MY FIRST LOVE.

"What an old, worn out title!" I fancy I hear somebody saying, as he or she turns the leaf and reads the heading of my idyl. Old, I grant you, sir or madam, but worn out—never!

My mother did with the tulips of 1886, and some of the fellows at the club persuaded me to come to America, and furthermore, with a view to a thorough distraction of my thoughts, prevailed upon me to give a series of readings in the States of my own and other verses.

During the next two or three days we met periodically, in the dining room, in the corridors, in the elevator, or on the streets of Denver, and we always threw one another in passing that glance which, though apparently absolutely expressionless, seems to say: "If I knew one another we should be friends."

"I shall be disturbing you, mademoiselle, if I play over a few chords?" "Oh, no," she said, "please go on."

out on business, and some friends I expected to call and take me for a drive haven't arrived.

"Well, it's a humiliating necessity, but I must eat to keep alive, and if you will excuse me, I'll go down to luncheon."

"I live in Nashville, Tenn.," she said, "and if you ever come there it will give pleasure if you will come and see us—you will come, won't you?"

"I laid the rose reverently between the leaves of my Bible and put it into my valise. A week later I was on a ranch at Los Angeles, Cal., and the post brought me one day a letter of four pages in a pretty Italian handwriting—it was from Pauline."

"Brown—Jones is not so miserably as I thought he was. Green—No! B.—No, I see he has gone to the expense of moving out of one of his houses into another."

AMUSING LEGAL FREAKS.

SINGULAR CASES STRANGELY HANDLED IN LAW COURTS.

A Woman Considered as Personal Property and Valued at $8.50—A Horse Brought Before the Bar—The Wrong Man Told Why He Was There.

To a Hocking county court belongs the remarkable distinction of passing upon a woman as personal property. The unique precedent was laid some twenty-five or thirty years ago, and before women's rights had progressed as far as they have since.

But Hocking county cannot lay claim to exclusiveness in "precedents." Over in her next door neighbor, Perry, a horse was once restored to its rightful neighbor under a writ of habeas corpus issued by a justice of the peace.

"Why," exclaimed Mr. Saunders, with a look of blank astonishment, "this court can't issue such a writ and no court could issue one for a horse." Shep was more than equal to the emergency.

"Your honor," he said, "a wise and just court can do anything that is laid down in the books. The writ of habeas corpus has been recognized as sacred for centuries. To say that this court can't issue it is to say that it is ignorant of Magna Charta."

"But this court kin issue it," interposed the justice, "and it has issued it already."

"What is that you say, Mr. Morrison?" "That is all I have to say on that point, and the court will feel happier if I do not repeat what I have already said."

A Word to the People.

The motto, "What is Home without a Mother," exists in many happy homes in this city, but the effect of what is home without the Local Newspaper is sadly realized in many of these "happy homes" in Plattsmouth.

THE HERALD

It steadily finding its way into these homes, and it always comes to stay. It makes the family circle more cheerful and keeps its readers "up to the times" in all matters of importance at home and abroad.

During the Year 1889

Every available means will be used to make the columns of THE HERALD a perfect storehouse from which you can obtain all information, and will keep up its record as being the best Advertising Medium for all purposes.
