SWEDISH CONGREGATIONAL.—Granite between Fifth and Sixth.

—Mr. E. S. Gensel has been on the sick list the past few days, not being able to attend to his duties at the shops.

—There were about twenty-five couples present at the Turnverein ball last night and all enjoyed the evening until a late hour.

—The people about Pawnee City are greatly afflicted with many different diseases. The Republican takes up one whole column mentioning persons on the sick list.

—Threlkeld & Burly have taken the contract to furnish supper for the firemen's ball to be given in honor of the state firemen which occurs next Wednesday night Jan. 17.

—W. A. Short, the mail-carrier from here to Mt. Pleasant, started out this morning, but after getting his team down abandoned the trip and returned home. He reports the snow as being from four to six feet deep.

—Marshal Mallick received the comment of all for his prompt action in preserving order at the opera house last night. Several others need to be made examples of before they will realize what fools they are making of themselves.

—Around the world in 80 days at the opera house last night was ahead of what our people expected to see. The entertainment was first class in every respect, their scenery being real and natural as life. Should they return to Plattsburgh they will be greeted with a full house.

—A decrease in the number of convicts in the Iowa penitentiaries is attributed by Governor Larrabee to the enforcement of the prohibitory laws. County jails have been emptied which were never known to be so before, and court expenses are much less. The complete enforcement of the prohibitory laws will unquestionably further benefit the State.

Willie Campbell Will Go to the Reformatory School.

Complaint was filed yesterday evening against Willie Campbell for disobedience to his mother. Sheriff Eikenbary, accompanied by his Deputy, Dave Miller, went to the house of Mrs. Campbell this morning, for the purpose of taking him away. He was asked if he wanted to go back to the reformatory school, and replied that he didn't give a d—d. The Sheriff took him by the left arm, telling him to come on, when Willie drew a revolver from his right pocket and aimed it at the Sheriff's head. The Sheriff at once obeyed him and threw him on to the floor, where a lively tussle ensued, in which Willie kicked the stove over. After choking the lad until he gave up the stove was put together again, while Willie sat as unconcerned and sullen as though nothing had happened. On examination the revolver proved to be a .32 caliber, and contained five cartridges. The boy cocked it before taking it from his pocket no doubt he would have shot the Sheriff. The boy was lodged in jail, where he will remain until Monday, and be taken to the reformatory school at Kearney. He has served a term of two years at the reformatory school, and returned home last July. His mother is an invalid, and could have no control over him. He is but 14 years of age. Few boys at his age are as desperate as he, and has no regard whatever for mother or laws.

PROHIBITION IN IOWA.

Gov. Larrabee Says the Law Has Worked Well in That State.

Gov. Larrabee delivered his biennial message to the legislature Tuesday. Referring to the pharmacy law he says amendments are needed, particularly in reference to intoxicating liquors, and asks for the subject earnest consideration. The provisions should be more stringent and the methods of dealing with delinquents more direct and certain. The governor says that the enforcement of the prohibitory law has been so efficient in reducing crime that he recommends a consolidation of judicial districts so as to reduce the number of judges from forty-four to forty. He also adds:

I recommend that a joint committee of the general assembly be appointed early in the sessions to inquire into the reasons for the non-enforcement of this law in certain communities; and whether the officers there are neglectful of their duties. I think some measures should be adopted to quicken the consciences of the officials who neglect or refuse to perform their sworn duty, or else provide a way for their suspension or removal. It only remains for the friends of good government and law and order to press patiently, yet resolutely, forward with this great reform, until the saloon and all illegal manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors are utterly destroyed.

When the governor comes out in this manner there is not much likelihood of the republican legislature repealing the prohibitory law this session at least, nor any other session. They believe in carrying out honor and principle though they should suffer defeat.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Clara Wilson was slightly indisposed last week, hence the absence of "notes."

Miss Valery had charge of the dinner room, this week, which on account of the cold weather was crowded every day.

The thermometer at the school house registered nineteen below Friday morning at four o'clock, according to the janitor.

Notwithstanding yesterday was such a cold day there were but one or two absent from the whole building. Several of the little ones, however, came with frozen ears and noses.

The amount of absence, always a very small per cent., is unusually small this week on account of the examination. Pupils will come through any kind of weather rather than miss the examination and fail to be promoted.

The examinations this term are very difficult and that pupil who passes is certainly prepared to go on. I would be willing to wager a stick of gum, that not one teacher in ten can pass the examinations above the eighth grade.

It is proper that examinations be well and carefully conducted for it nearly always happens that some are passed who are not capable of going on. If this be true, then in a few years the school will become poorly graded. And the schools must be properly graded to do good work.

The school alumni don't seem to be doing much toward the coming exhibition, and, judging from rumor, most of the preparatory work seems to have been taken from them. Miss Fulmer is, every day, at the high school drilling a large number of boys and girls in the choruses and other songs for the evening of the twentieth.

Miss May Russell was unable to be on duty the latter part of the week. Miss Annie Russell filled her place as gracefully as an experienced school ma'am.

The steam apparatus in the high school building is in better condition now than it has been for several years. I have heard no complaints of cold rooms this year although we have had some exceedingly cold days.

First Appearance of the New Orchestra.

The chief attraction for next Monday night for the "Gypsy Baron" opera company will be the new opera house orchestra of eight pieces under the leadership of I. Kalisky, who has had them under thorough training for several months and will make their first appearance next Monday night, giving the patrons of the opera house some first class music in the future. The orchestra consists of I. Kalisky, leader and first violin; Mr. Weaver, first and second violin; Lou Solomon, second violin; L. C. Foote, first b-flat cornet; Joe Hawka, worth, second cornet; Ed Schulhof, trombone; Prof. J. W. Gardner, solo clarinet; Mr. Smith, bass violin.

Notice to Subscribers.

After the coming Saturday, in cases where subscriptions are allowed to run behind the amount due will be computed at the rate of 15¢ per week. Those desiring to pay 50¢ per month for their paper, should pay in advance. The collector boys will be furnished with receipt books and will give receipts for each amount paid.

Miss Mary Weckbach went to Omaha today and returned this evening in company with Miss Anna who has been in Omaha during the week visiting friends.

Governor Thayer arrived in the city yesterday evening on his way home from Des Moines, and has been the guest of Capt. H. E. Palmer during the day. The Governor and wife take the evening train for the capital.

N. A. S. E.

In my last I broke off rather abruptly on account of my duty requiring my presence, but here we are again. In making the present effort I will say that no man who would be wise for himself who desires to march onward and upward with an honorable name for sound sense and general intelligence can either possess the qualifications spoken of or gratify his desires if he has not a taste for reading, selecting that kind of food for his mental appetite which with his knowledge will enable him to get understanding. Ignorant indeed must the man be that doesn't seek some kind of scientific pursuits were it only for pleasure.

A knowledge of the passing events of the day, the actions of nations and men are essential to the thorough mechanic, but along with this kind of knowledge it is impossible for a man to lay claim to the possession of general intelligence unless he reads often, understandingly and attentively some work devoted to science and art. Men of scientific taste are generally distinguishable as soon as they come in contact with the coarser element. They are shining lights to all of those that come in the sphere of their influence.

The mechanic who possesses the greatest amount of useful knowledge and is best acquainted with the inventions and improvements of the day always exerts the greatest influence in his sphere and commands the best wages. Every person knows this to be true and it is equally true that such persons are great readers.

It is quite probable for some of our working people to be far more learned than some of those that have a great name for extensive learning. A man may be able to pronounce "steam engine" in twenty different languages but if he knows nothing about its construction, its appliances or its operation he is but a very ignorant man after all, in comparison with the man who possesses a full knowledge of these things. The same comparison may be applied to every other branch of useful knowledge. But how are persons to acquire this knowledge that you speak of, some will say. We will answer in part. It is not possible for a man to acquire knowledge of all the sciences in one short life time but if every man would spend his spare moments in reading useful books and papers and would make a habit of classifying the knowledge that he acquires the growth of his information and the grasp of his mind would increase with his existence and no man who has the least experience in this world but has felt at some time or other the supremacy of his mind when discoursing on some subject with which he was well acquainted in the company of those who were ignorant of the same. The more intelligent a man is he feels more self-respect and he maintains his just rights with dignity.

It is the object of the N. A. S. E. to furnish its members with that kind of information which will make them better men, by strengthening their understanding and enlarging their capacity. It deals with facts and not with fiction. I will conclude for the present by saying we are seeking useful information in order that the young brothers will be better able and more qualified to fill positions when they are vacated by the senior brothers.
