A DISEASED HORSE.

Sold in the City Yesterday—The Soller in the Arms of the Law. Yesterday a young fellow from Weeping Water named Doc Lavis came in the city with a sorrel pony which he offered for sale. He offered the horse to Walter Holmes who at first saw nothing wrong with it and a bargain was made of a trade of a watch and $5 for the pony...

This morning Messrs. Jones, Mathews and Holmes examined the horse and decided it had a severe attack of the glanders. Sheriff Eikenbary then telegraphed to State Veterinary Girth, of Lincoln, to come down this evening, and if he pronounces the disease glanders the sheriff will file information against Lavis for selling glandered horses...

The fine for selling glandered horses is not less than $200 and not more than $400 and if that is what the disease is it will go hard with some one, more than likely...
