THE dispatches today bring the good news that both Stanley and Emin are safe and well, and not prisoners of the Mahdi. If the report is true it will establish the fact that Osman Digna is a much biger liar than was thought he could be.

The question of submission of prohibitory amendment to a vote of the people is being pretty generally discussed by the press of the state at present. The oppo nents of submission claim to have thirteen votes in the senate, which is a sufficient number to defeat submission. As there are not that many democratic members of that body, the anti-submissionists are certainly counting upon republican help. The republican party is in honor bound to allow the people a voice in this matter and ever; republican should make it a point to see that the expressed will of the party is earried out .--- Wymore Daily Union.

"WELL, how are you getting on?" said a reporter to a farmer the other day. "With the weather the best you could desire, with the corn all gathered, and the stock running in the corn fields, you must be having a nice time. Are times flush with you?" "Very true, we hav'nt much to do, but with everything we have to sell decreasing in price, and everything we must buy on the increase. the prospect isn't as fine as it might be. I notice that woolen goods are 20 per cet. higher than they were last fall. The farmer's cattle are almost at the bottom happily but too well known. They differ notch and still going lower, while hogs are getting lower, and corn of the new crop is only worth 20 cents. Do you think that encouraging?" and he strode away with a shrug of the shoulders, as much as to say. "There's hard times coming for the farmer, sure!" The above item appeared in last even ing's Journal. We do not believe the statements, we think they are made without any foundation. Cattle are worth 5.10, hogs 5.20, corn 30 cts.; this is as good a price as they sold at this time last year, therefore the farmer has no reason to complain on that account and we have merchants in this city that are selling woolen goods today for less money than they did any time last year, and besides that we have one merchant who is selling all woolen goods at 20 % discount. If the Journal man will enquire into things and prices, he will find that the farmers' products are about the same price as they were a year ago and that woolen goods are cheaper. He will also find the farmers' prospect better for the future and when farmers prosper everybody else will prosper.

chase money or in the division of estates, and mortgages given for money borrowed not in purchase. It is not improbable that indebtedness of the first sort has mcreased with the value of farm property. Indeed it may have increased more rapidly, for there has been a great migration of the population within the last ten years, resulting from an increase of nearly 100 per cent in railroad mileage; and in leaving old farms to occupy new, men have not often been able to finde purchasers with ready cash for the entire value of farms sold. In the great epidemic of real estate speculation, too, thousands of farms were purchased with the hope of selling at higher prices, and in such operations partial payments were frequent. But there is steadily accumulating evidence that the amount of mort gages given in order to raise money for improvements, stock, or to meet losses has been materially reduced.

It does not appear necessary to delay the census bill in order to prevent an appointment of a superintendent by President Cleveland, for the senate has full power to reject any appointment he may make. No fair man would pretend that President Cleveland should be allowed to select an official of sach importance in connection with the coming administration, especially after his recent exhibition of mean spite in the appointment of Bailey. But the census bill can be matured and passed without taking from the president-elect a selection which properly belongs to him.-N. Y. Tribune

Among other needful measures which are delayed in congress by the partisan conduct of the democrats, not the least important is the bill to provide for taking the next census. Some exceedingly desirable amendments have been suggested since the bill passed the house, and others would probably occur to senators if they could get time to consider the matter as it ought to be considered. But the factious wasting of time by democrats over the tariff bill threatens to cut off much other work which is both practical does not do its work will cost you nothand important.

One thing already suggested is that the sensus should include a complete report of farm morigages, their amount and office. rates of interest. Perhaps there is no other subject on which there has been more foolish misrepresentation than this, but the highly inflated stories told, though entirely without support, have found credance with multitudes. A partisan necessity has dictated the manufacture of these exagerated reports, and partisan prejudice prompts men to believe them, for there would be an end of the pretence that the policy of the Government has been disastrous to farmers as a class if it were known that the proportion of farm land under mortgage had not been increased. It is established that value of farm -property has materially advanced, as well as the value of annual production by agriculture. The only reply that has been possible is the false essertion that the farmers as a class have same artas into debt.

in different individuals to some extent. A oilious man is seldom a breakfast eater. Too frequently, alas, he has an excellent sppetice for liquids but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all vents,

The digestive system is wholly out of order and diarrhea or constipation may e a symptom or the two may alternate. There are often hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and ften headache and acidity or flatulence and tenderness in the pit of the stomach. I'b correct all this if not effect a cure try Green's August Flower, it costs but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.
