

WOMAN AND HOME.

HOW GOOD TASTE IS MADE A SALABLE COMMODITY.

A Frenchwoman of Fashion—Feeding the Baby—Care of the Teeth—Rebubbling a Gossip—Handy Disinfectant—Hint to a Mother—Items.

"A woman of wonderful taste." "Remarkable taste. She makes her living by it."

"How?" "She sells it."

"Sells what?" "Her taste."

It was on the Illinois Central suburban train. The speakers were two men. The listener was tired of looking at the frozen lake and the melancholy gulls, and was willing to eavesdrop.

"How can taste be a salable commodity?" "It seems to me that it is rare enough to bring a good price anywhere. But as to the charming woman, I will tell you how it came about."

"What are you going to wear this spring, and what shall you do to your house?" They didn't exactly know. People very seldom do.

"The charming woman made a tour of Chicago shops. Then she went to New York. She visited the art exhibits. That year her friends were dressed as they never had been before."

"What are you going to wear this spring, and what shall you do to your house?" They didn't exactly know. People very seldom do.

"The charming woman made a tour of Chicago shops. Then she went to New York. She visited the art exhibits. That year her friends were dressed as they never had been before."

"What are you going to wear this spring, and what shall you do to your house?" They didn't exactly know. People very seldom do.

"The charming woman made a tour of Chicago shops. Then she went to New York. She visited the art exhibits. That year her friends were dressed as they never had been before."

"What are you going to wear this spring, and what shall you do to your house?" They didn't exactly know. People very seldom do.

"The charming woman made a tour of Chicago shops. Then she went to New York. She visited the art exhibits. That year her friends were dressed as they never had been before."

"What are you going to wear this spring, and what shall you do to your house?" They didn't exactly know. People very seldom do.

"The charming woman made a tour of Chicago shops. Then she went to New York. She visited the art exhibits. That year her friends were dressed as they never had been before."

"What are you going to wear this spring, and what shall you do to your house?" They didn't exactly know. People very seldom do.

"The charming woman made a tour of Chicago shops. Then she went to New York. She visited the art exhibits. That year her friends were dressed as they never had been before."

"What are you going to wear this spring, and what shall you do to your house?" They didn't exactly know. People very seldom do.

"The charming woman made a tour of Chicago shops. Then she went to New York. She visited the art exhibits. That year her friends were dressed as they never had been before."

emphatically impressed upon the fathers and mothers of this broad land. Usually no call is made upon the dentist, except for an aching tooth too far gone for any remedy but extraction.

"Attend to them, because they need them for daily use. Attend to them, because in so doing we shall prevent much pain and sickness. Attend to them, because by these means the nutritive processes will be carried on better, and the health, growth and development of the child will be better than it would be without them."

We should extend the saving principle to the temporary teeth, and attempt to restore them when diseased, in order to retain them as long as nature has use for them.

Coffee is a handy and harmless disinfectant. Experiments have been made in Paris to prove this. A quantity of meat was hung up in a closed room until decomposed, and then a chafing dish was introduced and five hundred grammes of coffee thrown on the fire.

A Handy Disinfectant. Coffee is a handy and harmless disinfectant. Experiments have been made in Paris to prove this.

A Charming Apron. A very charming little apron may be made according to the following directions: Take a yard of white muslin with a polka dot about three-eighths of an inch in diameter.

Outdoor Life for Women. Dr. Sawyer believes in the "camp cure" for women as well as men. He has known tent life to cure nervous women when all other resources failed.

Ventilation of Cellars. In the ventilation of cellars the mistake is frequently made of introducing air from without which is considerably warmer than that contained within them.

Her Social Account. A lady examines the cards on her hall table as a merchant reads his daybook or ledger. It is her record of social bankruptcy or soundness.

Choosing a Husband. Husbands are not made to order; they just grow. To get a good one you have to know him when you see him.

Feeding Baby Too Fast. Adults know very well that if they drink hastily and uninterruptedly they will cough or hicough, and have, probably, more lasting messiness.

Care of the Teeth. For seven or eight years of its life the child is dependent upon the deciduous or baby teeth for the mastication of its food.

Industrial Training for Girls. I find that practically, while it is clearly held in view that women are to receive a support in marriage it is not so clearly inculcated that they are to earn it.

Ringworms often come on the healthy skin without any apparent cause or provocation. They are very stubborn, and will yield to but few remedies.

An obstinate, willful child should be commanded and forbidden less than one more yielding, while they are very young; it is never wise to arouse obstinacy.

Cold sliced potatoes fry and taste better by sprinkling a teaspoonful of flour over them while frying.

To retain the fresh appearance of oilcloths use milk and water, lukewarm, in cleaning them.

Tin cleaned with paper will shine better than when cleaned with flannel.

Dry paths lead to comfort outside the house and cleanliness within.

Really good butter is sometimes spoiled by the use of inferior salt.

FROM FOREIGN SHORES. THE TIDE WHICH SWEEPS INTO THE FAR NORTHWEST. Castle Garden Arrivals as They Appear in St. Paul, Minn.—Swedes and Norwegians—A Big Family—New Comers Greeted by Friends.

The tide of immigration into Northern Minnesota, Dakota and the far Northwest flows through St. Paul. The immigration as to its character may be broadly divided into two classes—foreign immigration and immigration from Yankeeedom.

The Castle Garden arrivals are to be found at the Emigrant house at the Union depot. Of the half hundred or more men, women and children who were waiting about the place for trains to take them further west, there was not a single person—it may seem strange, but it is a fact—not a single one that I unarmedly hesitate to meet in the street on a dark night.

An emigrant here is necessary indication at a point like this where there are large numbers of emigrants changing trains. The foreigners must be kept to themselves for various reasons, and one reason is that very few of them speak English, and therefore to keep on the right track all the time they must hang together and keep in constant communication with the polyglot emigrant passenger agents as they go along from place to place.

The emigrant room is in the long brick annex at the Union depot, at the north of the sheds. Here is an array of old country costumes—bright colors and odd cuts of garments—quite bewildering to the senses.

The majority of the immigrants (perhaps nine out of ten) are Swedes and Norwegians. The young men are of the peasant and farmer class—lusty young fellows, with broad shoulders and finely developed limbs.

One gets the impression that transigrants are forever eating. At the Emigrant house they open wide mouths and eat of the various delicacies of the land.

It is quite curious to watch newcomers as they greet friends who come in to see them. The newcomers are anything but "spruce" in appearance.

The "Bad Word Societies for Boys." The "bad word societies" that have sprung up lately in the New England schools are by no means to be laughed at.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

FROM FOREIGN SHORES.

THE TIDE WHICH SWEEPS INTO THE FAR NORTHWEST.

Castle Garden Arrivals as They Appear in St. Paul, Minn.—Swedes and Norwegians—A Big Family—New Comers Greeted by Friends.

The tide of immigration into Northern Minnesota, Dakota and the far Northwest flows through St. Paul. The immigration as to its character may be broadly divided into two classes—foreign immigration and immigration from Yankeeedom.

The Castle Garden arrivals are to be found at the Emigrant house at the Union depot. Of the half hundred or more men, women and children who were waiting about the place for trains to take them further west, there was not a single person—it may seem strange, but it is a fact—not a single one that I unarmedly hesitate to meet in the street on a dark night.

An emigrant here is necessary indication at a point like this where there are large numbers of emigrants changing trains. The foreigners must be kept to themselves for various reasons, and one reason is that very few of them speak English, and therefore to keep on the right track all the time they must hang together and keep in constant communication with the polyglot emigrant passenger agents as they go along from place to place.

The emigrant room is in the long brick annex at the Union depot, at the north of the sheds. Here is an array of old country costumes—bright colors and odd cuts of garments—quite bewildering to the senses.

The majority of the immigrants (perhaps nine out of ten) are Swedes and Norwegians. The young men are of the peasant and farmer class—lusty young fellows, with broad shoulders and finely developed limbs.

One gets the impression that transigrants are forever eating. At the Emigrant house they open wide mouths and eat of the various delicacies of the land.

It is quite curious to watch newcomers as they greet friends who come in to see them. The newcomers are anything but "spruce" in appearance.

The "Bad Word Societies for Boys." The "bad word societies" that have sprung up lately in the New England schools are by no means to be laughed at.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

Should any little incrustation (tartar) appear on the sides or at the back of the teeth, which illness and very often the constant eating of sweets, fruit and made dishes containing acids will cause.

The Plattsmouth Herald

Is enjoying a Boom in both its DAILY AND WEEKLY EDITIONS.

The Year 1888

Will be one during which the subjects of national interest and importance will be strongly agitated and the election of a President will take place.

Political, Commercial and Social Transactions of this year and would keep pace with the times should

SUBSCRIBE

FOR EITHER THE Daily or Weekly Herald.

Now while we have the subject before the people we will venture to speak of our

JOB DEPARTMENT.

Which is first-class in all respects and from which our job printers are turning out much satisfactory work.

PLATTSMOUTH, NEBRASKA.