CITY CORDIALS.

—The case, A. B. Smith vs. Murray and the First National Bank, was taken under advisement until the next term of court.

—A councillor was heard to remark this morning that "if Mr. Sherman would blow his nose he would get rid of some of his brains."

—Some of the ladies of this city are under the impression that Santa Claus only lives in Omaha. The merchants there tell them so.

—The case Gordon vs. Mathews was presented to the district court yesterday and some time was occupied on it. The jury allowed the plaintiff $14.85.

—Mr. John Hines, an engineer on the B. & M., who has had a run from this city for some time, moved with his family to Lincoln last evening where he will reside in the future. He now has a run from Lincoln to Hastings.

—Jas. Hickie and Charley Brown the two suspicious characters who were arrested about two weeks ago and placed in jail for carrying concealed weapons and burglar's tools, were released this morning and sent on their way rejoicing.

—A woman in destitute circumstances came to the city yesterday morning. She was from the east and wished to go to York, Neb., where, she claimed, she had relatives living. She carried a babe in her arms and was apparently much fatigued. The city marshal was informed in the matter, and he purchased a ticket for her from Plattsmouth to York. She left for there by last evening's train.

—A shooting match will occur tomorrow afternoon at the new fair grounds, southwest of the city, in which a good number of our marksmen will contest. They will shoot at blue rock, (thrown from a trap), for the turkeys. The shooting will commence about one o'clock, and will, no doubt, be kept up during the afternoon as there will be a good number in the contest.

—Mr. B. H. Robison, of Omaha, general manager of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association, was in the city yesterday. He had a check for $5000 in his possession, which he intended to present Mrs. Matilda Solomon, the insurance money she was entitled to from that association on the death of her husband. Mr. Robison had not learned that she had moved to Fairmont. He started for there last evening and she will no doubt, be presented with the handsome sum today.

—Plattsmouth has a lively and enterprising society for the good of young men, rightly named the Young Men's Christian Association. Every effort for good is being made by the association, and those not acquainted in the society and its work should visit the rooms in the evenings and attend the Sunday afternoon meetings. A movement is now on foot to secure an organ for the rooms, which is much needed in the public services, and the instrument will doubtless be secured before the new year. Good results are every day made evident which is very encouraging to the secretary and all others interested.

—A prominent member of the medical fraternity here, and also a high officer in the K. of P., made preparations to attend lodge meeting the other evening, and a short time before the appointed hour laid out the law book of the order on his desk, so that it would be convenient on his return from a professional call. A friend took advantage of the opportunity of playing a joke and in his absence, laid the law book aside and put the doctor's ledger in its place. When he returned he was a little later than he had expected to be, and in his haste, and to the satisfaction of his friends, seized the ledger and started for the lodge. After he had comfortably seated himself in his high office box, he opened the book to deliver the law to the brethren, when to his great surprise and amazement his eyes were fastened upon some old account which he had been unable to collect for the past two years. He returned to his office and it is needless to say that he was hot enough to Cook. In all probability, there was trouble at the lodge the same night, and no doubt he gave more expression to the laws, as he read them over, than he would otherwise have done.

—Mr. Joe Kline, better known in the city as "Joe, the one price clothier, and destroyer of high prices," is attaining quite a reputation as a lively businessman. He now has a scheme in view which will, although expensive to him, bring him in many a dollar. His jar of beans which has attracted the attention of everybody, will be opened at the opera house and the beans counted by two young ladies and two gentlemen, on the evening of January 1st. "Joe" has engaged the services of the B. & M. band for the occasion, and will bear the whole expense of the occasion, himself. An admission fee of ten cents will be charged, which will be collected at the door by some reliable person, and the proceeds will be donated to the poor of the city. "Joe" will not handle one cent of the money, but it will be given to the churches or some benevolent society to dispose of among the poor people. The gentleman guessing the correct number of beans contained in the jar, will be awarded a $20 suit of clothes. The second prize, a leather satchel, and the third, a hat. Should a lady guess the number or the nearest, she will be awarded a $20 trunk, the second, a silk muffler and the third, a silk handkerchief. It is you nothing to guess.

—The Journal, in an editorial yesterday, criticized the action of the city engineer, Mr. Rosewater, in delaying his inspection of the paving until the work was completed, and made it appear to the public that he had drawn his pay in full and that he was too smart for the council. Like all other statements of the Journal it is untrue, as the council have reserved $250 of the engineers estimate until all the work is proven satisfactory. While we do admit that the work should have been interfered with in its progress if not found satisfactory, yet we consider the Journal too previous in its criticism.
