

A NOISY GAME.

The Beatrice Club Threw up the Game on the Decision of Their Own Umpire.

The second game with Beatrice was played yesterday afternoon for a purse of $200, as before. The game was advertised to commence at 3:30, but owing to a disagreement in selecting an umpire, the spectators were obliged to listen to a disagreeable parley for about thirty minutes.

The game opened with the visitors at the bat, who took the field after scoring one tally to their credit. The home team followed and scored five in their first inning. Until the fourth inning, Weaver, the Beatrice pitcher, was batted freely, when he apparently disabled himself and left the box.

The Beatrice club came to the city with the intention of walking away with the money, but when they realized the work they were obliged to do to secure it, they became a set of chronic kickers.

Our boys out-played the visitors at every point. At the end of the fifth inning, the score stood eight to five in favor of Plattsmouth. When Beatrice went to bat in the sixth inning, one run was made, after which, when a man batted the ball into the field, one of the fielders met the base runner about ten feet from the base.

He (the runner) moved outside of the line and the Beatrice men claimed he was not touched by the ball. A dispute of about twenty minutes resulted in the disappearance of the Beatrice club from the grounds. The umpire decided the game in favor of Plattsmouth by a score of nine to nothing.

After the Beatrice players left the ground, they returned in about ten minutes, but the game was broken and was ended where they dropped it. From all appearances the visitors came here feeling confident of this game, and they were evidently bound to have it if kicking would get it for them.

The large crowd of spectators were thoroughly disgusted with the performance, and it was thought serious trouble would result before the dispute could be settled. There will be no chance to witness another game here between Beatrice and Plattsmouth, as the home team are not desirous of again associating with an overbearing nine, on the diamond.

This is the second game Beatrice lost here, and we think the players here are capable of doing as well at any time. The umpire acted as squarely as possible under the circumstances. Following is the score:

Base Ball Notes.

Huff got huffy and left the field. Huff spoiled what might have been a home run by catching a fly.

The Beatrice club objected to the decisions of their own umpire, and quit the game.

We are under the impression that some of the Beatrice people have more money than brains.

The Beatrice ball tossers are sorry because the Plattsmouth club holds another $100 of their money and the championship.

Huff's throw from the left field to the home plate caught Lookabaugh as he returned home like the prodigal son with a long smile.

What a Plattsmouth batter heard from the Beatrice catcher and the umpire: "What's that?" "one ball" was the answer. "Why didn't you give that to us?" Umpire—"I can't give you everything."

A Happy Event.

The marriage of Miss Eva Sherman to Mr. C. W. Belville, editor of the Knoxville Journal, this afternoon, is a happy event in the history of our social circles.

Miss Sherman is a daughter of Mr. C. W. Sherman, editor of the Plattsmouth Journal, and is an estimable young lady. Only a small number of the most intimate friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed at the home of the bride, about three o'clock, by Rev. H. B. Burgess, of the Episcopal church.

The happy couple take their departure for Knoxville, Ia., this evening, where they intend to make their future home. The Herald wishes them a life of untroubled pleasantness.

Mr. A. P. Campbell and Mrs. Ella Martin were joined in the holy bonds of wedlock yesterday afternoon at the parsonage, by Rev. W. B. Alexander. The ceremony occurred about 3 o'clock, and they took their departure on the flyer for Princetown, Ill., on their honeymoon tour.

The Same Sort of Criticism.

Amelie lives' English has been lavishly criticised. Now, if we turn to The Quarterly's essay on "Eudymion" we find exactly the same sort of criticism. After asserting that Keats cannot write a sentence or spin a line, The Quarterly goes on to find fault with the new words with which, "in imitation of Mr. Leigh Hunt, he adorns our language. We are told that turtles passion their voices; that 'an arbor was nested,' and a lady's locks 'goridian'd up,' and to supply the place of the nouns thus verbalized, Mr. Keats, with great fecundity, spawns new ones; such as 'men slugs and human serpents'; the 'honey-foel of bliss'; 'wives prepare necliments,' and so forth. Then he has formed new verbs by the process of cutting off their natural tails, the adverbs, and affixing them to their foreheads; thus 'the wine out sparkled,' the 'multitude up followed.' But if he sinks some adverbs in the verbs, he compensates the language with adverbs and adjectives which he separates from the parent stock. Thus, a lady whispers 'pauntingly and close,' makes 'hushing signs,' and steers her skiff into a 'ripply cove.'—Lip-dincoot's Magazine.

Information to Property Owners Desiring Sewer Connections.

OFFICE OF BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS. (PLATTSMOUTH Neb., Sept. 19, 1888.

For the information of all concerned: I take this method of answering the numerous inquiries put to city officials daily, in regard to our sewer system and the steps necessary to be taken by citizens to connect their premises therewith.

In the first place, the mayor and city council employed Rosewater & Christie to establish a sewer system for the city. They did so, and submitted their plans, maps and profiles of such system for approval. And upon examination, the mayor and council approved and adopted the same.

This system includes both storm-water and sanitary sewerage, or what is called the combined system. The sewer now under contract and being built, is the storm water sewer from the river to the west side of Seventh street, and does not include any part of the sanitary system. But there is a provision in the contract authorizing the contractors to extend private drains from the junction into the property line; subject, however, to the rules and ordinances of the city, which provides: That no excavation of trenches for sewer or drain pipe shall be done by any licensed person or corporation without a special permit.

The application for special permits, with a plan of such proposed connection, with all appurtenances, shall be filed in the office of the city engineer, signed by the drain layers and the owner or lessee of the premises to be improved, and if the sewer system provides for such a connection, special permit will be given and a duplicate of such permit shall be filed with the board of public works before any work under such permit shall be begun. Nothing but water drains will be permitted to enter the sewer until completed.

The sanitary sewer system of the city is laid off in districts, and when constructed will be paid for by districts or by the property benefited. Comparatively few of our citizens can have sewer privileges until these district sewers are laid. When they will be laid, depends largely upon the citizens themselves. Any who wish can examine the map of the sewerage system of the city by calling at the office of the board of public works, and learn from it just where and how his connections are to be made.

J. W. JOHNSON, Chairman Board Public Works.
