CITY CORDIALS.

The tramp arrested on Wednesday night for incendiarism was not tried yesterday on account of his being non-compos mentis. The boys arrested this morning for burglarizing Speck's saloon were discharged, no one appearing against them to prosecute the case.

Mr. Donnelly is receiving his goods today and will be ready for business Monday, and all who want a good suit of clothes can get it by calling on him. Wanted immediately, for a couple of weeks or longer, a good girl who understands cooking and general housework. Extra wages will be paid.

W. W. COLE.

the tramp arrested for building a fire in the pump-house was brought into police court this morning and was given ten days in jail.

County Judge Russell last night united in marriage Mr. Richard E. Bobier and Mrs. Rowena J. Bell. May peace and prosperity attend their pathway through life.

Louis Pierce arrested by Sheriff Eikenbery for horse stealing, was brought into court this morning, waived examination and was bound over to wait the action of the district court in September.

Henry Gesilhart of Lincoln arrived in the city this morning and will manipulate the razor and shears in the barber-shop at the Riddle house. Mr. Gesilhart has come to stay and will move his family here next week. We hasten to welcome them to our city, hoping they may find hear a pleasant home.

The prohibition party is the only party which, since the necessity arose, has voted down a resolution, offered as a plank of its national platform, declaring for just pensions to ex-soldiers and sailors. How the great chorus of "noes" as is rang from the throats of a majority of the delegates must have grated on the ears of the soldier boys present. With what a feeling of shame must the gallant Gen. Fisk have looked upon the throng as it vehemently protested against the adoption of the resolution.—Lincoln Journal.

A single page in one issue of the Century taken for advertising purposes costs $500; in Harper's $400; in other magazines from $350 down to $100. A yearly advertisement of one column in the Chicago Tribune is $36,000; in the New York Tribune $29,554 for the lowest and $52,654 for the highest; in the New York Herald $36,203 for the lowest and $148,000 for its highest priced columns. These papers are never at a loss for advertising to fill their columns. These figures will doubtless be of interest to the man who invests $10 and flatters himself with the idea that he is an extremely liberal advertiser.—Ex.

The strike of the U. P. switchmen at Omaha, failed to materialize this morning. The switchmen had said when they heard that the B. & M. Company had leased the U. P. bridge that they would go out on a strike before they would switch for "scabs" and it was of course expected that they would be as good as their word, but when the time came that they expected a "scab" engineer along they were surprised to find that the K. C. train was pulled across the river by the regular switch engine and thus the trouble was all avoided. We are glad to see this matter so peacefully adjusted. We have enough strikes to retard the business of the country already and we believe that some means should be taken to adjust all these difficulties.

The boys seem to think they have struck the key note on the joke of the season which seems to have been played on L. G. Larson. Yesterday some professional horse traders arrived in town and bantered Mr. Larson for a trade. The trade was made and horses exchanged. One of the traders poured some turpentine on the Mr. Larson's horse's tail which soon set him to kicking and rearing. The traders then told Mr. Larson that the horse had fits and that this was one he was taking and that he had about four a day. Mr. Larson not being on to the trick which had been play'd, immediately wanted to trade back, which was refused. Mr. Larson then went and swore out a writ of replevin for the horse and sent the sheriff after it, but before the sheriff could get out after the horse the traders had hid it away where he could not find it for sometime, but it was at last found and brought to town and we presume the case will be brought into court today. We understand that the trader offers to let Mr. Larson have both horses for $30 which will be about the cost of the court proceedings. But it's a pretty good joke all around and we have no doubt but both will be glad to get the matter settled as soon as possible.

Brave Boy Burglars.

Another burglary was committed in the city last night. This time it being Speck's saloon burglarized by Tomie Lee and a boy named Robinson. About two o'clock last night as policeman Frye was making his regular round he stopped to talk for a few minutes with the night clerk at the Riddle house. He had been there but a short time when he noticed a dim light in the saloon across the street. Calling the attention of the clerk to the light they both began to watch and soon saw the light again. At this juncture the policeman slipped across the street to the saloon door just in time to see another match lighted and through the door he saw Tommy Lee. The policeman went to the door and knocked and called the name of the proprietor, thinking that he must be in there with the boy. The match quickly went out and all was still and no answer came to the policeman's call. He then went to the back door and knocked and called for the proprietor but no answer came. He then noticed that all the doors and windows were securely fastened and concluded that there could be no harm in waiting till morning so he went away. This morning he came down and informed the proprietor what he had seen and they began to look around to see what was wrong. They went to the money drawer and found it empty. Policeman Frye then started out to hunt for the boy, and going down to where he lived he found that he had not been home last night. He then went to Robinson's and found that neither of the boys had been at home during the night. Then in company with Mr. Robinson they started out to hunt the boys and met them by the postoffice. On examination they found the money divided up between the boy which was turned over to the policeman and the boys were taken to jail. On arriving there it was found that the boys had taken quite a number of cigars which they had hid in different places. They told where they were hid and they then went and got them. The burglars cleaned out the money drawer which contained about $8 and took about 30 cigars. It was a pretty slick scheme, it seems that the boys had hid themselves in the saloon last night before they had closed up, behind some whisky barrels and when the saloon was closed, the proprietors gone, they were left free to ramage the saloon, which it seems they immediately proceeded to do, and had it not been for the lighting of the match and the policeman knowing the boy, they would perhaps escaped without being detected. As it is they will, perhaps, be sent where they will have a chance to learn something better than burglarizing a saloon.

People who declare there are no coal beds in Nebraska should prepare for a surprise. An eighteen-inch vein is being worked with crude machinery three miles from Tecumseh, and the product equals the best from Iowa. For twenty-five years prospectors have hovered near the coal veins that crop out of the bluff near Ponca, Dixon county. The veins vary from fifteen to twenty-two inches in thickness, but have never been worked successfully. This summer a thorough test is to be made of the quality and quantity of the "diamonds." A test drill is to be sunk to a depth of 800 feet, to determine the question, and strong hopes are entertained, from surface indications, that a paying vein will be found. If so, the state will hail Ponca as the deliverer.—Omaha Herald.

The prohibition convention at Indianapolis completed its work yesterday by nominating Clinton B. Fiske, of New Jersey, for president and Dr. John A. Brooks, of Kansas City, Mo., for vice president. They adopted a vigorous platform, censuring the republican and democratic parties for their licensing the liquor traffic, calling for an abolition of the internal revenue system, and a tariff reform so that the tariff will be abolished on eatables, &c. They favor woman suffrage, abolition of polygamy and uniform laws of marriage and a civil service reform. A. G. Wolfenbarger and Geo. Scott, were appointed members of the national committee from Nebraska and the convention adjourned with loud applause for the successful candidates.

Take the women out of a church and in less than a year there would not be enough christianity in it to wad a pop gun, if christianity could be used for such a purpose, and yet the Methodist general conference refuses seats to women delegates.
