THE removal of the duty on sugar, and the payment of a bounty to sugar produc ers, as the republicans propose in their tariff bill, would be a wiser scheme if it went a little farther and reduced the duty on refined sugar. The abolition of the impost on the raw product would simply cheapen it to the Sugar Trust, and enable that "combine" to buy what it wants for less than it is compelled to pay now, without having any effect in constraining it to sell below present rates. A reduction of the duty on refined sugar, however, would compel the Trust to lower prices. This would benefit every one of the 63,000,000 inhabitants of the country except the few hundreds or thousands who own stock in the sugar refiner's pool.-Globe Democrat.

THAT LOUISIANA "ELECTION.

The speech of Senator Ingalls has finally peared in "The Congressional Record." It contains, among a number of interest ing matters, facts regarded the recent socalled "election" in Louisiana, which the future historian of our politics will read with wonder. There is a table of returns by parishes showing that Governor Nicholl's majority had at last accounts reached the preposterous figure of 83,200. This was more than 20,000 larger than Cleveland's total vote for president, and Nicholl's total vote was 69,000 greater than Cleveland's. Having got thus far, the democratic counters must have been surprised at their ewn moderation in stopping there. They might as well have made it a million as and throwing out, counting and omit-strength. We must beat him. See to it that your parish returns a large democratic majority."

Following upon his public speech, in which he declared that white people must "rule the destinies of thts country," and "it is time we shall say that the law shall be silent," this was plain enough. Their method of fulfilling their instructions is illustrated by several letters received from Louisiana, and incorporated in Mr. Ingall's speech. B. F. O'Neal wrote from Bellevue, La.:

"I have just wired you the returns of Bossier Parish. Total vote returned 4.308, Nicholls 4,218, Warmoth 95."

There was a large turn-out, and a full republican vote was polled. There seemed to be no trouble or hindrance about the negro voting the republican ticket, and it is safe to say at least 3,500 votes were polled for Governor Warmoth and the republican ticket, but they were counted out.

The work and proceedings of stuffing did it.

as many. George Y. Kelso writes that | Sold by W. . J Warrick. in Alexandria, which is in Rapides Par-1sh, the commissioners took the ballots from the hands of the negroes as if to put them in the box, and afterward threw them on the floor, so that it was covered under the tables with votes. L. S. Tappins, jr., chairman of a committee of voters, states that in the parish of West Baton Rogue (Fourth Ward), the commissioners closed the doors tifteen minutes, and stuffed the box, so that 409 votes were returned for Nichollsmore votes than there are in the ward. In East Carroll Parish the box was so recklessly stuffed that Nicolls was given lieves a cough instantly and in time 2,680 votes or 104 more than the entire effects a permanent cure. Sold by O. P. registration. Cleveland had only 191 in Smith & Co., druggists. j25,3mo,d-w. East Carroll, so that Nicholls' vote showed an increase of more than 1,200 per cent. General Nicholls must be popular in East Carroll! Blaine had 1,229, but Warmonth was allowed only 285. In the popularity that this medicine has, as Madison Parish Nicholls was credited a hold on family medicine. No one with 2,530, or 170 votes more than the tration; in Red River, 1,679, being 498 more than the total registration; in West Banton Rogue, Nicholls had actually 99 votes less than the total registration, but they were obliged to give Warmonth 454 to keep up appearances, so that the total excess was 355. The same was the case in Vermillion, where the excess of the total vote over the registered vote was 211. There was an excess also in Washington. No wonder the Madison Times, a leading democratic newspaper, said that the majority was "ridiculous," though it was then thought to be only 60,000, or possibly 70,000, and added: 'A mistake has been made, and it will not be long before everybody will knew

It is upon such frauds as these that the democratic control, in large part, of the National Government rests. Can it last? Will the people in the North make themselves the accomplices of these men by adding their votes to these shameless fraudulent votes to re-elect Mr. Cleveland ?-N. Y. Tribune.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,-today it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is used with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

WOOD BUFFALO IN THE NORTH. A Few of Those Great Animals Still Exist in British Columbia. There still remain some of the wood buffalo. This is an animal larger than the American bison of the plains. They are larger, coarser haired and straighter horned. I mention this peculiarity of difference in the horns because it is believed that the shape and the broken and crooked nature of the horns of the prairie buffalo has been caused by his habit of digging into the gravel, whereas in the more northern species they had to contend with other conditions where straight horns would be of more use, as, for instance, they use them there for clearing aside from their pathway the brush and luxuriant undergrowth.

These animals would weigh at least 150 not. It was only a question of stuffing pounds more than the buffalo of the Saskatwan plains. In the northern regions the vetches and grasses are so high and the snowting to count. Evidently they acted fall not being unduly heavy, they have not upon the letter sent them by Governor had to paw and break the crusted snow, as McEnery, which he has never dared to was the habit of the buffalo, and that may account for their superior size. In the country where these are found horses cannot "Warmoth is developing too much be used in pursuit and they are stalked in the same manner that the moose and the other large animals are. It is difficult to form an accurate estimate of the number of these animals that may yet be left. But perhaps investigation yet may show that five or six hundred may yet remain in scattered bands. Owing to the fact that the horse cannot be used in pursuit, it is more difficult for the Indians to hunt them, and indeed to find them, than it was in the old days of hunting upon the plains.

So rank is the undergrowth of this rich country and so difficult is it for the Indians to get at these animals that, perhaps, just now any attempt on the part of the government to afford protection to them would be useless. If, however, some regulation which would prevent white sportsmen from deliberately coming into the country to hunt these animals for mere pleasure it might result to advantage. At present it would be vexatious to the Indians and of no great use, as the animal has become in its habits so much like the moose that he is able in a great measure to protect himself.-Montreal Gazette.

LOVE'S INFINITUDE

Will time, you ask, my heart from thine estranger.

That one tick of the great celestial clock.

A Week's Supply of Stamps.

That popular actor, W. J. Florence, was once an employe of a bank note company in this city. He was talking about it recently as he was licking a postage stamp for service on a letter which he held in his hand, Said he: "The firm was Rawdon, Wright, Hatch & Edison. They were bank note printers, and had contracts from the government. They printed and gummed the postage stamps. It was my duty, as office boy, to spend half an hour twice a week with a brush and my hand in spreading the gum preparation over the stamps. The amount of labor on my part supplied the entire amount required for a whole week. Just think of the difference between that time and now. I presume it would take me three months to gum by hand a week's supply of stamps for the government. This old experience of mine was in 1846 or 47. The printers had their offices on the top floor of what is now the custom house. It was then the Merchants' Exchange."-New York Tribune.

One Use of the Parasol.

There is a new phase of the plate glass show window study. The ladies have apparently found out that they can't stop to admire themselves, under pretense of examining goods, without everybody knowing it, and have adopted another plan. As soon as one of the fair ones reaches her favorite publie mirror she throws her parasol or sun umbrella over her shoulder in such a manner as to completely hide her figure from the top of her hat to her waist, or thereabouts, according to the size of the umbrella. Then, having thus placed a screen between berself and the unregenerate starers of either sex, she proceeds to survey her charms, real or alleged, of face, figure and costume. Five ladies were seen thus occupied before one large show window at one time. - Courier-Journal.

Why Gentlemen Wear Black.

Bulwer's "Pelham" became so popular immediately after its publication as to change the fashion of gentlemen's coats. In those days gentlemen wore, for evening dress, coats of brown, or green, or blue, according to their fancy. In the novel, Lady Frances Pelham says in a letter to her son: "Apropos of the complexion, I did not like that blue coat you wore when I last saw you. You look best in black, which is a great compliment, for people must be very distinguished in appearance to do so." Every gentleman who read "Pelham" took to himself the "great compliment," and from that day black has been the color of gentlemen's full dress.-The Argonaut.

Better Than a Pen Wiper.

On the sergeant's desk in the Twenty-third sub-precinct police station, at the Grand Central station, an excessively inky potato is always to be found.

"It makes a new pen as good as old and an old one as good as new," says Sergt. Haradon, and when his pen troubles him in any way as he tries to write he jabs it into the tuber. He claims that it is the sovereign remedy. It takes off a brand new steel gloss in a jiffy, and in an equally satisfactory way it eats off the rusted and corroded surface of a pan long in use.-New York Evening World.

A Seat in the House.

The seats in the house of representatives are drawn by lot at the beginning of the session. The first man whose name is called takes his choice, and so on. But a member can get a particular seat in this way: He enlists the help of a page, or if the page is too youthful looking he gets some doorkeeper or other attache of the hall to fill the desired chair. The luckier congressman does not notice that the good seat is not really drawn, the more experienced one, however, goes and takes it when his name is called .- New York

Destruction of Antiquities.

Owing to the stringent law against selling antiques in Greece, many objects are broken when found by peasants or thrown into the sea. A similar move in Egypt under Said Pasha produced similar results. A new decree makes it unlawful to deal in antiquities. and will make the Arabs who find tombs and senttered antiques yet more secretive, and lead them to destroy objects rather than allow their existence to be known. - Boston

Could Shake Hands All Day. "Hello, Jake, what are you doing here?" said a well dressed man to a gateman in the New York entrance of the Brooklyn bridge during the homeward rush last night. "I thought you were still in politics." "So I am," was the reply; "I am practicing for the presidency, "and he worked the handle of the ticket chopper up and down with renewed vigor.-New York Sun.

American Workmen's Clothes.

A correspondent writes us: "The English travelers' talk about the ragged and dirty clothes which American workmer wear reminds me of the advice my tather used to give me: 'Don't wear your best clothes every day; if you do you will soon have no best been properly instructed in clothes wearing." -Boston Transcript.

Bug Proof Fences.

A Kansas man told me recently that an ininvented a fence to keep out chinch bugs, He takes a strip of flooring and sets it on the ground with the groove side up. In the groove he puts candle wick and saturates it with coal oil. The chinch bug, when it crawls up the side of the board and gets a sniff of the kerosene, retreats in disgust .-Lima Republican.

The Latest Egg Problem.

Country readers are puzzling themselves over the following egg problem: If a hen and a half lay an egg and a half in a day and a half, how many eggs will six hens lay in seven days?

The solutions are divided pretty evenly between 28 an 42, but both these figures happen to be wrong .- New York Tribune.

A Trans-Pacific Cable. The British government is advised by military authorities to lay a cable across the Pathrough British America. That would give them two lines of communication with the east. - New York Sun.
