DEATH IN THE STORM'S WAKE.

The Terrible Calamity That Has Fallen Pennsylvania Cities.

A Hundred Victims of the Storm's Fury at Reading.

Searching for the Dead.
 READING, Pa., Jan. 10.—The cyclone of yesterday left the entire city in darkness, which was only relieved by the electric lights and huge bonfires, which shed their lurid glare on the scene of death. All night long brave and willing hands assisted in the work of rescuing the victims of the mill accident. The list of fatal cases will reach 100, and may be more. The hospital and undertaking establishments are filled with victims. Physicians are all busy, and many private houses have been opened for the accommodation of the injured.

For the purpose of offering need aid, Mayor Kennedy, at 2 o'clock this morning, issued a proclamation appealing to professional, business and other citizens who may be able to favorably report, to meet at the court house this afternoon at 1:30 to devise ways and means to aid the injured and assist the families of those who perished last night in the fall of the silk mill, and at the Philadelphia & Reading paint shop.

The work of rescue was greatly retarded by the singular manner in which the mill collapsed. It did not fall, but was bodily crushed down, falling in upon itself. Not a vestige of the walls are remaining standing above the stone foundation, the rafters and timbers of the flooring projecting in all directions. As the building was steam heated, the ruins did not take fire, otherwise not one of the unfortunates could possibly have escaped death in its most appalling form. Funds of every description, omnibuses, funeral coaches, fire wagons, hospital vans, and private vehicles were pressed into service, and were running rapidly to and from the scene of disaster all night long, bearing the bodies of the wounded, dying and dead to their homes or the various hospitals.

From the statement of some of those who escaped from the building it appears to have gone down in an instant. There was a loud crash of breaking timbers, and the persons in the mill rushed toward the main doors. A good many succeeded in getting out, while four girls saved themselves by jumping from the third story windows. The first rumbling noise was followed instantly by the falling of the building, the upper stories going first with their load of human beings. Had it not been for the fact that hardly any of the hands were on the third and fourth floors at the time, scarcely a life would have been saved.

Up to 8 o'clock this morning a large majority of the victims were in the ruins. George Grimshaw, just before daylight gave out a list of the killed and missing and thirty-four injured, who are accounted for. The list accounts for about two hundred of the employees.

This afternoon a largely attended meeting was held at the court house to devise means for the relief of sufferers. Over $5,000 was subscribed in an instant. The work of hunting for the dead continued all day, and the scenes surrounding the mill were but a repetition of what ensued during the whole of last night. It has been determined to push the work of rescue all night.

THE MILITIA CALLED OUT.

The incoming trains this morning continued pouring into this city their crowds of strangers, and at noon it was estimated that 10,000 persons surrounded the scene of the silk mill disaster. These greatly interfered with the work of removing the debris and taking out the dead and finally the Reading artillery, the city's only military organization, were called out and ordered to the ruins to keep back the crowds. This morning eight more bodies were taken from the ruins. The confusion is great, and a full list of the dead and injured is not obtainable. Considerable money has been contributed for the relief of the sufferers and benefits have also been arranged.

The latest estimate of the killed has been reduced to fifty, but this is uncertain, as no one knows how many human beings still lie beneath the mountain of brick, mortar and timber.

Chicago Editors Bound Over.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—J. J. West, Joseph Dunlap and Jens Christion, respectively proprietor and city editor of the Times, and editor of the Arbeiter Zeitung, appeared in the justice court this morning, to answer to the charges of criminal libel preferred by Inspector Bonfield. They waived examination and were bound over to the criminal Court.

The Situation at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 10.—Search for victims in the ruins wrought by yesterday's awful storm was prosecuted all night. The exact number of victims will not be known for several days yet until the debris is all cleared away.

The death list now foots up to 11, wounded 35, and missing 8. A number of the wounded are in a critical condition and their deaths are momentarily expected. None of the men reported missing have been heard from and it is believed that at least eight persons are still buried in the debris.

The rescuing party numbers fully 100 men, but they are not making much headway. The police are satisfied that at least twenty persons are still in the wreck. An order has been issued by the police authorities telling all persons having friends or relatives missing to report them as early as possible at police headquarters.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the list of dead had increased to fourteen. A tour of the hospitals this morning showed all the wounded doing well with the exception of seven, who are in a critical condition.

Niagara Falls Bridge Carried Away.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Jan. 11.—The suspension bridge situated nearest the falls was carried away by the gale early yesterday morning and deposited in the river. The loss is about $75,000. All points of interest along the river at the water's edge suffered more or less. The water was never known to be so high.

The suspension bridge destroyed by the storm is the carriage bridge between Niagara Falls village and the Clifton house, and should not be confounded with the railroad suspension bridge, over which trains are running as usual.

The bridge was built in 1870. Its original cost was $400,000, and fully half as much again has been expended on it since in improving. The gale destroyed much other valuable property in the neighborhood, and the total loss will reach $1,000,000.

Another Fearful Accident.

SUNBURY, Pa., Jan. 10.—A terrible accident occurred in this city about six o'clock last evening. A rain and wind storm came up suddenly and blew over two of the stacks of the Sunbury mill. They crashed through the roof, completely demolishing the puddling department of the mill. Thirty-five men were employed in the department and half of them were hurried in the debris. The fire alarm was sounded and soon hundreds surrounded the mill. The men were carried out half naked, and it is supposed others are in the ruins. A tramp, name unknown, and C. C. Showers, of Milton, are so far known to have been killed. Nine others are seriously injured, of which two or three will probably die. Four are still missing.

Wildcat Banks Must Go.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 11.—The day of the wildcat banks in Nebraska are numbered. Hanna, of Greeley, who is chairman of the house committee on banking and currency, is preparing a bill which among other features, is calculated to protect the depositors and will require every banking corporation of whatever character to have a paid up capital of at least $25,000 before they can commence business. All reputable bank interest represented in the legislature will support the measure, and a determined effort will be made to push it through.

Favors Sorghum Growing.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 11.—At the annual meeting of the state board of agriculture yesterday, papers on agricultural topics were read by members of the board. E. B. Cowgill, state sugar inspector, addressed the board on the subject of sugar making in Kansas, and claimed that there was no longer any question as to the success of the industry. He said that sorghum was the most profitable crop farmers could grow, and he urged them to use their efforts to have sugar mills established all over the state.

The Storm Was General.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Dispatches from many points in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin indicate that yesterday's storm was general throughout the Northwest, although most severe in northern Wisconsin and Michigan. In Wisconsin there was a fall of snow of from four inches to three feet. Every Wisconsin road is affected more or less. All through the northwest telegraph and telephone lines suffered severe damage.

The Wabash Gass.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The Wabash railroad case before the master in chancery was concluded yesterday. It will next be heard before Gregham in Chicago.

THE DAKOTA LEGISLATURE.

Bills Introduced Providing for Two Constitutional Conventions.

BISMARCK, Dak., Jan. 11.—A number of important bills were introduced in the legislature yesterday. One in the reconvening of the constitutional convention for South Dakota to consider the question of changing the name and boundaries of the proposed state of South Dakota. It gives the constitution power to make provision for the election of a state legislature and state officers. This bill contemplates that the same delegates who acted in the last convention shall be delegates in the next. A bill was also introduced in the council providing for a constitutional convention to be held in Bismarck on April 30, to prepare a constitution for the proposed state of North Dakota.

In the house action is being taken to relieve Dakota of the reputation she has gained for divorcees, and for being the asylum of eloping and runaway couples. It extends the time of residence required before action for divorce can be brought from ninety days to one year.

The bill of the greatest interest to the railroad interests of the country, and especially to the manipulators in Wall street, is one introduced in the council repealing the gross earnings tax, which imposes a tax of 2 per cent on the companies doing business in the territory. The object of repealing this law is to force the companies to pay taxes on their lands, which, in the case of the Northern Pacific, would this year be over $500,000. The Northern Pacific claims that its land is exempt from taxation by congressional enactment, but the recent decision of the territorial company. The farmers having control of the legislature, they will endeavor to push the bills which will exact more taxes from the railroad corporations. But it is believed by the conservative members that before the session ends the radicals will be in the minority.

For the Digestion.

Picayune: Prohibitionists think that if saloons were tightly closed no persons would get tight.
 Pittsburg Chronicle: The Galena and Yantic are coming back. Clear the mud out of their way!
 New York World: Premier Tisza of Austria says that European peace is assured. Tisza pleasant outlook.
 Yantic: Buyin' sumpin' because it am cheap an like er man hittin' hisself on the knee wid er small hammer because it doan' hurt much.
 New York Evening Sun: The man who said "It is an ill wind that blows nobody good" must have lived near a soap-builing establishment.
 Ocean: Paradoxical as it may appear, when a man is nearly talked to death on a ship he is liable to be over bored without getting off the deck.
 Rochester Post-Express: It requires but little faith for a man to believe he is made of dust after he has asked for credit and found that his name is mud.
 Gloucester Advertiser: It is a sad fact that too many people keep upon one side of our churches—the outside. They seem to feel most at home there.
 Burlington Free Press: A wild steer on New York's Broadway is bad enough, but it doesn't compare in general demoralization with a wild steer on a Vermont toboggan slide.
 Youth's Companion: Perhaps those who are fond of tongue-twisting sentences may like to repeat the following couplet correctly and rapidly:
 The swan swam over the river; swim, swan, swim;
 The swan swam back again; well swam, swan!

1889. April 30. 1889.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will celebrate the centennial of Washington's inauguration, by holding a reception the evening of April 30. Washington with members of his cabinet and friends will appear en costume.

Poison the fountain, and the stream is impure; poison the blood, and its taint is carried through the entire system—those innumerable veins and arteries carry disease and death instead of life and vitality. As a result, you have Headache, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Kidney Disease, Liver Complaint and General Debility. An inactive liver means poisoned blood; Constipation means poisoned blood; Kidney disorder means poisoned blood. The great antidote for impure blood is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Acting directly upon the affected organs, restores them to their normal condition. "A word to the wise is sufficient."
