A Salsbury Dentist, in Rockwood Building.

—Thirty teams are kept busy these days hauling sand.

—Already preparations are being made for the census of 1890.

—It is better to boycott the saloon than to boycott your family.

—County Clerk Bird Critchfield is busy to-day installing his deputy.

—The commissioners are busy to-day checking with the county Treasurer.

—Chas. Vanderventer is hauling sand and getting things in readiness for the spring building.

—T. J. Thomas is putting up a new sign in front of his Eureka meat market, greatly adding to the appearance.

—Two plain drunks this morning in the police courts, fined $5 and costs, unable to pay their fines and jailed eight days.

—It is a singular fact that the recent cold snap in Georgia froze up the ice factory at Griffin, and deprived the town of ice.—Ee.

—A new patent book clasp has been placed in all the rooms in the court house, greatly adding to the convenience of the officers.

—W. B. Porter living west of town two and a half miles, is putting up ice; gets it from the field of P. S. White, and pays 30 cents per load.

—Marriageable young girls of Kansas make it a point to take up a land claim as the first step towards securing a husband.—Lincoln Journal. It is a good scheme, no doubt.

—In the series of cases against Thornburg & Morrison, pending before Judge Pottenger, a motion was brought and continued until tomorrow at 1 o'clock, to dissolve the attachments.

—Dr. Salsbury recently extracted an ulcerated tooth for O. P. Smith. After cleaning the tooth it was replaced, and is now as sound as though nothing had occurred. A case of this kind seldom ever happens.

—We take the following from a Chicago special dispatch to J. A. Conner this morning: Wheat Jan. 8, 3; wheat June 8, 4; corn Jan. 4, 8; corn May 5, 4; oats May 3, 4. This is 1/2 to a cent lower all around on all grain.

—There will be five eclipses during this year, three of the sun and two of the moon. Only the eclipses of the moon will be visible to the United States, the first total eclipse of the moon occurs January 28th, and the second July 22d.

—List of scholars perfect in attendance and punctuality during the past month in room 8: John Franzen, Clarence Miller, Frank Faimon, Maud Maury, Otto Wurl, Bernard Wurl, Frank Wise, Jacob Boetel, George Nichols, Beniah Elson, Hattie McMaken, Ida Seidenstricker, Lula Smith, Mary Wise.

—Certain labor organizations have resolved to boycott the product of some of the Milwaukee brewers, because of the treatment of their employes. The greatest blessing that could befall the working classes of America as a whole, would be the boycotting of the products of all breweries and distilleries, wherever located. Whiskey and beer are their worst enemies—the worst enemies of their families, of their prosperity and of their general welfare.

—"John Wanamaker, the Philadelphia merchant," says the Times of that city, "recently spoke as follows about advertising: 'I never in my life used such a thing as a poster, dodger or handbill. My plan for fifteen years has been to buy so much space in a newspaper and fill it up with what I wanted. I would not give an advertisement in a newspaper of 400 circulation for 5000 handbills or posters. If I wanted to sell cheap jewelry or run a lottery scheme I might use posters, but would not insult a decent reading public with handbills. The class of people who read such things are poor people to look to for support in mercantile affairs. I deal directly with the publishers. I say to him: How long will you let me run a column of matter in your paper for $100 or $200, as the case may be? I let him do the figuring, and if I think he is not trying to make more than his share I give him the copy. I lay aside the profit of a particular line of goods for advertising purposes. The first year I laid aside and spent $4,000; last year I laid aside and spent $40,000. I have done better this year, and shall increase that sum as the profits warrant it. I owe my success to newspapers, and to them I shall freely give a certain profit of my yearly business.'

The Ice Harvest.

The ice packers are now reaping a rich harvest from the bosom of the Old Missouri. The ice is of an excellent quality from 16 inches to 22 inches in thickness, and as clear as a crystal. There are from 30 to 40 teams and 70 to 75 men kept busy from early to late, and the way they haul out the frozen liquid is a caution.

Our first visit this morning was to the ice field of F. S. White, where we found many busy men. Mr. White informed us that he would store from 2500 to 3000 tons for home consumption; and that he had been in the business for fifteen years during which time he has furnished Plattsmouth with many thousands of tons. Mr. White has had 34 men and 15 teams hauling for the past ten days and expects to keep on as long as the nice weather lasts, or until he fills his storage room.

Our next visit is to the field of Henry McMaken, who is handling ice very extensively. They have the Plattsmouth B. & M. house almost filled, and will fill one for private use, two at Pacific Junction, one at Glenwood, one at Lincoln, three at Council Bluffs and two at Omaha, all for the B. & M. and C. B. & Q. Besides having 9 teams and 19 men employed here, they run a large force at Bellevue.

The northwest field is occupied by Fred Kroehler, who will pack 1500 tons for different parties, viz: Goos & Oliver; Weber, Breckenfield & Co.; Anheuser, Busch & Co.; J. V. Egenberger, Peterson Bros. and Fred Krug.

Don't Miss it.

The great spectacular drama, "Around the World in Eighty Days," is announced at the opera house for next Friday night Jan. 13th. Manager Young is specially anxious to impress upon the minds of the public the fact that the production will be the same as seen in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and other large cities. We are informed that the size of the opera house stage is especially fit for productions of this kind, and everything advertised will be produced. The management has gone into a great expense securing this attraction, and we sincerely trust that the great enterprise shown will be rewarded by a crowded house on next Friday day.

Good Weather for All.

"This is fine weather," says No. 1. "For what?" asks No. 2.

"Why, for putting up ice," replies the ice packer.

No. 3 is an Iowa man, who is pleased because he can market his wood and hay in Plattsmouth at a good price.

No. 4 is the merry-hearted school boy, who enjoys coasting down 5th street hill with his fine sled, and every other slide comes into our office to warm his cold fingers and toes.

No. 5 is the huntsman, who likes all kinds of game, and goes to the Iowa side and sometimes returns with all he can carry.

Court Dates.

The following assignments for terms of District court have been made, viz:

Lancaster county, Feb. 20, May 14, Oct. 15.

Otoe county, March 12, June 4, Nov. 12.

Cass county, April 9, Sept. 17, Dec. 10.

S. M. CHAPMAN.

—One of President Cleveland's favorite dishes is pickled sheep's tongue, eaten just before he goes to bed.—Ee. We would advise the President to eat calf brain, as it is said to be excellent food for feeble-minded persons.

Transplanting a Forest.

The count of Monte Cristo was the first to suggest the practicability of transplanting full grown forest trees. He has followers now in Indianapolis. A primeval forest east of the city is being removed—boughs, trunks, roots and all.

Col. Johnson last summer erected a dwelling on the open ground near his garden, this side of Irvington; the sun's rays beat down on that house blisteringly, and the colonel concluded to protect it with trees. One Bunnell was found who declared he could transplant an adjacent forest to the colonel's yard. The trees vary from ten to eighteen inches in diameter. Bunnell rigged up a stout wagon, fastening to the hind wheels an immense lever, forty to fifty feet long, thick and strong. This was lashed at one end to the wagon. Around a tree to be removed he dug a trench, the radii being three or four feet. On one side he dug a twelve inch trench close to the tree, and into this trench he backed his lever wheels with the erect lever. The lever then stood parallel with the trunk of the tree, and the two were lashed together, boom fashion. As far up as the tree trunk was stiff the lever would be tightly fastened, giving one solid, unyielding leverage. From the top of the logs thus boomed a rope was run around a pulley fastened at the surface of the ground 100 feet or more from the tree. Teams hitched to the end of the rope could then with ease uproot the tree with a large quantity of earth and roots attached. When thus uprooted it would be on wheels and easily movable, held steadily from roots to tip. The success of the work on the Johnson place has led to the removal of many large trees on the north side. The process is believed to be of no harm to the tree's life. However, spring will reveal the sequel.—Indianapolis News.

Paris' Picture Market.

Never, probably, in the history of Paris has the picture market been in so depressed a state as it is at this moment. A few great artists, like Bouguereau, Meissonier, or Benjamin Constant, find ready purchasers for their work at very high prices. But the rank and file have the greatest difficulty in making both ends meet. If the import duty on pictures for the United States were removed American amateurs would probably come forward in increased numbers, but until then there seems little hope of any improvement. As an illustration of the existing depression may be mentioned the result of the sale, after death, of the works belonging to M. Jacquinet, the artist expert, which has just come to an end at the Hotel Drouot. Two thousand pictures put up to auction only produced 21,000 francs, or £840, being an average of sixteen shillings per picture. In some cases two or three canvases together were sold for five francs, and not a single work realized £20.—Galignani's Messenger.

Superior to Cremation.

J. G. Meyers, a young inventor of Washington, has invented a plan which he believes to be superior to cremation, burial, or any other ancient or modern method of treating the dead bodies. The "new mausoleum and safe deposit for the dead" is the name of this new contrivance. Mr. Meyers' plan may be regarded as a compromise between the two extremes of interment and cremation. In a fireproof building spaces will be provided just large enough to hold a single coffin. When a coffin with a dead body is placed in one of these the door of the apartment is hermetically sealed. Running from these apartments are tubes which bring air into the dead rooms, and also carry it downward by a forced draft to a central furnace below, where are consumed all gases and fluids escaping from the bodies. Dead bodies treated in this manner, will in a short time, it is claimed, become naturally preserved, or dried, and so remain.—Chicago News.

Taken at an Advantage.

A Philadelphia saw a club footed man under the influence of liquor, and kindly assisted him to the house where he said he lived and rang the door bell. When the door opened two young women, who had evidently been expecting him, caught him without ceremony, threw him down in the entry and, while the elder sat on him, the younger deliberately set about unscrewing the only leg that appeared to be sound, but which proved to be artificial. After detaching it she marched off with it, with the remark: "There, you fool; I'll put this away where you won't get it in a hurry, and may be you'll stay sober when you have to stay in the house." It turned out that the only means of preventing an over indulgence in liquor was to deprive him of his artificial leg, which was a substitute for a natural malformation.—Chicago Herald.

Scaring Off a Tramp.

A little 10-year-old girl in Latrobe, Pa., was alone at home when a vicious looking tramp came to the door and asked for something to eat. Although frightened, the child told him he could not have anything, as everything had been eaten up. At this the tramp stepped into the hall, saying that "he guessed he would stay awhile." The quick witted child calmly said: "Well, we'll see; I'll ask my papa." and went into the back room for a minute as if to speak with him. Returning, she found that the tramp had stepped outside again and was standing looking in. She walked boldly up to the door and said: "My papa says you can't stay and must go, so go!" and she slammed the door in his face and locked it.—Chicago Herald.

The Japanese Can't Swear.

Col. George P. Bissell, of Hartford, Conn., spent last summer in Japan. The most remarkable feature of that country, he says, lies in the fact that its language contains no profane or blasphemous words. "I can readily understand," he remarks, "why the practice of 'hari-kari' is so common in Japan. When a man is abused or loses his collar button and it is mad all the way through, so mad that his very soul boils within him, if at such time he is the victim of a language which will not let him vent his rage even in the mildest epithets, why then I can readily see how suicide might be a soothing relief."—New York World.

A Michigan man thinks that by draining certain Tennessee bog lands he can make a fortune raising celery. He has just bought 1,000 acres near Chattanooga for this purpose.

—There were two accidents at the B. & M. shops this morning. Wm Latham while attempting to adjust a belt in the planing mill, fell 12 feet striking some blocks, badly bruising one hip and injuring an arm. A Mr. Warrick who is employed in the planing mill, had one hand badly lacerated.

—The democrat who fancies that he is bled by high tariff when he pays five cents for calico and ten cents for muslin pays five cents for beer and ten cents for whiskey without a kick or a groan. And why not? The tangle-foot makes him rich and happy and goes down his own gizzard while the calico and muslin makes him feel poor and miserable, for it goes to cover the nakedness of his family. Millions for (his!) defense but not a cent for tribute.—North Bend Plain.
