CITY CORDIALS.

Because it's so warm. The people all swarm Around the shade trees, To find a cool breeze.

-Warm. That's all.

-What did Chicago ever do to Plattsmouth?

- In our personal list today, Chicago is substituted in many places for Omaha.

-The Riddle House has secured quite a novelty and enclosed it in a bottle of water. Go and see it! -The fare for the round trip tickets to Chicago have been reduced to $10.

The tickets will be limited from the 19th to the 25th.

-Mr. Geo. T. Quinn was awarded a license today by Judge Russell to marry Miss Francis Gordon, both of the western part of this county.

-Mr. Denson and wife who reside cn Billings Row, are deeply bereaved today over the loss of their child. The child died sometime last night.

-Mrs. Leslie Basset, of Chicago, elecutionist, will appear at the opera house, Tuesday evening, June 26th, under the auspices of the B. of L. F. and E.

The Fourth of July. The grand old fourth is rolling 'round, But not a move to make it sound As though the people were around To see what good they might accomplish.

The fourth of July will soon be here once more and no move has been made as yet, excepting by one or two men who seem to have an interest in the welfare of our city. A meeting was called last night by a committee, and no one apparently put in an appearance but the members of the committee. Little has been said so far in the way of agitating the people to a sense of their duty to the city when such an opportunity presents itself. Somebody is continually wanting to see if somebody has done anything yet, and city on a visit to her friends. when somebody sees that somebody else has been looking to see if somebody has somebody will certainly get left about the fourth day of July, 1888.

We feel quite certain that the business men here, if they can look to their own interests at all, would donate enough to keep the wheel rolling, and they would surely resceive a rich reward indirectly. Since a few have started the work, let it be carried through successfully, and if the people here would only get a move on themselves, there would not be a question of doubt presented as to their successfulness. If a grand celebration here is advertised to some extent outside, a large number will certainly come here to see what is going on, if for nothing more than the novelty of seeing Plattsmouth get in mction. Rock Bluffs, Weeping Water and all the great cities in the vicinity of the metropolis of the county are energetic enough to have a time once in a life time-why can't we? We would like to see Rock Buffs Weeping Water once over the loss of a celebration which they might have had had it not been for that town up there on the mouth of the Platte. Since the committee was not unsuccessful in securing a quorum for their council last night, they have determined to stir up the boys of the fire brigade, and if they are successful in securing their assistance, they should also request them to make use of their fire apparatus in throwing water on the sleepy people who are making no efforts to wake up at this late hour of the day. If some of them are not made aware of the fact that the Fourth is near, it will roll smoohtly and slowly by and those people will ask when the Fourth of July celebration will take place. Let everybody donate in some

Two Old Citizens. The following paragraphs were clipped from the Omaha Herald, in which the names of two old residents of this city appear:

"LINCOLN, June 15- J. D. Calhoun has sold the Lincoln Daily Democrat to Al Fairbrother, now employed by the Omaha Bee, H. M. Bushnell, the Bee's Lincoln correspondent, and S. D. Cox, the Omaha Herald's Lincoln correspondent. The consideration is said to be $13,000. The transfer will be made july 1. The paper will be changed into a republican sheet and improved materially."

"NORFOLK, Neb., June 15.-F. H. Carraher, a shoe manufacturer of this city, suicided by taking strychnine. A coroner's inquest was held which elicited the fact that Carraher has been acting . somewhat strange ever since he came here, about two months ago. This morning purchased strychnine at a and Walt Dayis start for Chicago this drug store, saying he wanted to use it poisoning rats. Not long after-wards he was seized with convultions at his shop, and in spite of the efforts of physicians to save him he expired immediately. He had taken a large dose of the powerful drug. A letter was found in his handwriting which read: ren. Good-bye, Frank." Carraher was was a widower 31 years of age, and leaves two children, who are at Nebraska City. He has a brother and an uncle living at Emrick postoffice, this county, to whom a messenger had been sent. They are expected to arrive and take charge of the remains tonight. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that deceased came to his death by taking s rychnine administered by his own hand."

USEFUL, THOUGH ABUSED.

A Short Chapter Concerning the Mephitis Americana -A Valuable Fur. Who has not heard of that little symphony in black and white known in fashionable circles as the "Russian cat," but better known by ornithologists and chicken coops as the great American skunk! Webster says the skunk "is nearly allied to the weasel on the one hand and the otter on the other," but he might have gone farther and fared worse by saying that the skunk had the happy faculty of making his presence felt and smelt even in Egyptian darkness. On the darkest night he can create a commotion altogether out of proportion to his size. One of the largest dealers in raw furs in New York paid a tribute to the excellencies of the great Mephitis Americana the other afternoon, and his story upon the fragrant but highly useful bird was of an interesting nature. "The principal as well as the best fur in the United States," said he, "is that of the skunk. It is the most valuble as well as the most salable. In New England the skunk is found mainly in Connecticut, New Hamp-shire, Maine and Vermont, but within an area of fifty miles of the town of Derby, in Connecticut, more skunks can be found than in all Massachusetts. The animal lives largely upon vegetables, and if the crops should be poor in one state they travel until they find

-Mr. Cutler finished up some photo graphs for our team the other day. They look very fine. If people desiring them do not secure some soon, the boys will have a big price set on them.

-Why not sue the republican convention for cruelty to annimals since it has thrown out an influence which is calling all our grocers out of the city and causing their stores to be closed up?

-The country in the vicinity of this thriving little city of ours is fast gaining a reputation as a garden of Eden. Mr. Murphy has purchased over 500 quarts of home-grown strawberries. We will not starve if the groceas do all go to Chicago.

-Mr. George H. Palmer, son of Cap tain Palmer, of this city, who was elected siderable. They had both gone to Eureas delegate from here to the meeting of ka Springs, Arkansaw, for the purpose the Sons of Veterans, at Tecumseh, has since been elected there with two others to attend the state council and also as a delegate with two others to attend the national convention which will be held at Wheeling, West Virginia, which meets in August next. This young man has represented Plattsmouth in grand shape We are glad to hear of one so young with such a successful start, and we take great pleasure in extending to him our hearty congratulations.

Only the other day (it is reported) Messrs. their sad bereavement, Mat. Gering and Byron Clark, two of our prominent legal men, were called to Pacific Junction. A case was being held there on which these two gentlemen had been employed. They took a witness from here (whose name we cannot learn) and after they had reached the great city in safety, the witness wished to take a rest and prepare himself for the great duty before him. He dropped himself gently onto the platform at the depot. His coat was not brief and his pocket not very tight, so as it struck the sidewalk. a bottle filled with the good old spts. frumenti dropped out on the ground. They asked him what he was doing with such a think as that there. He replied: "I vos no spring shicken. Ven I come to Iova I alvays pring someting like dot wit me, and don't you forgot it.

way towards the success of such a move If you have no money to spare, look for some one that has and make them contribute to aid the good cause. There will be a meeting tonight at the council chamber. If nothing is done, a lot of the people will go to Weeping Water and Rock Bluffs to spend their filthy lucre. -Today we have been called upon to chronicle an eyent, which will, no doubt, cast a shadow over many, and which will, through sympathy, if nothing more, cause many to drop their heads in deep regret when we inform them of the death of Mr. Solomon, of the well known firm of Solomon & Mathan, of this city, and we join in with the entire community in extending our sincere sympathy to those who have so unfortunately fallen into such unutterable sorrow. Mr. Solomon has been unfortunately afflicted with impaired health for a long time, and has exercised every means available to rescue himself from the death grip which had secured such a firm hold on him. The realization of his own sovere illness was not the only source of trouble to him: but that, with the additional burdens he was compelled to bear of late, hastened or urged on the death monster which was slowly approaching. His wife, for some time, has suffered much with ill health, which helped to worry him conof recruiting their broken constitutions at the time of his death, and have been there about two months. Mr. Finley, manager of their business here, received a dispatch from there yesterday afternoon, stating that they would bring the corpse to Omaha immediately for interment, and it is expected that as soon as they arrive there that the fameral will take place. The doors of the store here will be closed until Tuesday morning. His complaint was dropsy. The commu--What strange things do come to pass. Bity sympathize with the relatives in

To avoid poor eigers you should lay in supply of the famous "Bad" cigar, manufactured by Julius Pepperberg.

If the Chicago convention will call them away For the purpose of nominating a man that will stay. The dem scrats who did blow such a lot in May Wil surely take a drop and have nothing to eeking other fields and pastures green, hied himself to the garden spot-Nebraska-where doth abound all the best gifts of the God of nature to man. In due time, it seems, this "innocence abroad" brought up in the quiet, modest little town of Cedar Creek, where stone, sand and gravel doth luxuriantly abound, the attraction of which has opened the eyes of Jay Gould, Tom Murphy, and even Jerry Farthing, all of whom, no doubt, have golden dreams of the bright future of that little sand and corn villa. Naturally enough this son of the Emerald Isle shou'd make a halt at this magnificent spot, so supremely attractive in general appearance, and being little short of "scads," approach the sand kings, Murphy and Farthing, and strike them kindly for a job to replenish his depleted purse. Murphy, true to the magnanimity of all by the name, and having the soul and heart to help a brother in distress, gave Jimmy Cennell a job of work, which was all proper and right. But it seems the paymaster did not get around soon enough or often enough to suit Jimmy, so he took himself to Plattsmouth to press his needs and wants of money at headquarters. Arriving in this city he took a saloon for an intelligence office, at least that is the first place he brought up at, to inquire for-beer and-his paymaster, and the result shows he must have inquired more for the former than the latter, for he had soon got full enough and cheek enough to borrow a revolver without the asking and then proceeded to another saloon and there commanded the proprietors and clerks to vacate and leave him to run the ranch. They didn't see it that way, and called the marshal who took him to Hotel Cass. He was arragned before Judge Stiles yesterday morning on two counts, pleading guilty to both, was sentenced to jail ten days on each count and to pay the costs. As soon as his term is served he will be arrested on a charge of stealing a revolver which he was using in the first case. Think he missed his cue by taking the Greely advice, "go west, young man."

-We now publish music each wee in the WEEKLY HERALD. Everybod should be a musician. The pieces fur ished in the paper will be found as por ular as any costing 50 cents. Everybod should take the paper. We are endear oring to make it a great success, and fe quice confident we can suit all.

There they will breed and remain so lo the vegetable crop remains good. This fact has been woven into an adage by old trappers, who say, "Poor vegetable crop, poor skunk year.

There are four grades of skins, which may be described thus: No. 1, all black, excepting, perhaps, a white stripe on the head, is bought for $1 by the dealer in raw furs; No. 2, black, with short body stripes, 50 to 55 cents; No. 3, black, with still longer stripes than No. 2, SO to 35 cents; No. 3, a regular zebra for stripes, brings only 15 cents.

The month when the skunk is in the best condition and when the fur is nearly perfect, is November. The fatter the animal is the more valuable is his fur. During October and November he gorges himself from the vegetable crops and becomes plump and sleek. The October pelts are what is called blue and are but of little value. The December skins, while not so valuable as the November article, are considered prime, and those obtained in January are about the same. When spring opens the skunk is thin and scraggy, and while outwardly the fur is as black as in the preceding months, next to the skin it will be found changed from a drab to a reddish color, therefore the March skins are usually of a very poor quality. The trap used in catching the animal is what is known as a "dead fail." It is generally baited with skunk flesh, that being considered the best. The skins nearly all come to New York, and many are shipped to England, but the choicest are used in the United States. Therefore, all the small dealers try hard to buy what is known as the "November skunk." The fur, which is cut up in strips about three inches wide for trimming pur poses, is worth $3 to $4 a yard. The fur market is affected by London sales. A war scare abroad causes prices to decline.-New York Press.
