CITY CORDIALS.

The April term of the district court in this city opened today. Judge S. Chapman on the bench.

The evangelists drew a large crowd of persons by their beautiful singing outside Young's store last Saturday night.

All members of the Y. I. R. R. A. are earnestly requested to be present at the Reading Room Tuesday April 10th, at 4 p. m.

We will publish an article in tomorrow's issue suggested last night by hearing Mr. Clagett, the evangelist remark: "Simply to thy cross, I cling."

Four weeks from March 23 there will be a very good circus in this city remaining two days. Price of admission ten cents. The town will be billed shortly.

The Ladies Aid Society, of the M. E. church, will meet Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of Mrs. D. M. Jones, corner of 11th and Oak streets. A good attendance is desired.

When Rockwood Hall was packed with an attentive audience last night while Mr. Bihorn was singing "Sweet peace, a gift from above," two bums were having a fight in the alley at the back of the building.

A Chalon Yscafn Yn Y Frou. This is to be pronounced slowly with chewing gum under the lingua. It is not Sanskrit but the title in Welsh of the famous singers who appear at the Opera House in this city, Monday, April 16.

The following attorneys were in attendance at the district court today: E. H. Wooley, W. D. Gibson, H. D. Travis, J. H. Halderman, Weeping Water; Ed. Jeary, Greenwood; Mr. Day, Omaha; Jos. Arnold, Mr. Wilson, Ashland.

The ladies of St. Luke's Guild will give a calico dress leap year party at Fitzgerald's hall on Tuesday the 17th. Each lady is expected to furnish a necklace for the gentleman whom she invites, to correspond with the dress worn by herself. Dance tickets $1.00; supper 50 cents per couple; admission ten cents.

The good people of Plattsmouth are just now clamoring to know what has become of the $200 subscribed by them last winter to the Shattuck fund. It seems the money was turned over to the editors of the Journal, but what afterwards became of it deponent sayeth not, as it was never received by the proper ones. An explanation, it would seem, is new in order.—Greenwood Leader.

The B. & M. band played some choice selections last Saturday night while marching up and down Main street. They also serenaded the Brotherhood at their hall. This band is a credit to the state of Nebraska. Their drum-major, J. T. Morrissey, wears a splendid and very expensive uniform and has a method of twirling the staff quite novel. He formerly held a position of importance in the 72nd Gordon Highlanders in the British Army.

Last Saturday afternoon the Brotherhood, old and young, were sportive and gay out at "Fitzgerald's Forty." Their amusements were base ball and football. The object of these games is to occupy the minds of the young, impulsive members and keep them away from the temptations of the streets of the city, where they are met on every corner by dirty scoundrels who try to get them under the influence of liquor, and then wean out secrets of the Brotherhood, or else try and wheedle them into a quarrel or anything that would tend to bring disgrace on the order.

W. H. Packard, formerly with the "Stuart Comedy Co." as advance agent, has been appointed general agent for Laschaller, Wertz Bros.' circus. The show opens up at Lincoln April 23. Four weeks from that date they will give a performance in this city. Mr. Packard leaves to join the company at Lincoln tomorrow. "Pack" has formed a good many friends during his stay among us, who will no doubt visit the show on its arrival here on that account. Good-bye, "Sis!" Good—good—bye.

The spectacular drama of "Zozo, the Magic Queen," had its first production at the Academy of Music last night. The play is one which will please every class of theatre-goers. There is a brilliant and sparkling dialogue, conducted chiefly by Washington Knawall, a typical American, which continually recalls the spectator from fairyland and reminds him by very practical remarks of mundane affairs. Miss Toma Hanlon as Rhododendron, and Tootsie. Mr. George H. Adams, as "Washington Knawall," Mr. Charles Renwick as "Captain Randall" of the wrecked ship, and Miss Pauline Montegriffo as "Zozo," the fairy queen, are the principal actors of a strong and well selected company.—Baltimore Herald.

A Dastardly Deed.

Between Friday night and this morning, some scoundrel spawned on society from a chaotic vacuum of infamy, broke into the Mercer school-house west of town and tore to pieces all the school-books and broke the school-slates and scattered the pieces all over the floor. An anatomy of negation capable of doing such a mean, spiteful trick is like the society sneak. He would scrape a fleeting sunbeam for fear it would reach the bedside of some sick child. He would steal the prattle from a baby's lips, would run a mile to seize his own shadow, and like the dog in the manger, who could not eat the hay himself and would not let the cow—he would not breathe hard for fear of waking his own offspring and thereby being deprived of that nutriment he was too old to take. He would steal bread and butter from a child going to school, or take the last coin from the tin cup of a blind beggar, and finish one chapter in his infamous career by stealing the coins from the eyelids of his dead mother.

"O, the Memories of the Past."

Appomattox-Anderson anniversary this evening, April 9, at Rockwood hall, to celebrate the surrender of Gen. Lee at Appomattox. The entertainment will be under the auspices of McConihie Post, G. A. R. Captain Henry, grand commander department of Nebraska, has promised to be present, with Brig-Gen. R. R. Livingston and others will make addresses. The glee club will assist. Admission free. Refreshments will be served after the entertainment. Everybody is invited.

Who will now tell the fortunes of the gushing, romantic, stage-struck, novel-reading maiden, the idiotic molecule, stick-of-celery of the male gender, the hopeful old maid, the grass widow, and the sprightly female violin, who sings mezzo-so-squeaky, "I'm sixty-five, I'm ninety-five, and to keep single I'll continue." Our old friends the gypsies are leaving us today, weather permitting. During their residence for the past six months in this city they have earned themselves a good name for square-dealing and manliness and as law-abiding people. We concur in the wishes of many of our best people when we wish them a hearty farewell combined with hopes of prosperity in their future wanderings over God's domain.

A census taker once asked a fellow, who had been on a long drunk, "What's your name?" "Put me down A. Total-wreck!" replied the unfortunate inebriate. The same can be truthfully said of the Bellevue wreck brought in the yards last night. It was a chaosed conglomeration, twisted and tangled like Medusa's ringlets. The engine was battered out of shape, tank the same, and pilot smashed. A flat car was broke in two pieces as though it had been a stick of candy.

The B. & M. band offer to give an open air concert on Main street, or some more suitable spot, once a week, if the merchants of this city will subscribe sufficient funds to erect a band-stand. It would be a good idea for some speculative-business man to pay the expense himself as an advertisement for his business.

Tomorrow there will be a fresh election at the original polling places for each ward for the purpose of deciding whether G. B. Smith or W. Wintersteen is to be elected a member of the school board. This action has been taken by the city council as there was a tie of votes for these two gentlemen at the last city election.

If you are patriotically inclined and love your country and her noble defenders go to Rockwood hall at 8:30 p. m. this evening and hear some noble old "Vets" give some soul-inspired speeches of incidents of the war. Admission free.

The Pinkerton men plead guilty before Judge Stiles this morning to an assault committed on J. H. Sullivan by striking him over the head with a revolver. They were fined $25 each and costs $150.

The city council meets this evening and we've no doubt but that something to excite, surprise and interest will be brought to the notice of the council.

Two iron horse-troughs arrived in the city this morning. The city council will probably tonight decide in what part of the city they will be placed.

Buy your ice of McMaken & Son. Leave orders at J. F. Beaumester's store.

Eight Mile Grove.

A number of our farmers are sowing wheat, turning the soil with the stirring plow this week, and if the weather remains fair farm work will begin in earnest next week.

Mr. J. T. Lloyd's family, equipped with all their household goods, moved to Plattsmouth to live.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Orngonner, of Three Grove, will occupy J. P. Lloyd's vacant house, and Charlie Beverage will farm his land this summer.

T. S. Latta, of Murray, was in this neck of the woods taking in the sights and situations one day last week.

Robert Troop, of Plattsmouth, came out Wednesday to the Grove on business.

Samuel McConkey, living near Plattsmouth, came out to the Grove on Thursday, his object being to sell a peice of land lying near here, to some one of our wealthy farmers.

Norman Sweiger has gone to visit his uncle, Norman Slocum, living in northern Otsew county, and to get a job of carpenter work.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. White moved on a farm near Rock Creek one day last week, and have gone to housekeeping by themselves.

Dr. S. Miller is still unable to be out of doors, as his health is not improving much; but he thinks when the weather grows warmer he will get strong again.

Mr. and Mrs. Antony Howard after spending a week at their father's, Sam Parker, departed to their home in York county, to begin life anew.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Barker are contemplating a trip west soon, for the purpose of viewing their farm in Lincoln county, upon which they will settle this fall.

John McConkey, of Hall county, spent a few days visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. McConkey, living near Plattsmouth.

Chas. W. Jeffers and family are preparing to move next Monday to Lincoln county, where Mr. J. intends breaking up 200 hundred acres of prairie land this season.

Miss Nora Brown will return one day this week from Fairview, where she has been visiting relatives a few weeks, and will begin a summer term of school in the district east of the Grove.

Roziel Morrow attended Mr. Hepner's sale, near Weeping Water, Thursday. Mr. H. is selling off his stock to move farther west. He has lived in this county twenty-five years or more.

Dr. Brindle, of Murray, in company with his brother, who is also a doctor just from college, was at this place not long since viewing a location for the purpose of establishing the latter gentleman here as a local physician.

Joe Matheny delivered his fat steers in market last Saturday. He had twenty head and they averaged 1,360 lbs. per head and he got $4.25 per hundred lbs.

Mrs. Atlanta Cabel returned home from Lincoln, this time apparently all right in mind, but her health is very delicate. We hope for her recovery, for when she is not suffering from mental derangement she is a very fine woman.

Winfield Brown, of Seward county, bought a farm consisting of 160 acres of T. A. Seabolt, and took possession of the same on Thursday.

Our school meeting came off Monday. A. S. Will was elected director and R. J. Winsord was elected moderator. They are both good men and doubtless will fill their offices in the school board very satisfactorily to the district.

ONE OF MANY.

Evangelistic Meetings.

The mass meetings yesterday, conducted by the evangelists in the Methodist church and Rockwood hall, were largely attended, especially in the evening. They had such a tendency which is hoped will be the means of bringing forth a great revival in this city. The talks of Mr. Clagett were practical, interesting and full of thought. The singing by Mr. Bihorn was cheering, quickening and soul-inspiring. The talking and singing has undoubtedly left some good impressions upon the hearers. The meeting in the afternoon at Rockwood hall was held under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. The subject talked on by the evangelists was: "What think ye of Christ?"

There will be a meeting every day this week at 8 o'clock p. m., in the Methodist church, to which everybody is cordially invited. A hearty invitation is also extended to the meetings every evening this week, at 7:30 o'clock, at the Methodist church. Come, you will be cordially received.

Tingle, Ting, Ling.

He was pondering deeply over some financial scheme Saturday, as with head bent had hands crossed behind his back he listlessly walked passed Clark's grocery store. Suddenly there was the jingle of falling coin. He stopped and looked on the ground behind, before, and right and left, thrust his hands anxiously in all his pockets, scratched his head and walked on. He again stopped abruptly and went through the same motions, while a number of spectators on the other side of the street laughed at his discomfiture. The cause was some young ladies who sat in a window above and threw a coin or a piece of tin, to which was attached a string, onto the sidewalk and then rapidly withdrew it. The impression created in the mind of the person who hears the jingle is that they have dropped some money, but feel like "Bo-peep who lost her sheep," when they find their search fruitless.

Couples as They Pass.

See! yonder comely youth, his active arms With bundles laden, Escorting in a slipshod kind of way A pretty maiden Often she drops a yard or two behind Before he's missed her; Ah! her relationship is plain— She is his sister.

And close behind the couple we have seen Appears another; A young man with a venerable dame— Of course, his mother. For he has with a patronizing air Her eyes enticed, And tells her things of which she was aware Before he existed.

Another pair, who, walking far apart, In eery conversation He eying everything but her With admiration; She, with a weary air, loaded down With goods he should have carried, Seems filled with care; alas! the fact is clear These two are married!

One couple more; their hands slyly clasped; They seem divorced; The glances of sardonic passers by Are all unnoted. Her eyes—the color of the radiant sky Within them heaves— Look fondly into his, "Come, let us go. These two are lovers!" —Lincoln Journal.

Cowardly Assault.

This afternoon about half past two Mr. C. A. Green, an engineer in the employ of the Burlington road here, was attacked on the street by a Mr. Jack Hogan, a brotherhood man, assisted by two others of like ilk, and severely treated. He was severely bruised about the head. The entire affair was witnessed by the city marshal, yet no arrests were made. We had better have more Pinkerton men, if the city police are to lend their aid to mob violence.

Plattsmouth was the first city after Omaha to raise a Shattuck fund. Where, Oh where! has it gone?
