Suddenly Called From Duty.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—H. F. Marshall, cashier of the Savings bank here, dropped dead at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the bank. He was 75 years old.

Cold Weather in the Northwest.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 17.—A cold wave passed over the northwest yesterday and left the following records of its intensity: Duluth, above zero; St. Paul, 16; Morehead, 7; St. Vincent, Minn., 2; Bismarck, 12; Ft. Carter, Mont., 2; Winnipeg, zero.

The Strike Compromised.

LAFAYETTE, IND., Nov. 17.—The brakemen's strike on the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago railroad was compromised yesterday, the company agreeing to pay through brakemen 2 cents a mile and local brakemen 2 1-10.

Supposed to Have Foundered.

BOMBAY, Nov. 16.—The coasting steamer Vatarina, which left Cutch, India, for Bombay with 900 natives on board, is a week overdue. It is supposed she foundered in the recent cyclone, and that all hands were lost.

Water Works Completed.

ST. MARYS, Neb., Nov. 17.—The wells to the waterworks were tested Thursday, and from all appearances, so far as tested, the supply of water will be sufficient. The standpipe was completed yesterday and all the connections made, and the work of giving the system a final test will commence.

The Express Company Pays.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Adams express company has paid to Treasurer Hyatt $1,400 being the amount due which was lost between New Orleans and Washington from the shipment of silver, when shot was substituted for stolen money.

Wheeler's Offer Accepted.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Secretary of the treasury has accepted the offer of Jacob Wheeler to pay $2,000 in compromise of the suit now pending against him and the sureties on his bond as late United States Marshal, for the southern district of Illinois, for the recovery of illegal fees charged by him.

Declared Without Foundation.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 17.—It is officially declared that assertions made by the Kossak Zeitung and Post of Berlin, that a redistribution of troops in western Russia implied an advance, and that the Russian garrisons on the frontier had been strengthened by two and in some cases three divisions, are without foundation.

Third and Last Day.

DETROIT, Nov. 17.—The third and last day of woman's congress was called to order yesterday morning and the election of officers was at once proceeded with: Mrs. Julia Ward Howe was re-elected president, and twenty-five vice presidents were elected from the various states represented.

Went Through a Bridge.

ELDORADO, Cal., Nov. 18.—A heavily loaded cattle train of cars went through the Walnut river bridge near this city, Thursday night. The engine and ten cars were completely wrecked; one hundred cattle killed and many crippled. Engineer Spencer was fatally injured. The loss to the company will reach $50,000.

A Belt Line Completed.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The Elgin, Joliet & Eastern railway has been formerly opened for business. It forms a belt line around Chicago at a distance of forty miles from the city, and crosses every one of the roads terminating at this point. Its purpose is to facilitate through shipments by hauling freight around the city, and thus relieve the various railroad yards of overcrowding incidental to the hauling of a vast number of cars.

Cleveland as a Railroad President.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 17.—Several mysterious conferences held the last few days between President Cleveland and Senator Sherman have led to the promulgation here of a rumor that the astute Maryland politician is arranging to secure for the president a position after his retirement from the chief magistracy, this proposition, it is said, being the presidency of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Of course it is not known yet whether Mr. Cleveland would accept, but in case he should it is understood the matter is so arranged that the present arrangement with Samuel Spencer at the head of the directorate will continue until June, at which time Mr. Cleveland would be elected president of the great system built up by John Garrett.

THE WHEEL OF THE WORLD.

The wheel of the world turns round and round; Those who are uppermost soon may be Down in the dust or under the ground; The king in chains, the serf set free, Over the track in sunshine and in rain It rolls on, over and over again.

The wheel of the world moves day and night, And its swift revolutions bring Nations from darkness into light, Where bells of the good time coming ring, Over the plot where the palace shines, It rolls in the dust of the crown and thorn.

The Footgear of Kings.

A curious museum has just been opened at Dresden. In it are collected a number of boots, shoes and slippers in which emperors, kings, queens, princes and other august or famous persons have some time or other trodden the path through life. Among them are a pair of boots worn by Napoleon I at the battle of Dresden, on April 27, 1813, and a pair of white satin shoes, embroidered in gold, which the same great emperor wore on the day of his coronation; another pair of strong leather boots which belonged to the famous French marshal, Murat, afterward king of the Two Sicilies; a pair of high heeled boots of Maria Theresa; boots of the philosopher Kant, and many others, forming a curious assembly.

If the promoters of the museum have any energy they will not find it difficult to increase their curious collection considerably and to make it one of the sights of Dresden. But they must search both highways and byways for their treasures; thus, for instance, they might perhaps obtain an interesting article from the good monks at Nazareth House, Hamersmith, who preserve a large comfortable looking slipper of the late pope under a dainty glass case in one of their large rooms.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Beggars of China.

A writer in a Shanghai journal referring to the beggars of China, says that large donations are given to them by the people, but these are in the nature of an insurance. In the cities the beggars are organized into very powerful guilds, more powerful by far than any organization with which they can have to contend, for the beggars have nothing to lose and nothing to fear, in which respects they stand alone. The shop keeper who should refuse a donation to a stalwart beggar, after the latter has waited for a reasonable time and has been sought with vain calls, due diligence would be liable to invasion from a horde of famished wretches, who would render the existence even of a solid Chinese a burden, and who would utterly prevent the transaction of any business until their continually rising demands should be met. Both the shop keepers and the beggars understand this perfectly well, and it is for this reason that the gifts flow in a steady, if tiny, rill.—London Times.

The Magnet in Surgery.

Mechanics and others employed in iron factories frequently suffer some annoyance and no little pain from the accidental introduction into the eye of particles of steel, iron filings, etc. All persons engaged in work of this kind should carry with them magnets, the use of which rarely fails to remove the foreign body. A man in London, who drove a piece of steel filing into his eyeball a few days ago, and a surgeon spent some time in vain endeavors to extract it. Finally he brought a powerful electro-magnet to his aid, by means of which the offensive particle was at once removed. It was over a quarter of an inch long, and the entire length had been imbedded in the eyeball.—Chicago News.

Unpunished Law Breakers.

According to the figures published in the British Blue Book, just issued, it appears that America is not the only country where criminals so frequently escape justice. During 1888-87 there were in London 42,351 indictments and only 19,645 of the offenders were placed under arrest. This shows that more than a half escaped. It is further to be noted that of the 19,645 apprehended, 3,726 were discharged for want of evidence, and 12,25 for want of prosecution. If the number held to bail or committed was reduced to 12,258, or 75 per cent. were convicted, or less than one-fourth of the number of crimes committed.—New York Telegram.

Hint to the Census Taker.

I have one suggestion to make: that as national government, when it takes its next general census, include in its statistics information about the population in the United States above 60, the kind of information to be determined beforehand by the most eminent physicians and scientific men generally in our country or in the world. I believe that such information would be of more value to the world, after having been properly digested, than all the fact about the manufacture of cotton cloth, the raising of tobacco, the production of whisky, etc., that could be collected in a century. For do we not all desire to live?—Clement M. Hammond in Popular Science Monthly.

The 'Gangs' of London.

The London police records show that 'gangs' flourish there as they do in New York. The Marylebone gang, the Fitzroy Flacc gang, the Monkey Parade gang, the Black gang, the Newcut gang, the Greengate gang, the Prince Arthur gang, the Gang of Roughs, the Jovial Thirty-two, are some of the most important, each one having its own stamping ground. The Monkey Parade gang infests Whitechapel.—New York Sun.

Pipes for Natural Gas.

The discovery and utilization of natural gas have proved a powerful stimulus to the manufacture of iron pipes and tubes in this country. There are now 2,300 miles of main in the United States for conveying natural gas.—Chicago Herald.
