Latest style of Dunlap Stiff Hats in all shades at S. & C. Mayers. d-tf

—Mr. Thos Riddle one of the prominent democrats made himself quite prominent this morning by paying off a debt he owed in the following way. He placed an old democratic hat on a pole and hoisting it several times above his head marched from the Riddle house to Sixth street. The procession looked a mile long.

—After word had been received here yesterday that two of Plattsmouth's citizens had been brutally treated at Weeping, a Weeping Water spy named W. A. Flower, better known as "Posy," was run out of the town by a crowd of indignant citizens. He took a tie pass south.

Look out for change of "add" and hand bills of Joe's the One Price Clothier.

The following conversation was heard between two prominent democrats on Main street this morning. First democrat—"How do you feel this morning since you heard the news?" Second democrat—"I feel pretty d-d rocky."

No so called "reduced price" at Joe's but honest goods at lowest, low prices that competitors wont dare meet.

Master Car-Builders' Standards.

A circular issued by M. N. Forney, secretary of the Master Car-Builders' Association, announces the results of a letter ballot relating to proposed changes of standards. The changes which commanded a sufficient vote to secure their adoption relate to running boards, steps and brake-shafts. The propositions approved are as follows:

1. To substitute the following for the present standard specification for RUNNING BOARDS.

The ends of the running boards of box cars to be made to project over the ends of the cars, so that the minimum distance between the ends of those on adjoining cars will not be over 12 inches, and that the running boards be made not less than 2 feet wide, and made of three boards 7x1 inch. The projecting ends to be supported on two brackets, at each end of the car, made of 4x4-inch iron, with a hard-wood cleat 3x1 inch on upper ends, fastened with one one-half inch bolt and nut in each bracket. The lower end of each bracket to be fastened to the end of the car with two one-half inch bolts and nuts.

2. To substitute the following for the present specification for standard STEPS.

Two good, substantial steps to be made of wrought iron of 4x1 1/2 inches section, to be fastened one to each side sill, next to the corner of the car to which the ladder is attached. The steps to be not less than 12 inches long, measured horizontally between the sides, and the tread to be not less than 8 inches below the bottom of the sill. The side of the step next to the corner of the car to be as near the end of the car as practicable. Each side of the step to be fastened to the sill with two one-half inch bolts and nuts.

A hand-hold to be attached to the side of the car above each step—to be placed horizontally 2 feet above the bottom of the sills. The hand-hold to be made of 3/4-inch round iron, 2 feet long in the clear between the ends; to have 2 1/2 inches clear space between it and the side of the car; to be fastened with 1 1/2 inch lag screw in each end, screwed not less than 2 inches into the framing. Another of the same size, and fastened in the same way, to be attached horizontally to the end of the car the same distance above the sills, and on the opposite side of the ladder.

3. To substitute the following for the present specification for standard BRAKE-SHAFTS.

The brake-shaft to be placed on what is the left-hand corner of the car when a person is standing on the track facing the end of the car. The ratchet wheel and brake-pawl to be fastened to a suitable casting attached to the roof. A railing or guard to be attached to the end of the roof of the car around the brake-shaft. The center of the brake-shaft to be 20 inches from the middle of the car. The nuts on the ends of the brake-shafts to be secured by split spring cotters.

A Letter From the Yellow Fever District.

The following is a few extracts taken from a letter, written by Mrs. Amanda Gates, Oct. 28th, 1888 at Land Park, Florida, to her sister Mrs. Eva L. Harris of this city:

"I have lost your last letter in moving from one house to another farther back from the lake and could not remember what it was or I should have written sooner. We are all well but Frank he is quite poorly now, so weak and gets so exhausted."

"We have not become victims of the yellow fever yet, thank the Lord. No cases in our place; the nearest is at Enterprise thirty miles from us, yet we have been very uneasy and have used every precaution possible for us against it. The place is almost depopulated, there are only two or three white families left here. No schools and no business, and no money and no anything left here but empty houses. I never saw times so dull as they are all over the state. I do my own work, sewing and am obliged to teach my children also. Florida with its lovely climate certainly has a gloomy outlook now. . . . I do hope and pray things will brighten up for us a little or it will break us up here, but it is so long before there is a little frost here to kill the yellow fever."

A new supply of Chin-chilla Overcoats, Beaver Collars and Cuffs just received at S. & C. Mayers, they are excellent value and selling at $14. d-tf

—No returns have yet been received from the county. It is reported that Weeping Water and the precinct polled about 800. Every indication points to victory for Plattsmouth in retaining the county seat. About 2000 votes were cast in this city in favor of holding the county seat at Plattsmouth, and the rumors from over the county are very encouraging for Plattsmouth.

A Communication. NOVEMBER 7, 1888.

And now that the contest on county seat question is over the people of Plattsmouth know who their friends are in this matter, and the action of John Hopkins, Tom Tucker, I. Tucker, Charley Whaley and Tom Moore in refusing to cast a vote for Plattsmouth and at least two of them voting for Weeping Water, is one that every man who has the interest of Plattsmouth at heart should resent, and if they get their just deserts the near future will find them compelled to seek employment somewhere besides in Plattsmouth and they may be able to get it in Weeping Water; they at least can move there any to soon to suit Plattsmouth citizens. A man who lives in Plattsmouth and obtains his sustenance here is certainly void of those principles that go to make a good Plattsmouth citizen when he acts the part of a traitor to her interests, as was done in this case. Spot the gentlemen, taxpayers of this city the sooner we are rid of men of that disposition the better we are off.

VOTER. Mean Man.

A man living in this county, who owes nearly four years' subscription put his paper back in the office last week marked "refused." We have heard of many mean men—there is the man who used the wart on his neck for a collar button, and one who pastured a goat on his grandmother's grave, the one who stole the coppers from a dead man's eyes, the one who got rich by giving his five children a nickel each to go to bed with out their supper, and then stole the nickels after the children were asleep—but for pure, down right cussedness, the man who will take a paper four years, mark it "refuse" and then stick it back in the post office, is entitled to the first premium. Please send us your picture—we want to hang it up in the office to keep the mice from eating the paste.—Watford Advocate.

Struck Gas.

Nan (Tutein) was brought to the front on more than one occasion last night by the outbursts of applause from the audience.—Louisville Star.

Tutein, as Nan, was her own dainty dashing little self, and received an ovation from the audience upon her appearance on the stage last night.—New Haven News.

The appearance of Miss Tutein was always a signal of applause, and her vivacity has made her already a great favorite among the boys. She is a rare picture of beauty and altogether lovely.—Richmond Star.

Tutein has an exceptionally sweet face. The demure little maiden looks as pretty as a pink and as modest as a violet.—Bridgeport Star.

Tutein, in the part of Nan, did every justice that the part calls for, and acted and sang in a sweetly pretty and artistic style.—Trenton Times.
