CITY CORDIALS.

Latest Novelties in Neckwear at S. & C. Mayer's.

All members of the Y. L. R. R. A. are requested to meet at the Reading room, this evening at 7:30 o'clock promptly.

All members of the Young Ladies Republican Club are requested to meet at the usual place this evening, at 7:30 o'clock, as there is business of importance to be transacted.

Remember the play at the opera house tomorrow night. G. H. Adams and Tonia Hanlon, in "He, She, Him and Her," the most laughable play ever seen in Plattsmouth, by a large company of 35 first-class artists.

If you want to enjoy a fine entertainment don't fail to go to the opera house tomorrow night, good music, songs, dances, and scenery, in fact, everything will be strictly first-class, just as represented.

A man named John Koukal, a Bohemian living in Wise's addition, met with a serious accident early this morning. He took his gun and went out, in his yard to shoot a chicken for breakfast. The gun exploded, blowing off the fingers of his left hand and tearing the hand in pieces.

About one dozen brown-faced Italians have dropped in among us this morning from some unknown locality. They are all on the alert for a job of some kind, and every pick and shovel man working on the sewer has been gazed intently upon by the unwelcome visitor. They have not received the most agreeable salutes from the labor class since their arrival, as they are invariably the fore coming of low wages wherever they secure a foothold. The appearance of them is always a terror to the laboring men who have families to support, as it will in time mean a reduction to about seventy-five cents in their wages. The foreigners are always contented with about that amount as that, to them, appears to be a fortune.

On Wednesday evening, the representative pantomimist and comedian, Mr. Geo. H. Adams, will introduce to our city a new species of comedy. It is in the shape of a "speaking pantomime," enjoying the title of "He, She, Him and Her." The play has been specially written, or built rather, to suit Mr. Adams' peculiar abilities, and all acquainted with many accomplishments not only as an actor but as a pantomimist, vocalist, acrobat and comedian, can readily imagine what he can do with a character made for him. Tonia Hanlon, phenomena, assists Mr. Adams in the merry-making and astonishes the audience with an acrobatic dance in a long train dress. Mr. Adams in selecting the company, is guiltless of an error to often made; in stead of putting around himself a company of people whose efforts as comedians would be lost in comparison, he has chosen names of the highest standing, among them being Chas. H. Clark, Sam Bernard, Sophie Thorne and others.

Previous to removal to Carruth's building November 1st, and in order to reduce our stock we will sell everything in our line at a low figure. Satin Scarfs 15c. formerly 25; Satin Scarfs 25c., formerly 35; Satin Scarfs 50, formerly 75 at S. & C. Mayer's.

Council Bluffs Base Ball a Fraud.

Only a few days ago Captain Strook, of the Council Bluffs base ball team, challenged the Plattsmouth team to another game. They have defeated the boys in two previous games and were anxious to play them once more before the close of the season. The challenge was accepted by the manager of the home team and arrangements made on both sides to play on the grounds here tomorrow afternoon.

Bills have been circulated in the city and full preparations made for the anticipated game, but at this late day Strook telephoned Mr. Tom Patterson that the team would not be here tomorrow as they agreed. When questioned as to the cause of their inability to come, no satisfactory answer could be secured. The only information gained was that they were unable to secure the services of two or three men they had depended on, and consequently they abandoned the idea of coming at all. He was urged to secure some players to fill the vacancies but he seemed indisposed to do so and threw up the game entirely, leaving the boys here to foot all the expense bills connected with the preparations made for the game.

The first experience Plattsmouth ever had with the club and its managers should have been sufficient cause for them to decline any further association, and they are now left for the third and last time.

THE DOCTOR IS GONE.

Thousands of People Unite in Paying Homage to Our Honored Citizen.

THE CITIZENS IN DEEP SORROW.

An Immense Concourse Accompany the Remains to Their Last Resting Place.

His Works a Memoriam.

The funeral of the late Dr. R. R. Livingston, who is known far and wide throughout the state as "The Doctor," occurred in this city yesterday afternoon. It was certainly the largest ever held in this city, and many of the visitors and citizens here who are popular over the state, remarked frequently yesterday that it was the largest ever witnessed in the state. The procession about spanned the road from the Episcopal church to the cemetery and extended more than a mile. Every order of the city was in attendance in their uniforms, and by the count of several spectators, numbered more than seven hundred in the procession. The vehicles on the road to the cemetery numbered between seventy-five and one hundred.

Friends of the deceased were in attendance from all parts of the state and thousands from the surrounding country were so anxious to pay a last tribute to the one who has proved himself a friend in a thousand ways to them all, walked to the city.

As the doctor has filled the office of chief surgeon of the B. & M. for many years, and has ever proved himself efficient in that office, the officials of that company exhibited due respect by attending, in a body, while work in the shops here was suspended for the afternoon.

Every store in the city was closed and nearly every business house in the city was extensively draped with mourning and all flags hung at half mast. This tribute to the dead physician extended to hundreds of private residences.

The remains lay in the parlor of the doctor's residence, in a cloth-covered metallic casket, upon the lid of which was a silver plate bearing the inscription:

ROBERT RAMSEY LIVINGSTON
Born August 10, 1827.
Died September 28, 1888.

At the head stood a most elaborate floral tribute, Gates Ajar, forwarded by R. C. Cushing of Omaha. Above the gates was a spotless dove with outstretched wings. At the base was a pillow of flowers with the words, "At Rest," in purple immortelles. Another elaborate tribute was a Maltese cross in pink carnations, with the words, "In Hoc Signo Vincis, in immortelles. On the face of the cross was a crown with a Roman cross in yellow roses, while beneath were the emblems of Faith, Hope and Charity. This was a tribute from ex-residents of Plattsmouth who had moved to Lincoln. Mrs. John Fitzgerald of Lincoln sent a beautiful scroll of tuberoses and white roses; the German societies of this city a floral wreath; Mrs. E. G. Doyce a sickle in heliotrope, Livingston chapter, No. 10, K. T. Beatrice, a floral square and compass; the Herman family a large floral pillow; the Plattsmouth commandary a Maltese cross. Mr. L. Moore, an anchor of roses; little Helen Cox, a cross; Father Kearney, a cross; Miss Burton, a cross; Miss Maggie O'Keefe, of Omaha, a cross, with a number of bouquets from other people.

About 2 o'clock when the procession formed, the crowd on the streets was immense, and it was almost impossible to walk along the sidewalks on several streets. The line marched south on Sixth street to Main, thence to Third, Vine and the church of St. Luke, where the funeral exercises were held. It afterwards proceeded west to Sixth, north to Oak, and thence west to the cemetery.

J. W. Johnson acted as chief marshal. The first division was in charge of M. B. Murphy. It comprised about 160 Knights Templar, about twenty of whom were past officers, the latter being under the command of Major Hastings. These were followed by seventy-five master masons under the marshaling of V. V. Leonard.

These were followed by the ministers in carriage, the hearse, relatives and intimate friends. The second division in charge of H. J. Streight: Loyal Legion, Grand army post, Sons of Veterans, State Medical Association. Third division in charge of J. C. Eikenbary: Knights of Pythias and Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Fourth division in charge of Wm. Neville: Hibernians, Liederkranz, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, Ancient Order United Workmen, Fire Department, Mayor and city council, Plattsmouth Glee Club, and carriages.

A square was formed around the grave by the Knights Templar, and within this the members of the Blue lodge formed another. The burial service of the latter was conducted by V. V. Leonard, and that of the knights by J. E. Marley, and that of the knights by J. E. Marley, of Lincoln, and E. K. Long, of Omaha. The Loyal Legion dispensed with ritualistic services, and the Glee club sang the beautiful anthem, "He's Gone." A bugler sounded the "taps," and then all was over.

The grave was beautifully decorated. The walls were hung with pine branches which effectually concealed the banks of cold and rigid earth. The edge of the grave and for a space of a foot all around was fringed with sprays of palm, while the outer rim was finished with a line of colored autumn leaves as red as sumac in its brilliant period. The work was beautifully done and was a tribute to the deceased by Mr. and Mrs. M. E. O'Brien, of South Bend, and Mrs. F. E. White, of Plattsmouth. The work on the part of Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien was in commemoration of the doctor's work on the Nebraska fish commission, the fisheries of which is superintended by Mr. O'Brien. Among the participants in the funeral were President W. L. May, of Fremont, and B. E. B. Kennedy, of Omaha, associates of Dr. Livingston, and his survivors in the Nebraska fish commission.

The services in St. Luke's were conducted by Dean Garner, of Omaha, who delivered the funeral discourse, speaking in general terms of the qualities of the deceased; and Rev. Mr. Richardson, of Beatrice, who spoke on Death.

Hon. F. E. White, the doctor's most intimate friend, managed all proceedings in the burial of his deceased friend.

Card of Thanks.

PLATTSMOUTH, Sept. 29, '88.
MR. EDITOR—Please allow us to use the HERALD a medium through which to express our sincere gratitude for the many kind favors received at the hands of friends and neighbors during the sickness, death and burial of our lately departed and dearly beloved child.
MR. and MRS. CHAS. TWISS.

The parents now mourn for dear Robie Carr, But what is their loss is surely his gain, For remember, kind parents, he is better off by far Than to live without health a long life of pain.

Long life, with success, is agreeable to all, But it may be we're too anxious for the youth to be spared. It matters but little what time in life we fall If for the journey before us we are duly prepared.

New Eyes

The long felt want in this community for sight-restoring glasses is now supplied by the successful optician, Prof. A. Strassman, from Berlin, Germany, for a short time longer at the Riddle house. The waste of valuable eyesight can be prevented, if not too late, by his correct mode of equalizing all inequalities of the injured eyes. In his specialty, it is conceded that he is the head of the profession, and many of our best citizens, and physicians have been successful in obtaining relief by the use of his glasses: Allen Beeson, Dr. Scheldknecht, Byron Drew, S. P. Vanatta, J. Vallery, Jr., W. H. Newell, H. Boeck, Mrs. P. Kessler, Mrs. F. Johnson, Mrs. P. Kenney, Mrs. N. E. Sage, C. W. Sherman, Mr. C. Nichols, Eli Sampson, Mr. Hodgett, Mrs. Rankin, Mrs. Leyings, Miss Young, Mr. Hayes, W. Manker, Mrs. Nieman, Prof. John B. Wittcomb, Geo. Buckle.
