Did Defending Themselves.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Advices from Zanzibar say that the Germans murdered at Kilua died while nobly defending themselves. A German gunboat was present but was unable to give assistance in the face of the thousands of armed natives lining the beach. The corpses of the murdered Germans were terribly mutilated. An English gunboat saved the lives of the Germans at Lindi. The German, escaped from Mikindani half an hour before the arrival of the insurgents, who fired volleys at them. The entire wealthy community of British Indian subjects at Bagomerjo left that place today terror-stricken, owing to a rumor that a descent upon the town by natives was imminent.

The Yellow Fever.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 30.—An official bulletin of the state board of health will be issued tomorrow declaring continued belief in the existence of yellow fever and warning refugees not to return until a proclamation from the same source will be made hereafter, when the danger may be considered past.

DECATUR, Ala., Sept. 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Inman both died last night. So far as can be learned there are fifteen cases now under treatment here.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 30.—The new cases number seventy-nine, of which thirteen cases were white. There were six deaths. Total number cases, 2,620; total deaths, 255. There are twenty-five cases at Fernandina.

Harrison Pole Raising.

AINSWORTH, Neb., Sept. 29.—The campaign was opened in Brown county by the raising of a Harrison and Morton pole this afternoon, and a rousing meeting followed in the evening. The speaking was held in the Osborn opera house, which was filled to its full capacity. The speakers were M. B. Malloy of Long Pine, P. D. McAndrews, C. F. Boyd and E. Gould of Ainsworth. Sutton's cornet band furnished music for the occasion.

Effects of Electric Light.

"Electric prostration" may be called a new disease. It troubles workers under electric light. Severe cases are reported from Creusot, France, where an electric furnace is used for quickly heating metals. The light exceeds 100,000 candle power, and the men suffer from it, not from the heat. After one or two hours the workers have a painful sensation in the throat, face and temples, the skin becomes copper red, and an eye irritation begins that lasts forty-eight hours, the discharge of tears being copious. After five days the skin peels off. Dark colored glasses somewhat mitigate the effects of this tremendous light, but not entirely.—New York Sun.

A Dog at the Telephone.

A good dog story comes from Manchester. A bright-witted girl telephoned to her father at his office, asking if her dog "Curly" was there. Reply came that he was. "Well, take him up in your arms and hold the receiver to his ear; I want to tell him to come home," said the girl. Her father did so. The dog's countenance wore, momentarily, a look of astonishment at hearing: "Come home, Curly; come home!" in the feminine tones of his mistress, but it took him only an instant to understand what was wanted, and, the door of the office being opened, he made a wild dash for home as fast as he could go.—Woburn Advertiser.

The Time Keeper.

"Mamma," said little Mabel, who had just come home from church, "what made that man in the corner say 'Amen' so often while the preacher was talking?"
"I know," said Willie confidently.
"Well, Willie," said his mother, "why is it?"
"It's a way he has of calling time on the preacher."—Merchant Traveler.

The Haunts of Bacteria.

German scientists have just laid bare the latest haunts of bacteria. The surfaces of coins are found to be coated with them, and with species characteristic of putrefaction. Old bank notes and even new ones are alive with micro organisms, which, in fact, would seem to abound on all objects which are exposed to frequent handling.—Chicago Herald.

Through the Suburbs.

Passenger—I think the city we are nearing must be Chicago.
Another Passenger—Why?
Passenger—Because most of the suburban residences have cabbages planted in the front yard.—The Epoch.

Method of Washing Windows.

There is a right and wrong way to wash windows, and as this operation is usually dreaded, the following method will doubtless be appreciated, as it saves both time and labor: Choose a dull day, or at least a time when the sun is not shining on the window, for when the sun shines on the window it causes it to be dry streaked, no matter how much it is rubbed. Take a painter's brush and dust them inside and out, washing all the wood-work inside before touching the glass. The latter must be washed simply in warm water diluted with ammonia—do not use soap. Use a small cloth with a pointed stick to get the dust out of the corners; wipe dry with a soft piece of cotton cloth—do not use linen, as it makes the glass lumpy when dry. Polish with issue paper or old newspaper. You will find this can be done in half the time taken where soap is used, and the result will be brighter windows.—Commercial Reporter.

Get a Good Microscope.

There is nothing so valuable as a microscope in an intelligent family. It is an instrument that brings work and play together, and the young people are in the very heart of study while they feel that they are having a jolly frolic. It opens a world to them, as Columbus found a new world; but they need not sail across an ocean to reach it. The value of a microscope I find very great. It involves something new at every moment. Ten dollars will get an instrument of excellent power, that young folk can use for several years, before needing a higher power.—Mary E. Spencer in Globe-Democrat.

Borax for the Laundry.

The washwomen of Holland and Belgium, so proverbially clean, and who get up their linen so beautifully white, use refined borax instead of soda, in the proportion of one large handful of borax powder to about ten gallons of boiling water. They save in soap nearly half. For laces, cambrics and lawns, an extra quantity of powder is used, and for crinolines requiring to be made stiff, a strong solution is necessary. Borax, being a neutral salt, does not in the slightest degree injure the texture of the linen. Its effect is to soften the hardest water.—Boston Budget.

The Art of Dressing.

A part of the art of dressing lies in the ability to appreciate the effect of harmony and contrast in color. Flowers are lovely in almost any place, but even they will frequently spoil a delicate complexion, a fact which every woman is bound to recognize sooner or later. A pale woman should never wear bright red roses or flowers of gay and brilliant hues. On the other hand, a robust woman, with a tendency to florid complexion, would look ridiculous with dainty and fragile blossoms.—Chicago News.

Bad Blood.

There is not one thing that puts a man or woman at such disadvantage before the world as a vitiated state of the blood. Your ambition is gone. Your courage has failed. Your vitality has left you. Your languid step and listless actions show that you need a powerful invigorator, one bottle of Beggs' Blood Purifier and Blood Maker will put new life in a worn out system, and if it does not it will cost you nothing. O. P. Smith & Co., Druggists.

Stains of Fruit on Good Table Linen.

Stains of fruit on good table linen can be removed without injury by using the following with care: Pour boiling water on chloride of lime, in the proportion of one gallon to a quarter of a pound, bottle it, cork it well, and in using be careful not to stir it. Lay the stain in this for a moment, then apply white vinegar and boil the table linen.

To clean decanters.

To clean decanters, take some soft brown or blitting paper, wet and soap it and roll it up in small pieces and put it into the decanter with some warm water. Shake well and then rinse with clear cold water; wipe the outside with a dry cloth and let the decanter drain.

To insure pests from molding.

To insure pests from molding, put into it a proportion of alum and resin. A few drops of any essential oil will preserve leather from mold, and a single clove put into a bottle of ink will have the same effect upon it.

Chloride of lime spread on the soil.

Chloride of lime spread on the soil near plants will protect them from insects or vermin. Brushing over the stems of plants with a solution of the chloride will keep all insect plagues at a distance.

Coffee pounded in a mortar.

Coffee pounded in a mortar and roasted on an iron plate, sugar burned on hot coals, and vinegar boiled with myrrh and sprinkled on the floor and furniture of a sick room, are excellent deodorizers.

To make apple water.

To make apple water, cut the apples in small pieces and pour over them boiling water. Strain in three hours and sweeten. This makes a refreshing drink for an invalid.

For coffee stains.

For coffee stains try putting thick glycerine on the wrong side and washing it with lukewarm water. For raspberry stains weak ammonia and water is the best.
