Trouble in Chickasaw Nation.

St. Louis, Nov. 19.—Private advices from Tishomingo, the capital of the Chickasaw nation, were in effect that a conflict between the followers of Guy and Byrd is inevitable. In a personal encounter between two of the belligerents, a Byrd follower was killed, and his friends desire revenge.

Whisky Claims Another Victim.

Milwaukee, Nov. 19.—A Merrillion, Wis., special gives the particulars of the finding of C. E. Lucas' body five miles east of there near some logging cabins. He was the town clerk of Spaulding and left for that place on the night after election. It is believed that he went on a spree and died in a fit of delirium tremens.

Earthquakes in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—A shock of earthquake, that was sharp enough to cause many people in hotels and private houses to run out into the street, was felt here yesterday afternoon. The direction was northwest to southeast, and the duration ten seconds. Telegrams say the shock was felt throughout all central California.

An important Arrest.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 19.—Alexander Messer, one of the noted Hatfield murderers, was arrested and taken to police headquarters Saturday night by detective Gibson, of Eureka. Messer is one of the gang who took the three McCoy boys out of jail in August 1882, tied them to trees and shot them to death.

He left the country and was lost sight of until about two weeks ago. Detectives Gibson and Cunningham arrested Ellison Hatfield, another member of the gang, about that time, and he made a confession, implicating Messer and several others. Until then the names of all who were implicated in the murder of the three McCoys had been kept a profound secret. Detectives at once took up Messer's trail and on Wednesday ran him down on Ugly creek, Lincoln county where they arrested him. Messer is about fifty-two years old and his wife and six children are living in Lincoln county. He was at one time deputy sheriff of Perry county, Kentucky, and was very prominent in the Brethene county, Kentucky, trouble several years ago. He is said to have killed several men there. He has killed twenty-seven men since the war.

Saves Made of Pastboard.
"You'd be surprised," says a New York safe manufacturer, "at the number of sham, pastboard safes in New York, and they're made so well that any ordinary person would be deceived. They have a business like appearance and give an office a thrifty look, all for $5 or $6, whereas the real article would cost something like $100."
—Chicago Herald.

A Demand for Soap.
The Chinese are making such large demands upon soap that in time they may rank among the clean nations. The importation of foreign soap has increased 133 per cent in five years and $80 per cent more is wanted now than was sought after ten years ago.—Chicago Herald.

He Was a Terror.
A little Boston girl, after repeating the Lord's Prayer before retiring for the night, prayed for her father, mother, brothers, sisters and cousins. After repeating the name of the last cousin, she continued: "Isn't he a monster at the cookies!"—Boston Traveller.

Glycerine for Edged Tools.
Carpenters and other tool users who keep up with the times are now using a mixture of glycerine instead of oil for sharpening their edged tools. Oil, as is well known, thickens and smears the stone. The glycerine may be mixed with spirits in greater or less proportion, according as the tools to be sharpened are fine or coarse. For the average blade two parts of glycerine to one of spirits will suffice.—Chicago News.

Method of Copying Print.
It is stated that printed matter can be copied on any paper of an absorbent nature by dampening the surface with a weak solution of acetate of iron and pressing in an ordinary copying press. Old writing may also be copied on un-sized paper, if wet with a weak solution of sulphate of iron mixed with a simple solution of sugar syrup.—Cassell's Magazine.

An Ingenious Invention.
An ingenious inventor has devised a new screw—half nail and half screw; two blows of the hammer, two turns of the screwdriver, and it is in. Its holding power in white pine is said to be 333 pounds, against 298 pounds, the holding power of the present screw.—New York Sun.

Why Don't We?
Why don't we sometimes see or fear that we may be wrong now? Yesterday we knew that we were wrong, to-morrow we may be wrong, but now, this time, we certainly must be right.—Bar-Homan.

Dry rot in timber is said to be contagious, saws and other tools carrying it from the infected wood to sound timber.
The main strength of American wrought iron is 45,000 pounds; English, 43,741.

RIGHT AND WRONG.

Alas! how easily things go wrong!
A sigh too much or a kiss too long,
And there follows a mist and a weeping rain,
And life is never the same again.

Alas! how hardy things go right!
To stand to watch on a summer's night,
For the sigh will come and the kiss will stay,
And the summer night is a winter's day.

And yet how easily things go right!
If the sigh and kiss of the winter's night
Come deep from the soul in the stronger ray
That is born in the light of the winter's day!

And hearts can never go badly wrong!
If the heart be true and the love be strong;
For the mist, if it comes, and the weeping rain
Will be changed by love into sunshine again.

—George Macdonald in Boston Traveller.

Counterfeiters' Fate in China.
Two coppermiths out of employment in Hankow privately formed a little company to make copper cash, and began their operations for some reason by melting down about eight pounds of imperial copper coins. The band had made but little progress in their secret trade, having only manufactured altogether some 10,000 coins, equivalent to little more than £3, when they were captured, tried and condemned. According to the report, the ringleader was sentenced to immediate decapitation for melting down coins of the realm; the next, who had assisted in the work of coining, was sentenced to decapitation after imprisonment; while two others, who had polished the spurious coins, and the last, who acted as bookkeeper, were treated not as principals, but as accessories, liable to transportation to Turkistan and compelled as slaves to the troops there—a fate believed to be worse than immediate decapitation. Some other men, who seem to have had nothing to do with the coining itself, but acted as domestic servants to the principals, received sentences of three years' banishment and a hundred blows each.—Pekin Gazette.

Lost His Head in Dreamland.
A prominent Worcester business man passed through an experience in dreamland a few nights ago that is puzzling the local psychologists, and will add interesting data for the society for psychical research. He had an idea he ought to shave and proceeded to do so. Just before he began work it occurred to him that it would be the easiest thing in the world to take off his head, and, placing it on the table, facilitated matters. It seemed in the dream that this was allowable for a certain number of minutes without endangering life. So he hung up his watch to count the minutes.

The operation continued till some errand called the man across the room, and he returned to find his head was missing. He looked at the watch and found the time was near when he must have his head in its proper place if he cared to keep it. Then he "lost his head" in two ways, and rushed frantically about the room, looking in every available place. Just as the minute hand was about to cross the fatal point the Worcester man woke up, felt for his head, and was relieved to find it there.—Springfield Republican.

Beating the Weighing Machine.
One of these machines is stationed at a certain railroad station in this state. The same room contains a newstand, attended by a boy who will tie a string to a nickel, step on the platform, drop the nickel in the machine, and get his weight. Before stepping off, he calls up next, the machine giving their combined weight. The boy steps off, at which the machine gives the correct weight of No. 2. This process is repeated until the supply of subjects to be weighed is exhausted. Now, before the last party steps down, the boy, who has held on to the string all this time, carefully pulls in the string and gets his nickel back. I am of the opinion, when this machine is examined for cash, there will be little found.—Indianapolis Cor. Scientific American.

Religious Shrines in Japan.
The Japanese are not generally considered by Europeans a religious people, but there is scarcely a house in which a shelf is not set apart as a kind of altar, bearing on it a little shrine or a small round mirror, emblem of the sun goddess from whom the rulers of Japan are supposed to be descended. The shrine represent a temple of Shinto, the ancient, and now once more the national, religion of Japan; but in Buddhist houses it is accompanied, or even replaced, by a Buddhist shrine with perhaps a figure of the Buddha himself.—Cassell's Magazine.

Bright Piece of Architecture.
The Albert memorial, the monument erected in Hyde park by Queen Victoria and the English people to the memory of the good prince, is one of the brightest pieces of architecture in London. In fact, it looks as if it might have been picked up in Paris and transplanted to its present site, so bright and beautiful it is so different to anything else in the dark metropolis. Yet the Albert memorial finds no favor with the present people of London.—Home Journal.

Destroyers of the Fruit Tree.
The parasites recently imported from Australia by the California state board of horticulture to destroy the fruit bark known as the white cottony cushion scale, survived the long voyage and are now thriving in their new home in St. Mateo county. These parasites, which propagate with great rapidity, dig into the bark of the apple-bug and finally kill it.—Chicago Herald.

WHAT ON EARTH

Is the reason people will not, can not, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGG'S BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and ever bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing. For sale by O. P. Smith & Co., druggists.

—Don't go to Omaha when you want to get your beautiful parlor and bed room sets but go to Henry Boeck's furniture emporium where you can get every thing in the furniture line that will go to make your home beautiful and comfortable; and above all you can get it cheap. Remember that he who sells most can sell cheapest.

If you want anything in the jewelry line, go to H. M. Gault. He will sell you good goods at low prices and guarantee them as represented.

COUGH! and COUGH! and COUGH!
What in the world is the reason you will cough and keep coughing and still keep trying inferior medicines when BEGG'S CHERRY COUGH SYRUP will positively relieve your cough at once? This is no advertising scheme, but an actual fact, and we guarantee it. Sold by O. P. Smith & Co., druggists.
