BORROWED AND STOLEN.

Winter in Western Nebraska.
GRANT, Neb., Nov. 25.—Winter closed down in western Nebraska to-day. It was intensely cold this morning. This evening a heavy snow storm set in. Old settlers are apprehensive of a blizzard.

Concluding With the Crown Prince.
BERLIN, Nov. 25.—In the Reichstag to-day the president read a telegram from the crown prince in answer to the message of sympathy sent by this body yesterday, thanking them for their sympathy.

Judge Parsons Again Arrested.
LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 25.—A. F. Parsons, late police judge of this city, who was removed from office by the council a few weeks ago for malfeasance, was arrested this afternoon at the instance of the school board, charged with embezzlement. His bail was fixed at $800.

Death of Lord and Lady Dalhousie.
HAMBURG, Nov. 25.—Lord and Lady Dalhousie are both dead. Lady Dalhousie's mother and Dr. Fogg, her English physician, were present yesterday at the time of her death. Lord Dalhousie died this morning of apoplexy, induced, Dr. Fogg tells me, by the shock caused by his wife's death. Lady Dalhousie's body lay in state for Southampton.

A Sioux City Theater Burned.
SIoux City, Ia., Nov. 25.—The theater company building, known as the Standard, which burned by the notorious Harry Leavitt, was burned this morning. The loss on the building is $25,000, and on the fixtures $1000. Both are partly covered by insurance. Several actresses rooming in the building barely escaped in their gowns and wigs, but lost their stage dress and wearing apparel.

A Switchman Killed.
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 25.—Patrick O'Shea, a switchman in the B. & M. railroad yards in this city, was killed about 4 o'clock this morning. He was stooping over picking up a pin when the moving train struck him, knocking him on the falls and amputating both legs, the man dying almost instantly. The remains were taken in charge by the coroner and forwarded to O'Shea's home at Cameron, Mo.

The Dunbar Cowboy Resurrected.
NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Nov. 25.—Dick Childs, of Dunbar, who was a few days ago up before the district court on the charge of an assault with intent to kill and was heavily fined, was to-day arrested again on a similar charge, having attempted the life of A. T. Hill, at Dunbar this morning. Childs has a reputation as a desperado, and hails from Missouri, where, it is said, he is wanted for a number of shooting scrapes and general cussedness. He recently created a sensation by running away with the daughter of a prominent farmer, southwest of the city, and marrying her, having won her admiration by his reckless bravado.

Miss Johnson's Marriage Annulled.
NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Nov. 25.—Some four months ago Miss Jennie Johnson, an accomplished and popular young lady of this place and a niece of O. P. Mason, caused a decided sensation by eloping with John V. E. Cherritt, a laborer employed on her father's farm. The couple were married at Council Bluffs. The lady's parents and uncle seriously objected and today succeeded in convincing the woman and Judge Field that she was insane at the time of her marriage and the judge decided she was incapable of entering into marriage relations. Young Cherritt says he will not lose this wife so easily and will make another effort to secure his rights.

An Unexpected Acquittal.
GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 24.—In the case of the state vs. James Odell, charged in the original count with the murder of Charles Quinlan, the jury this morning brought in a verdict of not guilty, causing a general surprise throughout the city, as the circumstances attending the case all tended to show that the killing of Quinlan was a cool and premeditated murder. Had the case come to trial a week after the murder the verdict would have been of a far different nature. Odell became so excited when the verdict was announced that he sprang from his chair in a wild manner, but was pushed back by his counsel. It was evident that he was overcome by surmise. The verdict causes general disgust, as the crime was considered too atrocious for the criminal to escape altogether.

Trouble Among Striking Switchmen.

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 23.—The strike remains the same as far as the switchmen are concerned. The Southern Pacific railway officials say that they are fast mastering the situation, having handled twelve freight trains to-day, sending five full trains and receiving seven. They assert the yard is not blocked, there being four switch engines and four crews at work in it, and that their negro switchmen are experienced hands. When the order was issued for the opening of the Houston machine shops an order was also given to commence work in the machine shops at Harrisburg, five miles below Houston. To-day Jim Gavin, a recently discharged yard foreman, made affidavit that R. C. Whiting, S. Pitzer, J. E. McRee, Ed Pran and E. M. Clure, and other men, numbering in all three crews, imported to work in place of the strikers, were in a boarding house on Congress street armed with pistols. Warrants were made out against the above-named and were served upon them by a constable. They were taken before Judge Breeding and each placed under a bond of $200 to appear Friday and answer the charge of carrying pistols. A 45-caliber pistol was found on one of them. While there bonds were being arranged, a man who accompanied them, named W. C. Bailey, threatened to shoot Dixon, a striker, if he moved a finger. He was arrested and at once showed the papers of a state ranger. He was placed under a bond of $350. Mike McCabe, another of the crowd was arrested on a charge of carrying a pistol. His pistol was found where he had hurriedly hid it. He showed papers as a deputy sheriff of Pulaski county, Ark. H. Epperson, who accompanied McCabe, was also arrested. They are held to answer by the city authorities. It is claimed that the arrested men and the other men mentioned belong to the Furlong detective agency of St. Louis. About forty strikers followed the arrested men to the office of the justice of the peace. A report prevails tonight that the engineers have refused to work with the negro hands.

An Insane Russian.
KEOKUK, Ia., Nov. 25.—Yesterday afternoon Harris Fuchs, a young Russian, was arrested for abusing a bridge gate keeper, to whom he refused to pay toll when it was demanded. When arraigned he acted in a peculiar manner. He would not tell his name and informed the judge that he should not ask foolish questions. Fuchs' case was continued until to-day and he was locked up in the city jail. Last night the man became violently insane and attempted to devour himself. As he was locked in a cell the jail officials did not notice him until his ravings became so violent that it was deemed best to place him under restraint. When they went to his cell it was discovered that Fuchs had torn the flesh from his hands and arms with his teeth, and was biting and snapping at other portions of his body with all the ferocity of a wild animal. Ropes were secured and the maniac cannibal placed under restraint. Doctors were summoned, but before they could give the man surgical attention it was necessary to place him under the influence of opiates. He was taken to Fort Madison to be examined by the insane commissioners.

Arrested For Selling O'Brien's Paper.
DUBLIN, Nov. 25.—Dennis McNamara, a shopkeeper at Ennis, has been sentenced to a week's imprisonment for selling copies of United Ireland, William O'Brien's paper, the selling of which has been proclaimed. This is the first instance in which a person has been prosecuted for selling papers.

The Triple Alliance.
PETER, Nov. 25.—The Peter Lloyd denies that each of the powers in the triple alliance is only bound to assist an ally if two powers attack it. It says an ally is bound under all circumstances to assist. The paper also says: "Bismarck informed the czar at the interview in Berlin Friday that the triple alliance was the result of Russia's sullenness and ill-will."

The French Crisis.
PARIS, Nov. 25.—President Grevey still stubbornly resists the demands for his immediate resignation. The press unanimously condemns the prolongation of the crisis. Le Paix says President Grevey will not resign before he has placed the republic in a safe position. It declares the Orleans princes are very active, and warns republicans to reflect on the course they are taking.

Ascent of Kilimanjaro.

The highest mountain in Africa has at last been conquered. Dr. A. Meyer, of Leipzig, succeeded in reaching the summit of the Kibo peak in August last. Kilimanjaro was discovered by the missionary Rebmann in 1848, and in the following year his colleague, Krapf, discovered its snow covered companion, Kenya. In 1862 Van der Decken attempted to ascend Kilimanjaro, but succeeded only in reaching a height of 14,000 feet. In 1871 the Rev. Charles New ascended as far as the snow line, and in 1884 Mr. H. H. Johnston reached a height of 16,000 feet. Dr. Meyer took six days to reach the summit of the crater of Kibo. On the first day he reached the forest limit; on the second Johnston's camp; on the third, passing over extensive grass meadows, he attained the snow lines, and here, as usual, his native companions deserted him. On the fourth day, through broken up blocks of lava, Dr. Meyer reached the foot of the crater, and the edge of the crater itself on the fifth day. This he found to be thickly glaciated, as also the region which lies between Kibo and its lower companion summit, Kinawazi. The sixth day Dr. Meyer spent in taking photographs and making collections around Kibo, and he also spent several days lower down at the snow limit for a similar purpose. He estimates the height of the Kibo summit at close on 20,000 feet, considerably higher than the estimates of Mr. Johnston. Dr. Meyer's detailed narrative of his journey will be looked for with interest.—London Standard.

Values His Autograph.
"I see that Ben Perley Poore's collection of autographs is to be sold," said a bright young lawyer who would shine in a community where lawyers are less plentiful. "But I don't believe," he continued, "that any autograph in the collection will bring more than mine."

"And what is the value of your autograph?" asked Mr. Buxton.
"To the best of my knowledge only one has ever been sold, and it brought first $400 and then $500."

"And who were the unfortunate purchasers?"
"Mr. Noteshaver bought it for $400, which was 50 per cent. of its per value, and I myself secured it from him at a slight advance of $100. I am rather choice of my autographs, and I shall put no more on the market unless hard pressed."—Kansas City Journal.

An Agnostic's Deathbed.
Strauss had a daughter, whom he had, strangely, sent to a pietistic school, while he was separated from her mother. She was educated a pious girl, and subsequently married a physician. She was called home when her father was about to die, and was deeply affected. When he saw her weeping, he took her hand in his and said: "My daughter, your father has finished his course. You know his principles and views. He cannot comfort you with the assurance of seeing you again. What your father has done will live forever, but his personality will forever cease to be. He must bow to the unchangeable law of the universe, and to that law he reverently says: 'Thy will be done.'"—The Princeton Review.

Sealing Wax Causing Trouble.
In a notice just issued the postoffice recommends the disuse of sealing wax on ordinary letters for countries over the sea. It often happens that the wax is melted by the heat under the tropics or by the fumigations to which the mail bags are subjected. In La Plata, for instance, the letters are found to stick together so that they cannot be separated without injury to the address, and are in this way often lost. Ordinary letters are quite sufficiently sealed with gum or wafers, and registered letters, for which wax seals are required, are carefully handled on the way.—Paris Cor. London News.

Killing Off Their Husbands.
Young married farmers have been dying off with dreadful suddenness in villages of Syria in Eastern Croatia. These young farmers were all brand new husbands, and at last their deaths, all coming so soon after their marriage, excited suspicion and the matter was investigated. It was found that an old woman had conceived the idea of getting pretty young girls to marry farmers and poison them and divide the spoils. The old woman is now in jail, and so far seven young widows to whom she had furnished poison with which to kill their husbands.—Foreign Letter.

Why the Ducks Dived.
A Norwich, Conn., man, who had stocked his pond with a rare and handsome breed of ducks, found that they were slowly disappearing, but where they went he could not determine. One day a visitor, sitting on the piazza, said: "You've got queer ducks. I've seen two of them dive, but they haven't come up yet." This was a suggestion to be acted upon. The owner drew off the water from the pond, and found seventeen snapping turtles. He killed them, and now the ducks do not disappear, or at least when they dive they come up again.—New York Sun.

Successful Whaling Voyage.
The days of successful whaling are not over, though the business has become very risky. The substitution of steamers for sailing vessels has resulted in some very good voyages lately. One of the most fortunate skippers of the day is Capt. Bauldry, of the New Bedford steam whaler Orea, who has just returned with all the oil and bone his ship can carry. He actually gave away two whales that his crew had killed to a rival, because his own storage room was full.—New York Commercial Advertiser.
