ROAD ACCIDENTS.

One Man Loses a Finger, Another Gets a Severe Gash.

Two accidents occurred to B. & M. men this morning. In one a switchman named Griggs lost a finger and a road laborer named Pete Sundell received a terrible gash under the right eye.

Mr. Sundell is employed in Anderson's section gang and he with a party of other men, started out behind a freight train this morning, on a hand car for La Platte to do some road repairing.

It seems that Sundell got on the hind car of the freight, to ride and the rest of the gang followed close behind on the hand car. Between the Platte bridge and La Platte the hand car was run up to the freight so that Sundell could transfer himself from the train to the car with his fellow laborers. He swung himself from the freight car and just as he was about to let go, the train made a gain of a few feet on the hand car and Sundell dropped on the track, falling and striking his right cheek bone square on the rail and the speed of the hand car was too great to be stopped and it passed over him, but was immediately stopped and his friends picked him up, expecting to find him lifeless, but they were happily disappointed. The fall on the rail had laid the cheek bone bare from the corner of the right eye, in the shape of a semi-circle, downward for an inch and a half, and the orb of the eye could be seen by lifting the loose flesh, although the eye was apparently not hurt. The hand car had brushed him considerable on the leg, but had broken no bones and Sundell was able to walk. His head was tied up and the hand car immediately returned to this city and he was taken to Dr. Livingston's office and Dr. T. P. Livingston dressed and sewed the wound. Mr. Sundell is about twenty-four years old and lives on Winterstein Hill, opposite the B. & M. lumber yard, and will be confined to his home some time, and the swelling of the eye, which is sure to come, may keep him home for the winter.

The switchman who was hurt, gave the name of Griggs and was a new man. He was attempting to make a coupling early this morning in the lower yards and caught one of his fingers, cutting it off. He was cared for by Dr. Livingston, also.

Dufour & Libby Take Their Departure and Leave Considerable Indebtedness.

Some time ago parties came here from Chicago and made the start of a packing establishment under the name of Dufour & Libby. They located on grounds north of the city. Afterward the firm became Dufour & Libby and during the fall they made preparation to do quite a business, purchasing lumber and building material from the Plattsmouth business men, dividing their bills among the various merchants. They erected quite a large frame building and began work and did considerable killing of cattle and hogs, some of which were sold here and some of the meat was shipped. Things seemed to be well till yesterday, and last night Libby left the city and the firm's stock purchaser, Mr. Dowd, left also, and their establishment was closed, and things in connection with the firm looked suspicious, and it to-day looked as if the packing house men had left without any intent to come back and settle up.

The First National Bank holds a $3,200 chattel mortgage given by the company and last night the cashier went up to Omaha to interview Mr. Dufour, but that gentleman didn't seem to have the money to pay the mortgage, and no satisfactory answer for the payment of it could be obtained, and according to Mr. Dufour the company has busted.

Dufour & Libby left numerous bills behind, none of which seem to have had any payments made on them, and the quiet departure looks as though no effort was made to pay any of them. A number of attachments have been filed on the property left behind, and most of the creditors held a lien of some kind. The debts of the company, which were given into our hands are as follows: First National Bank, chattel mortgage, $3200; Richey Bros., for lumber, $123; Waterman & Son, Lumber, $342.51; Chas. Vandeverter, corn, $300; John S. Duke, hardware, $70.76; N. V. Mathews, hardware, $25; Johnson, hardware, $20; W. H. Piekens, labor, $65; John C. Stewart, labor, $60; Jonathan D. Gall, labor, $55; E. B. Lewis, coal, $66.95; C. M. Holmes, board for horses, $40; other bills $160, making a total indebtedness of over $4,600.

The sheriff was busy to-day appraising the property left belonging to Dufour & Libby. Besides the building and butchering implements there were 63 cattle, 5 horses and 7 hogs on the ground. The value of everything left is not near enough to satisfy the claims.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Safford closed her school Monday on account of cold; it being only 45° in her room all forenoon.

The recent cold snap brought out the fact that the heating apparatus for one or two rooms was insufficient.

Messrs Barr and Ballance have worked nights to put in new radiators, and when Boreas again visits us we shall be prepared to properly receive him.

Friday one of the steam pipes sprung a leak and it was thought necessary to close school. But as the lines were passing out, word was received that the leak was found and not at all dangerous. The pupils that were still in the building returned to their respective rooms and resumed their work. Miss Gass' pupils succeeded in escaping.

Friday was again pay day and I suppose the Journal will say to-night that the teachers marched in line to the dry-goods store to deposit their money for new dresses. I for one can say that what I do with my money is no ones business so long as I am out of debt, and if I want a new dress and have the money shall certainly get one.

There are a great many pseudo orators in this country who like to boast of and dwell upon our grand school system. But these same people are the very last ones to give the teacher any credit for good schools. They do not consider the teacher capable of making her own programme but would rather make her a slave to method or fossilized ideas when she can certainly teach a much better school if she is given free scope for her genius. Our schools are what the teacher has made them, not what the street talker or the politician has done.

I have noticed in my brief career as a teacher that those parents who complain of the teacher, or that their children do learn as much as they did when they went to school to Miss Perfection etc., are the ones whose children are the poorest in attendance. If a child only comes about half the time, that child can, of course, only learn half as much. Some children miss from half to two thirds of the school term and still the parents think they should be promoted the same as those who have attended every day. And should they fail to be, the teacher is abused and said to be the entire cause.

CLARA WILSON.

Rock Bluffs.

Our fall term of school that was taught by Mr. Frank White closed on Friday, Nov. 13th and our winter term begins on Monday, Dec. 5th and is to be taught by Mr. D. W. Curtis.

Mrs. James McCulloch, an old lady about seventy years old, who has been sick a long time, died last Monday night and was buried Wednesday in the Young burying ground.

Another one of our old land marks is gone. The building known here as the old Odd Fellows Hall has been taken down and removed to Union the new town on the Missouri Pacific railroad.

Billy Allen has opened up the blacksmith shop again and is now ready for business. He will shoe horses, mules and bobs-logs or he will sharpen plows, cultivators, pickaxes and crow-bars—in fact he can do almost anything that is to be done by hand or he can whistle, sing and blow the big horn in the band.

The cold storm of last week caught a few farmers with their corn not all picked but as a rule there are more farmers done picking corn early this year than we have ever known before. 25 to 30 bushels to the acre is about what the most of them are getting, a few more and a good many less.

We are glad to see Reporter of Three Groves report a prospective marriage that is to come off soon at that place. That is a wise move on his part for we do not think it was ever intended for a man to go alone through this world and we want to be the first to congratulate him after he has taken a partner for the ship of matrimony. TIM SHAYER.

The New Time Table.

A new time table has been issued which goes into effect to-morrow on the B. & M. road, and according to it passenger trains will leave Plattsmouth as follows:

According to the above Nos. 1 and 2 are new trains entirely giving Plattsmouth 12 daily passenger trains, and making more connections with Omaha.
