accident at Fremont. FREMONT, Neb., Nov., 23 .- J. C. Jensen, a milkman, of this city, on Sunday met with a horrible accident, which may result fatally. While upon a stack of hay he fell or slipped to the ground in such away that one tine of a pitchfork which he was using entered his groin, in flicting a deep and very serious wound.

A Sensational Expose.

BERLIN, Nov. 23.-The Cologne Ga zette has caused a sensation by the state ment that the czar, in his recent interview with Prince Bismarck, learned that he had been deceived in regard to Germany's policy by a forged letter purporting to be from Prince Bismarck The letter is supposed to be the work of Orleanist intrigues.

The Scholten Wreck.

LONDON, Nov. 23 .- An improvised light-ship has been placed over the sunken steamer W. A. Scholten. The sea is so rough that the divers have been unable to explore the wreck. The hull will probably be blown up. The survivors of the disaster passed resolutions expressing their gratitude to the people of Dover for kindness shown them.

A Dealer Tries to Make Out That It Isn't So Very Objectionable.

"Now, then," said a dealer, "let us look at the matter in another light. Is the adulteration-a better word for which would be reduction-of spices injurious to the health ! "Take pepper, for instance, and mustard also. Very few people would use pepper if they could buy it as cheap as the ordinary kinds sold, because it is too strong. It is reduced with backwheat middlings, a very mild adulterant certainly, with some roasted cocoanut shell, which is perfectly harmless, thrown in for a coloring mixture. In the case of mustard the use of wheat floar is believed to be conducive to the health of the consumer, and the tumerick used for coloring is used in small quantities and cannot hurt any one

"Almond and cocoanut shells, with meely substances as the base, are used in the manufacture of most all spices. There is no greater profit to either the jobbing or retail trade in selling the adulterated goods, but the latter are kept and sold because of the demand for cheaper prices than could be made on the pure articles. Very likely, too, the reduced spices would be more sought for at the same price in many instances, if brought into competition with the strictly pure goods. It may be taken for granted that no reputable manufacturer will knowingly use any adulterants which are deleterious in their nature or injurious in the quantities used.

"In coffee there is less adulteration now than formerly, most of the trade being in the berry roasted and sold whole. The high prices prevailing just now for the cheaper coifees has caused some demand for the chie ory and roasted pea compounds, which are sold ground, in bulk. The poorer class of private consumers only buy this kind of coffee at the stores. But chicory and peas among the large restaur-auts, dispensing fragrant coffee at five cents a cup, and doubtless there are many persons who have learned to love the strength of chicory and have grown fond of the healthful pea, which contains 95 per cent, of nourishment, and is not as trying on the nerves as real strong pure coffee.

The Germans in the Fatherland buy their chicory at the store just as they do their coffee, and do the mixing at home to suit themselves. I knew an old gentleman when I was in the trade some years ago who always called for that twelve cent coffee, which he said he liked because it contained more peas than coffee."

In conclusion, he stated that the whole subject of reduction or adulteration was one which was not fully understood by the public, and not always correctly stated by the press. The very word "adulteration" meant peison to many people, who labored under the delusion that they were being defrauded and endangered in health as a consequence of the improved and cheapened processes of manuacture in the line of food products.-Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Wanted to Talk Awhile,

They are teiling a good story on the street about that amiable, erratic and inscrutable peripatetic, Henry Guy Carleton, who re-sembles the late William R. Travers as well in the besitancy of his utterance as the celerity of his wit. Carleton met Bill Nye the other day in the editorial rooms of The World, "I soay, old f-f-f-fellow," stuttered he, "c-c-can't you c-come up to my rooms as-some evening for a c-c-couple of hours?
