CITY CORDIALS.

Take Notice.

The republicans of Plattsmouth and vicinity will hold a love feast at the opera house to-morrow evening. Judge Pound, of Lincoln. John L. Webster, the silver-tounged orator of Omaha and Hon. J. C. Watson, our candidate for float representative, will entertain our people. It will be a republican mass meeting and the entertainment will be able addresses without parade. Turn out and hear the truth, house tomorrow night.

The Y. W. C. T. U. will postpone their meeting until Wednesday Nov. 7th. By order of the president.

-Mr. D. K. Barr has been appointed by the mayor of the city to act as policeman on the high school grounds tonight.

-The ladies aid society of the M. E. church will serve a lunch, all day, on election day, also an oyster supper in the evening, in a convenient room on Main street.

-The St Andrews Brotherhood will give their first entertainment temorrow night at Rockwood hall. The program will consist of part songs, solos, recitations and readings. An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged.

-Republicans turn out! Judge Pound. salvation tomorrow evening at the opera house. It will be a feast of reason and a rebuke of treason.

-A meeting was called last night for the purpose of reorganizing a T. A. M. club, but there was not as good a turnout as was expected and all moves in that direction have been postponed for a short time.

-The young ladies of the Presbyterian church will give a social at Rockwood hall Friday evening Nov. 2nd, the proceeds of which will be used for the Sunday school library. A short programme has been prepared which will appear tomorrow. Everyone is cordially invited to come and help the Sunday school Admission 10 cents.

-The city authorities should find out why there are not street lights kept burning in the vicinity of the Third street cut. People who are obliged to pass through there at a late hour complain of a great inconvenience on account of darkness. It is a favoite resort for crooks and it is becoming quite popular among them.

-The Baord of education will place police at each of the schools tonight with instructions to arrest all intruders. Let the hoodlums who invariably make Hallowe'en hideous with their presence at all points where mischief can get a hold, take warning. Few of them would care about ending up their night's fun by cooling off in the castle.

"Joe," the one priced clothier, had his jar filled with beans to-day and all is and kept things lively with their shouts in readiness for the public guess on the of laughter and merry songs. At the top the people and sharp crack of firearms, number contained in the jar. On the first of January the beans will be counted in Fitzgerald's hall by two disinterested parties who will be selected for that purpose. An admission fee of ten centwill be charged, and the proceeds will be divided among the poor people of the city. It will cost you nothing to guess.

-Everybody look out for the girls to night. Hallowe'en comes but once year and this will be the eventful eve ning it strikes. They have made known to the public several threats that they intended to paint the town, so, secure your gates and tie your house to the fence if you wish to keep everything i its place for the girls will do more harm than the boys, as they only have one chance in four. It is expected that they will do themselves justice. -The editor of the Journal has cultivated the very unmanly habit of approaching republicans who chance to open up conversation with their democratic friends on the streets, and contradicting their statements when his advice is nucalled for. CITIES IN WEDLOCK.

The Opening of the New Iron Blidge Uniting Council Bluffs and Omaha Enthusiastically Celebrated.

Motive Power From Electricity.

About a year ago contracts were let and operations began for the erection of a bridge over the Missouri river between Omalia, Nebraska, and Council Bluffs, Iowa, to accommodate the growing passenger and commercial traffic between those two cities; the bridge to be built for motor cars propelled by electricity, with wagon and foot ways to either side

During the fall and winter months deep casions were sunk and piers erected, and as the spring and summer months of this year advanced, the piers of iron and solid masonry, which rested on solid rock beneath, were made to bear up the tresselwork for an iron bridge, the bud of enthusiasm started by the announcement of the bridg eproject burst into a flame of -Remember the speaking at the opera excitement. Real estate received the first impetus, and building and general business improvement followed.

Yesterday was the day set apart for the opening of the bridge to the publiccharacterized as a wedding day of cities united for good or bad, prosperity or depression of business). It was a day of jubilee for all-the rival spirit of years past was suddenly changed to a feeling of brotherly love and "good in common"

The street in Council Bluffs leading to the bridge was paved completely to one can travel from the bridge into Iowa four miles and a half over cedar block and stone payement without materially changing his direction. In Omaha the bridge opens on Douglas street. The double track for the electric motor cars extends from Omaha to the M. E. church John L. Webster and John C. Watson on upper Broadway in Council Bluffs, a will preach the true doctrine of political | distance of about four miles. The electricity is generated at the electric house about one mile cast of the bridge and is transmitted to a large copper wire which is suspended over the tracks and from which the power for running the cars is supplied. The cars were ran by this means on Monday, and several trips were made yesterday, but they merely served as test trips as there is some "pathching up" to do before the cars can be run regularly and systematically. A speed of ten miles per hour with a car every six minutes is the regularity sought for.

The bridge is a toll bridge, owned and operated by capitalists in Omaha and Council Bluffs. The hour of opening was 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The plan of ecicliration was for the trades display of Council Bluffs, and fire companies, civic societies, etc., of other western Iowa cities, headed by Gov. Larrabce and the bridge owners, to start at 12:30 o'clock for the bridge, there meet the Omaha procession of the same class, return to the Bluffs, parade and have speaking, then go to Omaha, where the day would be finished. When the two processions met the shop, mill, and factory whistles of Omaha and [Council Bluffs were started at full blast, and kept at it for about five minutes. This sent a thrill of patriotism, of new kind through the hearts of every soul in hearing distance. One thing in the procession worthy of mention was the mock wedding, by little children. A pyramid of children was arranged on a wagon, They were dressed in red white and blue was the mock marriage performance. A was said. little girl was attired as a bride, with her brides-made, and a little boy acted as groom, having also a groomsman; another young lad stood before them attired as a priest prepared to perform a marriage ceremony. The procession was about four miles long.

The bridge ceremonies were the most impressive proceedings of the day. The leading carriage of the Bluffs procession. drawn by four white horses, was occupied by Gov. and Mrs. Larrabee, of Iowa, and Mayor and Mrs. Rohrer, of Council Bluffs. The leading carriage of the Omaha procession, drawn also by four white horses, carried Governon and Mrs. Thaver, of Nebraska, and Mayor and Mrs. Broatch, of Omaha.
