THE ANNUAL BANQUET.

trious lineage, of an untainted record, able and sagacious in state-craft, with a following united, enthusiastic and loyal, the combined hosts of patronage and power cannot prevail against us. The democracy may sneer at the ancestry of our candidate, because he has presidential blood in his veins. It is an old saying that blood will tell. And when I look in the presidential herd book and I find the name of our candidate written there, I shall pin my faith to him to the end of the race. For I believe he will forge to the front every time as against an old "shell bark" who has neither pedigree behind him, or posterity in front of him. He will win sure unless jockyed out of the race in the South or in the city of New York. Speaking of posterity reminds me that the justices of the supreme court were once discussing the effect that a certain decision would have on posterity, when Justice Davis interrupted the discussion with the statement that in his opinion that there was not a single posterity judge on the bench. It is one of the fallacies of this administration that it will be remembered by posterity. In my humble opinion there has never been a single posterity democrat president, except Jackson, whose administration will go down the centuries, smelling to the heavens, as the rankest and most corrupt that ever disgraced the republic, while the enlightened policy and patriotic government of Abraham Lincoln will shine with undimmed lestre through the ages until the dusty scroll of man's history is rolled up forever.

Letters of Regret.

The following letters of regret were furnished us through the kindness of Hon. R. B. Windham, who read them at the banquet last night, these being only a few from the most prominent leaders of the party. If space would permit we would be pleased to publish all:

ROSSMORE HOTEL, NEW YORK, July 4. —Messrs. R. B. Windham, A. N. Sullivan, and C. M. Wead.—Gentlemen:—I thank you for the hospitable courtesy of your invitation to attend your annual banquet on the 12th, of this month, but I find that engagements will of necessity detain me here beyond that time. I have to lose the pleasure I should have had in being present with you. Yours truly,
JOHN C. FREMONT.

CALUMET PLACE, WASHINGTON, D. C. —R. B. Windhamn and others.—Dear Sirs:—Please convey to "The Young Men's Republican Club" my sincere thanks for the honor of their flattering invitation, and my regret that I cannot attend their banquet. May the patriotism that inspired their organization prompt them to untiring effort in achieving a great victory in the approaching campaign. With best wishes for each member and yourselves especially, I am
Respectfully,
MRS. JOHN A. LOGAN.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 3, 1888.- R. B. Windham, A. N. Sullivan and C. M. Wead, Committee, Plattsmouth, Neb.—Gentlemen:—Permit me to thank you most cordially for your kind invitation to attend the Fourth Annual Banquet of the Young Men's Republican club of your city on July 12th, 1888. I regret that the press of duties now devolved upon me will prevent me from accepting the invitation. Yours very truly, BENJ. HARRISON.

Coal is Cash.

The undersigned coal dealers, doing business in the city of Plattsmouth, deem it to the best interests of the public, as well as of the dealers, to sell coal strictly and exclusively for cash.

Coal is a commodity that is, and should be, sold on a very close margin, too small, in fact, for the dealers to trust to the delays and uncertainties of collections.

The dealers are required to pay spot cash for coal. The credit system entails a serious loss each season, by reason of the amount of bad debts necessary to be charged off to profit and loss, and in the additional expense required for bookkeepers, collectors, etc.

By dispensing with the above formidable items of expense, dealers can afford to sell coal at lower prices, and they feel assured that this will commend itself to the thinking public.

For the above reasons, therefore, the coal dealers have decided to sell for cash only,

ON AND AFTER JULY 11, 1888.

This means just what it says.

TIMOTHY CLARK,
tf H. A. WATERMAN & SON.

BAD BLOOD.

There is not one thing that puts a man or woman at such disadvantage before the world as a vitiated state of the blood

Your ambition is gone.
Your courage has failed.
Your vitality has left you.
Your languid step and listless actions show that you need a powerful invigorator, one bottle of Beggs' Blood Purifier and Blood Maker will put new life in a worn out system, and if it does not it will cost you nothing. O. P. Smith & Co., Druggists.

UNDER THE ROSE.

HE—(aside).

If I should steal a little kiss
Oh, would she weep, I wonder?
I tremble at the thought of bliss
If I should steal a little kiss!
Such pouting lips would never miss
The dainty bit of plunder;
If I should steal a little kiss,
Oh, would she weep, I wonder?

SHE—(aside).

He longs to steal a kiss of mine—
He may, if he'll return it;
If I can read the tender sign,
He longs to steal a kiss of mine·
"In love and war"—you know the line;
Why cannot he discern it?
He longs to steal a kiss of mine—
He may, if he'll return it.

BOTH—(five minutes later)

A little kiss when no one sees—
Where is the impropriety?
How sweet, amid the birds and bees,
A little kiss when no one sees;
Nor is it wrong, the world agrees,
If taken with sobriety;
A little kiss when no one sees,
Where is the impropriety?
—Samuel Minturn Peck.

BANANAS A BLESSING THERE.

Salvador Makes Pretty Nearly Everything Out of the Fibers of the Tree.

A young Salvadorian, with the dark eyes and inky hair of his country, talked to a reporter the other day about the Central American banana tree. The tree is 2¼ to 3 feet in circumference at its base. Its tapering fibrous body, without a branch, is from 10 to 15 feet in height. The fibers, separated by a thin pith, are as long as the body of the tree. These fibers are used in Salvador, just as they are taken from the tree, as shoestrings and as cords for all purposes. The natives use them largely for bridle reins and lariats. The raw material costs only transportation to the ropewalks.

Each banana tree bears in the twelve months of its existence only one bunch of fruit, but from two to ten trees spring from the roots of the one that has fallen. In Salvador the bunch of bananas is worth fifteen cents, and the dead tree nothing. A cordage factory or paper mill or coffee sack maker, were not the dead trees numberless, would give for each tree ten times the value of the fruit it has produced. Split, dried and packed, the bodies of the banana trees might be shipped profitably to the United States; but there is no reason why some enterprising American would not take them in hand and ship to Salvador the proper machinery for their manufacture, as labor is fully two-thirds cheaper there than in New York.

In Salvador ropewalks are found in unfrequented streets and suburban roads. The native machinery consists of a crank attached to an upright board, with which a native boy twists the fibers of the bandana and cactus. A man skilled in the ropewalker's art splices the fibers together, adding to the length and thickness of the revolving cord. The stem of each banana leaf consists of the toughest and finest threads, and these leaves, two and a half and three feet wide, and ten to fifteen feet long, resting on the heads of native women, are umbrellas in the rainy season in roofless market places and streets of Salvador. These are the carpets on which the people sit and the beds on which they sleep. "There is a fine opportunity," said the Salvadorian, "for some enterprising American with a small capital to do a thriving trade and make money by introducing western ideas and machinery to the people of Salvador."—New York Mail and Express.
