THE last act in the election of a president of the United States will take place on the second Tuesday in January. On that date the electoral college of each state meets at its state capitol. The electors cast their vote for president and vice-president. The yote is read, certified and sealed, and three copies are prepared, one to be taken to Washington by a special messenger and one sent by mail. and the part that ill health often plays The secretary of state likewise receives a copy to be placed in the archives of the state. The business of the college has vitality and nervous force. For these become mecanical and perfunctory. This is no advertising scheme, but an to hunt, an old dog goes in front and searches for fresh scent of a deer. Having found this, he starts off alone, and when he has ascertained the whereabouts of the quarry returns to the pack, which he then disposes in a circle of a mile in diameter round it; each member of the pack has a part allotted to him.

These precautions having been taken, the old general starts alone once more in search of the victim, and on finding gives chase. The startled deer of course flies from his enemy, who follows, giving tongue as a signal to the rest of the pack. The deer, far outstripping the dog, rushes on, but is suddenly met in front by one of the outlying dogs, who gives chase. The deer, of course, turning to the right or left, again rushes off, only to be met and turned by another dog.

Thus, turned at every point, the poor animal becomes more and more exhausted, while the pack gradually closes in upon it, leaving no avenue of escape, and dozens of sharp fangs soon feast on the victim which has in this way been run to death.-Youth's Companion.
