CITY CORDIALS.

Watch for Joes hand-bills, Saturday the 20th inst.

A certain prominent young man in this city is afflicted with the "paul-sy."

Remember the leap year ball tonight at Fitzgerald's hall.

Mr. Tiffany Dugan, advance agent for Miss Jane Coombs, is in the city today arranging for the appearance of that popular actress at the opera house on the 25th inst.

Hon. L. D. Richards, chairman of Nebraska republican state central committee informs us that the Hon. Chas. F. Manderson is billed to speak at Ashland on Friday, the 26th.

Miss Jane Coombs presents her grand and elaborate production of Charles Dickens' "Bleak House," at Waterman's Opera House Thursday, Oct. 25. The scenery is something marvelous.

Ami Todd has served the people of Cass county faithfully for two terms, he has been nominated for a third term because he has dealt fairly with all questions, let us elect him again.—Weeping Water Eagle.

The district court calendar for the adjourned September term was forwarded to the Weeping Water Republic on this week for publication by the clerk, Mr. W. C. Showalter.

Our juvenile base ball club, the Browns, informs us that the base ball season is not yet at an end, and that it is their intention to play another game before retiring for the winter.

The Y. M. C. A. reading rooms are now open for the accommodation of the public. They have been elegantly furnished and every other inducement is offered to young men to spend their evenings there.

A subscription paper will be circulated in a few days to aid in securing returns from the presidential election.

Men were employed yesterday in hauling out the Journal office. As the "stink creek" which flowed by that journalistic corner had been interrupted in its flow by the street mechanics, the river overflowed its banks and flooded that office.

There are enough musical republicans in this city to make a creditable organization for campaign purposes. See an organization would assist at such a meeting during the campaign as materially as the most pleasing speakers, and little variation would lend life to such meeting.

Mr. John W. Clark, of Weeping Water, brother of City attorney Byron Clark, is now in the city at the home of his parents. At present he is suffering intensely from the effects of Bright's disease, and his eyesight has almost entirely failed him.

We learn that preparations are being made by the Ashland republicans for a rally to be given at that city.

ASHLAND REPUBLICANS.

The Plattsmouth Clubs Invited to Attend Their Rally Oct. 16.

The republicans of Ashland have decided on Friday next, the 26th, as the day on which to hold their rally.

Clubs will be present from Omaha, Lincoln, Plattsmouth, Wahoo and other points. A large meeting will be held in the afternoon, and a torchlight procession in the evening.

The following invitation to the club has been received:

OFFICE OF REPUBLICAN LEAGUE, Ashland, Neb., Oct. 18, 1888.

Mr. John A. Bures, President of Young Men's Republican Club, Plattsmouth, Nebraska:

The following is a copy of part of a letter to Mrs. ———, who works in the recorder's office, from her uncle who lives in New York City.

"I hope that you, as many other of our democratic friends do, see before you a sure defeat of democracy, and that you, as hosts of others, have concluded to work for the republican ticket and help to secure protection to our homes."

"The scutiment was well received but hard to rejoice over."

"A serious accident will certainly occur before many days if the large ditch on Fifth street, opposite the American Tea store, is left open."

"Today a couple of ladies narrowly escaped being backed into the hole by a team of restless horses."

"Besides being dangerous, it throws out a most offensive stench. The authorities should attend to this matter before some accident occurs."

A grand prohibition meeting will be held at Rockwood hall tonight.

Hon. J. B. Montague, of Lincoln, Ill., will address the people of Plattsmouth and Cass county on the only real issue of the day, the protection of homes against the drink traffic.

Prof. A. B. Haddock, the world renowned vocalist, will be there with his prohibition songs.

Meeting to begin at 7:30 o'clock.—Dodger.

A Miserable Campaign. "This is the dullest, dreariest, most wretched political campaign I ever knew."

"Why, I think it is a model campaign." "Model the deuce! I haven't been offered a quarter for my vote yet. There's too much apathy."

Cast Iron Vengeance. "Do you remember how, ten years ago, you swore that you would kill Overmunk?"

"Yes." "He still lives." "I know he lives, and I am avenged. He is married to my divorced wife."—Lincoln Journal.

Donnelly, the popular Gents' Furnisher and Hatter, has the most complete line of Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves in all Plattsmouth and the city.

How Maiten Laborers Work. As I stand gazing from my study window I see a deep trench 230 feet in length, 6 feet deep, 6 feet wide.

"The second thought is, why pay these men for this kind of work? What kind of work? Lazy work."

"Why, there's a group standing immediately in front of me now, three of them leaning on picks, two of them on shovels, while another lazily tosses a half shovel of dirt from the bottom of the trench on to the windrow by his side."

"They don't begin to earn the traditional dollar a day, yet there they are, and it is a very serious problem, first, what has become of the Irish, to whom this great work was formerly entrusted alone?"

"And, second, by what process of reasoning do the contractors find it to be to their advantage to hire such lazy workers as these fellows show themselves to be?"—Joe Howard in Chicago News.

All the corn-cob pipes in the world are manufactured at Washington, Mo., where one man and a machine make 300 per hour.

A Novel Social Entertainment. Another novelty in the line of social entertainment is what might be called the reminiscence lecture.

It was invented, I believe, by a lady of excellent family, advanced in years and impoverished by financial misfortunes, but whose social position is beyond assault.

She has added considerably to her income by delivering drawing room talks upon her recollections of American society in the past, to subscribers at $10 a course, out of the ranks of the society of the present.
