

The Evening Herald. OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

A. Salisbury, Dentist, Rockwood Building, Telephone No. 25. Dr. Siggins, Office in Gering's Drug Store, Residence Cor. Sixth and Granite, Telephone No. 42. Drs. Cave & Smith, the Platts Dentists, Union Block, over Citizens' Bank, Plattsmouth.

CITY CORDIALS.

The train which should have come from the east this morning was three hours late.

A base ball club from Weeping Water plays the celebrated "Browns" of this city on the base ball grounds today.

Elder J. T. Smith, state evangelist for Nebraska, will preach at the Christian church, Sunday, Aug. 29, at 11 a. m. and 6 p. m.

All members of the order of I. O. O. F. are requested to attend the funeral of Mrs. Lindsay, at her late residence, corner 13th and Pearl streets, tomorrow at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Walter Young, who was badly burned a few days ago while working around a gasoline stove, is reported by her physician to be improving as rapidly as possible.

The management of the young T. A. M. dancing assembly has decided to hold their first dance this evening at the Fitzgerald hall. They have spared no pains to make everything pleasant and a large crowd is expected.

The alleys and some of the streets of this burg are strong enough to defend themselves. If a health inspector should visit them occasionally, the taxpayers would never begrudge him a good salary. Men who disappear in some mysterious way may unconsciously wander into some of them.

The Ladies of St. Luke's Guild wish to thank Mr. D. B. Smith through the columns of this paper, for his great assistance at the rehearsals for the advertising social which was given by them last Wednesday night. Under his direction the march, in which all the young ladies taking part in the evening's entertainment, participated, exhibited good training.

Mrs. John Lindsay, a woman who has been deserted by her husband for the past sixteen months, and who has been suffering for nearly the whole time with consumption, died this morning about 4 o'clock. Her husband is a member of the I. O. O. F. here and she has been supported by the lodges here for some time. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late residence, corner of Pearl and 13th streets.

While Mr. Thurman was delivering a speech from a car platform the other day, the conductor felt a tired sensation creeping over him and started the train, right when the Old Roman was getting beautifully eloquent over the unfortunate laboring man who swings a taxed pick axe all day in order to earn enough money to eat a taxed supper and sleep in a taxed bed. Some of the grand old statesmen have a rocky road to travel, and no mistake.—Lincoln Journal.

A successful social was given under the auspices of the ladies of the U. P. church at Murray last night. The band of that place, favored the large audience present at the church with a few selections in an able manner, after which Rev. Murray delivered an able address of welcome. Ice cream, cake and other refreshments were served by the ladies. The citizens from far and near turned out in full force and filled the church to its utmost capacity. Plattsmouth was represented by a small number.

The major demona of the HERALD infernale came into prominence and drew the attention of all parties at the respective printing offices this morning. Some of the prints of this office called on him to go to the Journal office after the space bender and returned with a basket filled with bricks. He was told that he had not got all of the machine, when he replied: "Well, do yer suppose I don't know it?" when he started off on a maniacal trot, so peculiar to his satanic majesty and returned with a load of iron wrapped up which he was almost unable to move. The Journal official was then sent after the stuff which he worked with patiently until he reached the office.

The base ball boys from here, who assisted the Malvern club yesterday afternoon in their contest against Macedonia, held their own in grand style. Jim and Sam Patterson played as the battery for the Malvern club, while "Whitie" Miller and George Oliver played third base and centre field, only one error being made. They report they had no picnic or walk-away with the Macedonia club, although the score stood 6 to 5 in their favor.

Who makes the home of the poor so bright? Who fills the palace of wealth with delight? Who, when you kiss him will give you a bite? The Baby.

Young Men's Reception Tonight.

The ladies of the city will give a social reception in the Methodist church this evening, from 8 to 10 o'clock, to the delegates of the district conference of the Young Men's Christian Association and the young men of Plattsmouth. There will be short addresses of welcome and singing by the male choir. Refreshments will be served; everybody is invited and the church will doubtless be crowded. The following will be the program of the conference tomorrow. The session of the conference will be held in the Presbyterian church. All are invited. No admission fee will be charged.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. Libbie Hesser went to Lincoln today. Mr. C. L. Mercer returned from Lincoln this morning. Mr. G. B. Kempster left for Hamburg, Ia., this morning. Mr. A. L. Reynolds, of Ottumwa, Ia., is in the city on business. Mrs. F. M. Dorrington, of Chadron, arrived in the city this morning. Dr. E. E. Reynolds and son, of Rock Bluffs, were passengers to Omaha today. Mrs. Deck, of Pierre, Dakota, an old friend of Dr. Siggins, spent the day in the city yesterday. Miss Goodell, of Glenwood, who has been the guest of Miss Ollie Gass for the past week, returned home this morning. A French physician named Raoul, who long dispensed drugs on a man of war, finding life very dull on board ship, stepped outside his professional line a while ago to distinguish himself, and the results have been so noteworthy that the Paris Society of Commercial Geography has just honored him with one of its medals. It occurred to him that the useful products of Tahiti, that large and lovely island of the society group in Polynesia, could be greatly increased by judicious importations from the flora of other countries. So he laid a considerable part of the world under contribution and in course of time many hundreds of foreign plants were doing their best to take root in the soil of Tahiti. Among his collections were rubber trees from Madagascar, ebony, teak and cedar from Australia, tobacco from Java and the Rio Grande, cotton from Georgia, hemp from Manila, cinnamon and nutmegs from the Malay archipelago, grapes from Madeira and Tenerife, coffee from Formosa and a very large variety of grasses and fruit trees. He established a nursery near the chief town of Tahiti and he has already proved that the larger part of his plants will succeed in this favored island. Grape culture, which he introduced, is already beginning to enrich the country and it is said that through the efforts of this man alone the aspects of the vegetable kingdom in Tahiti are undergoing a remarkable change for the better.—Appalyk.

A CARD.

Having this day sold my stock of Hardware, Stoves, Tinware, etc., to Messrs. Brekenfeld & Weidman, I would respectfully and earnestly ask that all those in my debt come forward promptly and settle their accounts; as it will be necessary for me to close up my business as speedily as possible before engaging in other pursuits. I also take this occasion to thank the public, both in the city and county, for the very liberal patronage given me during the time I have been engaged in business here, and hope the same will be extended to my successors. JNO. R. COX. doct-1-w3m

An ambitious seeker after the finny tribe who has, since the excursion to the "Dump" which was given by the young lads a few weeks ago, ever been anxious to make a second trip to the famous resort under the auspices of the young men, who accompanied the young ladies on their expedition, and by reciprocating, show their appreciation of their efforts to entertain them. Unfortunately he was unsuccessful until yesterday, as invariably one or two of the party would be unable to go on any date he had selected. Yesterday afternoon a party of five started out with the required fishing tackle and agreed to visit a fishing point known to some of them immediately above the water works. Their patience, after spending an hour or so there, without a bite, became exhausted, and about that time a stranger came along and informed them upon learning of their dissatisfaction, that a much better quarter could be found some distance further up the river. They walked some distance before their hooks were again dropped into the water, and each time they were pulled out a look of dissatisfaction would creep over their countenances as before. Their ambition to get a bite led them unconsciously on, and until they themselves wanted a bite, did the thought occur to them that they had wandered several miles from the city and their homes. When such patience was exercised as they all manifested, we think it a shame because the fish did not bite. They returned, they were too tired to remember how, and today those who are able to appear on the streets, walk in an uneven style, while some of them are detained at home with an affliction worse than rheumatism. For further particulars inquire of Will Streight.

A Card of Thanks.

The ladies of St. Luke's Guild are desirous of thanking the business men of Plattsmouth who so willingly contributed to the success of their entertainment of last Wednesday night. A good part of the business houses were represented.

Don't go to Omaha when you want to get your beautiful parlor and bed room sets but go to Henry Boeck's furniture emporium where you can get everything in the furniture line that will go to make your home beautiful and comfortable; and above all you can get it cheap. Remember that he who sells most can sell cheapest.

Base ball catchers are muzzled but dogs are not. This is a discrimination in favor of dogs which should not be tolerated.—Lincoln Journal.

What One Man Can Do.

A French physician named Raoul, who long dispensed drugs on a man of war, finding life very dull on board ship, stepped outside his professional line a while ago to distinguish himself, and the results have been so noteworthy that the Paris Society of Commercial Geography has just honored him with one of its medals. It occurred to him that the useful products of Tahiti, that large and lovely island of the society group in Polynesia, could be greatly increased by judicious importations from the flora of other countries. So he laid a considerable part of the world under contribution and in course of time many hundreds of foreign plants were doing their best to take root in the soil of Tahiti.

Among his collections were rubber trees from Madagascar, ebony, teak and cedar from Australia, tobacco from Java and the Rio Grande, cotton from Georgia, hemp from Manila, cinnamon and nutmegs from the Malay archipelago, grapes from Madeira and Tenerife, coffee from Formosa and a very large variety of grasses and fruit trees. He established a nursery near the chief town of Tahiti and he has already proved that the larger part of his plants will succeed in this favored island. Grape culture, which he introduced, is already beginning to enrich the country and it is said that through the efforts of this man alone the aspects of the vegetable kingdom in Tahiti are undergoing a remarkable change for the better.—Appalyk.

TORNADO POLICIES.

The present year bids fair to be a disastrous one from tornadoes and wind storms. This is fore-shadowed by the number of storms we have already had—the most destructive one so far this year having occurred at Mt. Vernon, Ill., where a large number of buildings were destroyed or damaged. The exemption from tornadoes last year renders their occurrence more probable in 1888. Call at our office and secure a Tornado Policy. Unimproved lands for sale or exchange.
