—Coasting carnival to-night.
—Who struck natural gas last Sunday? (Gen. Tel.)
—A new floor was laid yesterday in the freight office above the depot.
—Justice and fair treatment are words foreign to the Democratic vocabulary.
—In the Bon-ton cases (six in number) the motion for dissolving attachments was over ruled and attachments sustained.
—The Plattsmouth Fire Co. will give a ball at Fitzgerald's Hall next Wednesday evening, in honor of the state delegates.
—A horse belonging to a Mr. Tucker got down in front of the Cass Co. Bank this morning and was only gotten up with considerable assistance.
—Look out for more samples of democratic "honah" and respect for the most sacred laws of the country, when the Carlisle election contest is heard.
—The clearing house reports show a decrease of 8 per cent at Kansas City for the corresponding week one year ago, while Omaha had a gain of 20 per cent for the same time.
—W. F. Falk, business manager of the "Gipsy Baron Opera Company," was in the city last evening completing arrangements for the appearance of his company here next Monday night.
—This beautiful winter weather is glorious enough to call for a weather poem from the Adonis of the Star's Journal Topics, Walt. Mason, or another prodigious gas discovery sensation from the muscular liar of Nebraska City.
—The prohibitionists of Nebraska are called to meet in delicate convention in the city of Lincoln, Wednesday, February 15, 1888, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing seventeen delegates and seventeen alternates to the prohibition convention and to prepare for the organizing work of 1888.

—Adam Smith, one of the most eminent authorities on political economy, says: "Whatever besides tends to diminish in any country the number of artificers and manufacturers tends to diminish the home market, the most important of all markets for the crude products of the land, and thereby still further to discourage agriculture."

—The following are the names of the pupils in Room 1, Ward 1, who have been perfect in attendance and punctuality during the past month: Nora McVey, Nina Beall, Edna Lockwood, Mary Leonard, Rigmald Drummond, Charles Gutman, Haden Hunt, Elmer Searle, Howard Searle, Arthur Searle, Addie Smith, Alvina Goos, James Stuart, Lizzie McVey, Robert Manzy, Abe Pepperberg, Edgar Oswalt, Mintie Manzy, John O'Rourke, Rena Cole.
—Mr. Leach the efficient sandwich vender at the depot got aboard the K. C. train last night and told the passengers that it was the last chance they would have on earth to buy a sandwich, that the train would be ditched just north of town. As to whether the train was ditched or not we did not ascertain. One thing we do know that Mr. Leach got so deeply absorbed in disposing of his sandwiches that the train carried him to Ooreapolis.
—Estimates prepared by the statistician of the department of agriculture at Washington show that the area of corn harvested in 1887 was about 72,000,000 acres, or 1,456,000,000 bushels, the value of which is placed at $646,000,000. The area of wheat harvested was about 37,400,000 acres, or 456,000,000 bushels, valued at $309,000,000. The acreage of oats harvested was 26,000,000 acres, or 659,000,000 bushels, valued at $200,000,000. Winter wheat and rye are about average crops, with slight decrease in the sections that are afflicted with drought during the summer months.

Annual Installation of Officers.
The annual installation of officers of Lodge 146, Independent Order of Odd Fellows took place in their hall last night. This lodge though young, not being yet a year old, is well organized and the sociability of its members in entertaining their guests and visitors received the comment of all present. The hall was well filled, and every one enjoyed the evening until a late hour. The meeting was called to order by their state representative, Mr. S. P. Vanatta, followed by prayer from Rev. W. B. Alexander, then began the installations of officers. The Grand Marshall, Solomon Levi presented the Noble Grand with the incoming officers in order beginning with W. W. Davis who was installed Noble Grand for the ensuing year, Mr. Curtis retired; Ed Morley was installed as Vice Grand, P. D. Bates taking the chair. The place of Allen Stultz as Secretary will be filled the coming year by L. G. Larson. R. Peterson was installed Treasurer, T. W. Twiss retiring. The principal subordinate officers are C. Peterson, Warden; Edd Morley, Conductor; M. A. Hartigan, Recorder; R. Peterson, Door-keeper; T. W. Twiss, right of Vice Grand; J. C. Eikenbary, left of Vice Grand. After the installation followed the recital of the duties of each officer. This over, a bountiful repast was served by J. P. Antill, free of charge to the guests, at the expense of the lodge.

Friday Evening's Show.

W. J. Fleming's Company, "Around the World in Eighty Days," constructed from Jules Verne's sensational novel, opened at the Masonic Temple Theater last evening, to an immense audience. The story is too familiar for repetition. The Company is well balanced and effective, and the performance throughout is first-class in every respect. Perhaps the best feature of the entertainment is the variety of really magnificent scenery, and it is no reflection on those who were in the cast, to say that some of the representations in colors were more loudly applauded than anything that was said or done. The scope of the story affords an almost endless opportunity for stage display, and Manager Fleming has certainly done all that is possible to make the piece interesting and attractive, both from a dramatic and scenic point of view. The capture of Henrietta, the destruction and explosion of the steamer, the rising of the waters, the arrival of the train at Kearney Station, the attack of the Indians and the United States dragoons to the rescue, the Pagoda of Pilarji, the Suez Canal are all marvels of beauty and faithful in picturesque designs. All in all, the production was the finest of its kind we have ever witnessed.

Greenwood's Growth.

Greenwood has made but little stir about it but has gone steadily on, attending strictly to business, and as a result can congratulate itself upon a very fair showing of improvements for the six months ending Jan. 1. It is true the first half of the year was quite enough to mislead many people into the false idea that the town was dead, but we are happy to state that it was an illusion—the town was merely sleeping—and the awakening has been genuine and thorough. Without attempting to go into details and show up every dollar that has been expended in new buildings and improvements in Greenwood since July last, we can say with all sincerity it has been a very creditable half-year, and would compare favorably with any other town of its size in eastern Nebraska. The best part of the matter, however, lies in the fact this is merely a half-turn of the wheel of progress that is to be set in motion in the early spring. A number of new brick business houses are certain to be erected, while the indications are that before the close of '88 our town will possess an oat meal factory, a canning factory, and perhaps other industries of like importance.

A Trade.

A novel trade was made a few days ago between an enterprising horse dealer of Beatrice and a prominent farmer. The farmer had an elegant gold watch charm fashioned in the form of a horse. It pleased the fancy of the horse dealer who proposed to trade a genuine horse for it. So he asked the owner: for the ornament how he would trade it for the poorest horse in his stable. The farmer replied that he would give him the charm and two dollars. The proposition was accepted. He was then shown the horse, which did not look so bad as it might, and the farmer began to congratulate himself on his good fortune, when the animal proceeded to indulge in a terrible fit during which he almost demolished his stall. The ex-owner of the charm was ordered to take his horse away at once or pay heavily for his keeping, and now he has something of an elephant on his hands and is trying to find some one who will shoot and bury the horse for him. The dealer smiles as he sees the beautiful charm dangling from his massive chain.—Beatrice Ex.

Campanini lost his voice through wearing low necked shirts in the bitter New York weather, six or seven winters ago. The story goes that the great tenor was a blacksmith in his boyhood, and became so hardened to violent contrasts of cold and heat that he thought nothing could affect the superb strength of his physique. But a New York blast struck him in his vital spot one day and he was compelled to give up the stage altogether. Unexpectedly his voice came back to him, but in such delicate form that he is now obliged to nurse it like an exotic.
