BURLINGTON CHANGES.

The Election of a Successor to General Manager Stone.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—H. B. Stone has been appointed second vice-president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy system. E. P. Ripley succeeds Mr. Stone as general manager of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy east of the Missouri river. The changes took effect yesterday. In mentioning the changes the Times prints the following:

The stand taken by Mr. Stone on the labor question is said to have nothing to do in bringing about the present change in his duties, as his course during the strike, whether prudent or imprudent, was sanctioned, and perhaps to some extent directed, by persons higher in authority. At the same time it is the belief of many disinterested persons that the change will have the effect of calming the prejudices that exist in certain quarters on account of the attitude of the management during the strike, and will therefore be beneficial to the company. There is some speculation as to whether Paul Morton will succeed Mr. Ripley in the position of traffic manager or remain at the head of the freight department. This seems to be a question that is not yet definitely settled.

All But Scott.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 2.—The 5c per ton advance in the wages of the railroad miners took effect yesterday throughout the bituminous coal mines of the United States. In Western Pennsylvania all the operators, with exception of W. L. Scott, have given notice that an advance would be granted. Just what Scott will do is a matter of conjecture, and the miners can only judge from the past. He did not do it last year, and insisted on operating his mines at 5c less than the regular rate. His miners struck for several months, and finally returned to work at the old rate. The Miners' Association has decided to call Scott's men out on a strike, providing he does not pay the advanced rate.

Scarcity of Cars.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 2.—The scarcity of cars on Western railroads continues, and many cars had to be put on to serve during the present rush of business. Three months ago the Fort Scott gave an order for 300 new cars, distributing the order in lots of 100 each in order to hasten the time of delivery. Less than one-third that number have arrived up to that date. The Missouri Pacific has ordered 800, the Rock Island 700 and the Burlington 1000.

The Arctic Whaling Fleet.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Nov. 2.—The latest advices from the Arctic whaling fleet state that the thirteen whaling vessels reported frozen in the Arctic Ocean are together, and fifteen miles south from Herald Island.

A King Dying.

THE HAGUE, Nov. 2.—The condition of the king of the Netherlands has grown worse and is declared to be critical.

TABLE TALK FOR NOVEMBER, another seasonably-fitted number, full of Thanksgiving sentiment and pabulum. The book opens with the discovery of the "Nation on Her Knees"—a short poem by Joseph Whitton; then follows "Ancient Thanksgiving Days," after which, "A Thanksgiving Dinner," wherein Mrs. Rorer shows two ways of overcoming that delicious difficulty; she also has a second paper chusing up another difficulty: "How to Live on a Thanksgiving Year." Among other articles profitable and interesting to the house-keeper are, "How Mrs. Ruskin Saved Fuel and Kept Warm," "Tillie May Forney's" "Fashionable Lunches and Tea Toilets;" "Ethel's New Home;" "New Things for Table and Kitchen;" "Housekeepers' Inquiries," with their answers by Mrs. Rorer; also a full list of economical menus for the entire month. Other entertaining and instructive reading will be found in "The Orange—Its Sweet and Discordant Records," and "How to Prepare it." "The Flutterby's Folly," "Fashionable Crises;" "Women's Exchange Movement;" "Seasonable Grocery Hints," and a "Thanksgiving Problem," all the solvers of which are promised a prize. How so much meatful matter can be crowded together for a dollar a year is a problem we presume the publishers alone can solve. TABLE TALK PUBLISHING CO., 404 & 406 Race St., Phila.

For Rent.

Part, or all of my house to small family, Cor. 6th and Day streets.
Mrs. J. A. BUELL.

Electricity on the Human Organism.

Dr. Schliep, who is well known as a specialist on the continent, is just now delivering a series of most interesting lectures on his researches as to the influence of atmospheric electricity on the human organism, on its functions, its state of health or disease. It is well known that the electrical state of the atmosphere has a certain influence on the phenomena of life, but the action of positive electricity and negative electricity on these phenomena has not yet been determined.

Now, according to Dr. Schliep, in supposing the earth charged negatively, an atmosphere charged with positive electricity would act as a stimulant on the human organism, while that with a negative charge would have an enervating effect. Positive atmospheric electricity would favor organic exchanges, oxidation, the circulation of the secretions. But in order that its influence might be salutary, it would be necessary that it should be a certain affinity with the nervous excitability of the individual. An excessive positive tension would produce a state of insomnia, neuralgia, migrains and even of inflammatory affections. Negative atmospheric electricity would retard the exchanges, and would superinduce fatigue, the interruption of the secretions, congestion, apoplexy, etc.

As far as plants are concerned, on the contrary, their mutation would be favored by a negative atmospheric organization. The vegetable germs and microbes floating in the air would tend to develop when the atmospheric electricity was negative, and a year in which the days in which this condition was realized predominated would be favorable to the development of epidemic diseases. It is well known that on stormy days milk goes sour, organic substances decompose, and bad odors are more noticeable than in normal weather. These phenomena are explainable by the influence of negative atmospheric electricity. With a positive electricity, light, heat and humidity could only have these effects in a modified degree. In conclusion Dr. Schliep believes that atmospheric electricity has an important effect on the action of the organism and on the therapeutic properties of the air.—Electrical Review.

American Good Nature.

"What was the temper of America before the year 1763?" was a question put to Benjamin Franklin in the house of commons. "The best in the world," was the prompt reply. "They submit willingly," he went on to add, "to the crown, and cast it little for keeping them in order. They were governed at the expense of only a little paper, ink and paper; they were led by a thread." The temper of the American people, although severely ruffled for a time toward Great Britain, became, as soon as the tempest had ceased in independence, "the best in the world," and the best in the world it continues to this day. In no respect is this good temper more conspicuously shown than in submitting to personal inconvenience.

The Frenchman will smirk and bow; and forthwith he is in a frenzy, with the guns unlimbered on the boulevards and grapeshot sweeping public squares. The German, during the funeral of the late emperor, to cite no other instance, was so exasperated by the dogged conduct of the military police in going down the streets down by cavalry hoofs and carried in platoons to the station houses. The Englishman, although a respecter of laws and ordinances by habit, is surly and gruff under the slightest personal discomfort, and shows his selfishness in street crowds, on railway trains, and on steamboats, and with little regard for women, children, and other dependents on man's chivalry. American good temper is part of the national philosophy. It is the economy of nerve power. The good tempered man saves not only his sensibilities from fruitless raving, but his soul from wrath, and generally his body from blows. It requires fewer policemen to keep a public assembly of Americans in order than any other body of people in the world.—Chicago Tribune.

People of the Teche Country.

There are in some parts of the Teche land settlements where a fascinating and unique people dwell, so closely united, so materially independent of the outside world that they are almost like tribal communities. The climate has done almost its best for these people; they never have heard of any of the ologies and isms that percolate brains elsewhere, but they live close to nature. They produce absolutely everything they use or eat. They make pretty pictures in their simple little homes, pictures that appeal to one as a barn yard scene on canvas, or the suggested coziness of a Dutch interior painted by a great master appeals, rather than the representation of a wizen Faust nosing over tomes in his dim laboratory. The great truth of life for these is to live and to love, to dwell in comfort with many children, to fear God and to obey the priest, to die confessed and absolved, to lie shrouded in the sweet little church and afterwards to sleep under the purple gorse and passion vines in the grass-green cemetery; this is life's truth and mission for these simple folk. This history of such a home, the convincing proof of its existence, is the best in the world document any parish can put forth. We want nothing better, more moral, more progressive than immigrants striving to earn sweet homes; for these will bring with them the manufacturer and the business man, planting industries that shall yield good harvests of work and prosperity.—Catharine Cole in New Orleans Picayune.

Every man feels himself stronger in his relations with others if he is surrounded with consideration, esteem, respect.

The oldest known manuscript is part of the "Iliad," found in Upper Egypt.

A Sportsman's Recommendation.

A British sportsman recommends that the bantam, which is particularly pugacious and active, be turned wild, in the hope of having it become an available bird for sport.—New York Sun.

"That's What My Wife Says."

"How are all the folks?" asked Brown of Jones. "All well, except my wife," said Jones. "I'm worried about her. She tires out so easily; she complains of a backache about all the time, and she is so low-spirited that she don't seem like herself at all." "My dear fellow," interrupted Brown, "I'll tell you exactly what she needs. My wife had the very same symptoms a few months ago, but today she is the healthiest woman in town. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cured her, and it will cure Mrs. Jones, too. There's nothing on earth like it for the complaints to which the weaker sex are liable. That's what my wife says, and she knows." Guarantee to give satisfaction in every case, or money returned, printed on the bottle wrapper.

A Word to Republicans.

The importance of the results of the present political campaign can not be overestimated by those who desire the success of the Republican party. The Democrats, besides the "Solid South," are, in the North entrenched behind breastworks of public patronage. It will take steady, earnest, and united work as the circulation of sound political literature, and OF THIS CLASS NO OTHER IS AS EFFICIENT AS THE DAILY AND WEEKLY NEWSPAPER. Speeches and documents are read by the few, and when read are laid aside; the newspaper is the friends friend, the trusted family companion. Its influence is continuous, constant. The Republicans can not aid their party better than by circulating

The Daily Inter Ocean

It is a live Republican newspaper, and has been faithful among the faithless in Chicago. No man has ever questioned its soundness on the platform, because the principles of the platform have been advocated by THE INTER OCEAN many years. PROTECTION TO AMERICAN INDUSTRIES AND AMERICAN MARKETS FOR AMERICAN PRODUCERS have been its battle cries from the beginning. It did not take it six weeks to ascertain whether it could stand on the platform or not.

Republicans have done much to aid in the inculcation of false political doctrines by patronizing papers that advocate them. Why should they do so when they can avoid it by subscribing for THE INTER OCEAN, which is acknowledged to be

The Best and Most Reliable Newspaper Published in Chicago? In enterprise, news, editorial ability, and everything that goes to make a COMPLETE NEWSPAPER it is unexcelled by any of its contemporaries.

Every Republican ought to subscribe for it. Every workingman ought to subscribe for it. It is the paper for all classes of patriotic people who believe in protecting the homes of America.

You can subscribe through your newsdealer or postmaster. If you are unable to do that send direct to the office of publication. Sample copies are always sent on application.
