If the democrats were really anxious to reduce the surplus in a sensible way, why don't they take that part of both the Mills bill and the senate bill that provide for the removal of the tobacco tax and part of the sugar duty such a bill may be passed. If this were done it would abolish all the surplus which can be spared.

The senator from Cass has found a sort of a defender in the editor of the Journal. While that statesman does not approve of the senators course, it condemns the HERALD for not approving of it and thinks we should have publicly pledged our senator through the columns of the HERALD before election. That would do for a democratic sheet, but the HERALD does not think or, did not think, that course either prudent or fair toward the senator. We supported him believing him to be a square republican who would represent the party, not one of two individuals who are with the Journal on the whisky question. We knew he had made repeated pledges to republicans in favor of submission, and we did not believe he had pledged the saloon his support on the other side. Hence, we treated him fairly and trusted him, and now we can't be expected to square ourselves with the Journal's standard of democratic morals on this or any other question; neither must we be expected to place any further confidence in the political pledges of the senator from Cass. Against the senator personally the HERALD has no quarrel—but with his political advisers and with him as representative republican, we beg to be excused.

THE LABOR QUESTION.

An exchange, discussing the question of labor progress, holds that poverty is relative: that the man who has learned to live within his income, be that less than a dollar a day, is richer than the man whose habitual wants call for more than he earns, though his earnings reach thousands yearly. The writer adds: The habitual concealment of this vital fact in all social problems, work fatal harm, because it leads men to believe that they are "ground down" into poverty by some power outside of themselves. Whether they suffer any injustice or not, the power which fixes their habitual wants is that which in the end determines whether they suffer from poverty or not. Concealment of this helps thousands to forget that their actual condition is infinitely better and higher than that of men who performed similar services in the past.

This is all very fine, but admitting its truth, the poor man will not get much consolation out of it. Human nature is pretty much alike whether a man is rich or poor. A man may live and keep his family on a dollar a day, but is it right that he should do so. Would he progress? He owes to his wife and children luxuries and privileges that would cost more than a dollar a day if he can get a greater sum honestly. No man has a right to be content with barely sustaining life in those dependent upon him, and it is fortunate for the human race that very few men are thus content. It is right that the poor should want more than they get, but of course it is not right that they should get more than they can pay for. Ambition to improve one's condition is the mainspring of progress, and when you find a man who accepts his lot with contentment you have found a man who is either exceptionally fortunate in his surroundings, or of no use to himself or anybody else.—Lincoln Journal.

STRENGTHEN THE NATION'S DEFENSES.

The movement in the senate to create a $500,000 fund whereby the United States may be enabled to strengthen its position and afford protection to the interests of its citizens in the Samoan Islands is a wise one so far as it goes, and probably it could not be made to go much further in the manner and by the means employed. The proposition is to add this amount to the diplomatic and consular appropriations, the specific sum here named being designed to be immediately available, and to be used in Samoa according to the judgment of the president, without any special directions or supervision by congress.

Unfortunately, however, the sum here sought to be appropriated will not go very far toward enabling the nation to protect the interests of its citizens either in Samoa or any other place outside the country. A carefully drawn and wise system of coast defenses should be adopted, and our navy strengthened. This work ought to begin at once, and liberal appropriations should be authorized, to be made immediately available. Congress ought to do this now. Discussion of the tariff and finance questions can profitably be postponed to the next congress, as nothing practical will be accomplished on these matters in any event. On the question of strengthening the nation on the sea, however, delay is dangerous.

The builders of the Vesuvius, which has recently been added to our navy, and which is the fleetest war vessel afloat, say they could construct a dozen like it before the year ends if work should be begun on them soon. Vessels of this class are what the country needs now. They are for more serviceable than the huge and unwieldy ships which form a large part of the navies of the other great countries. It is within the power of the government to have a moderately formidable fleet of war vessels ready for service within twelve months if a start be made now. Within that time, also, the harbor defenses could be so strengthened that even the most powerful and arrogant of foreign nations would hesitate long before entering into a contest with us. We have the money and the skill to do all these things. The surplus could not be put to any other use which would bring in such valuable returns to the country as this. Let congress show the public spirit and patriotism which the emergency demands.—Globe Democrat.

Effects of Climate.

We hear a great deal said about the beneficial effect upon invalids of the climate of Colorado and other western localities, but when a man changes his place of residence in the hope of improving his health without first trying Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, he makes a great mistake. In nine cases out of ten he might save his time and money. This great remedy owes its power over all affections of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, catarrh and even consumption, which is lung scrofula, to the simple fact it purifies and enriches the blood, and invigorates the debilitated system.

—We will give a good silver watch to anyone who sends us twenty-five yearly subscribers to the HERALD.

A clear skin adds to the beauty of a fine face, and often lends a charm to homeliness. To beautify your complexion you should purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. As a tonic and alterative medicine, it has no equal. Price $1. Six bottles, $5.

A tame crow belonging to a farmer near Ridgeway, Ont., has been taught to distinguish colors, and will pick out from a pile of articles of various colors one of any color asked for.

Without the means of combating it, a cold may prove more dangerous than the small pox. No family is safe unless provided for such an emergency. In sudden attacks of cold, croup, asthma, etc., Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is an invaluable specific.

William Perkins, of Owasborough, Ky., is blind and ingenious. The result of his affliction and his genius is a writing machine for the blind, which the boy has just perfected. It is said that a San Francisco firm has paid him $5,000 for the right to manufacture and sell the machine in the United States.

Use Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer and your thin gray locks will thicken up and be restored to their youthful color, vigor and beauty.

—Statements and bill heads a specialty at the HERALD office.

Dress the Hair

With Ayer's Hair Vigor. Its cleansing, beneficial effects on the scalp and lasting perfume commend it for universal toilet use. It keeps the hair soft and supple, preserves its color, prevents it from falling, and, if the hair has become weak or thin, promotes a new growth.

"To restore the original color of my hair, which had turned prematurely gray, I used Ayer's Hair Vigor with entire success. I cheerfully testify to the

of this preparation."—Mrs. P. H. Davidson, Alexandria, La.

"I was afflicted some three years with scalp disease. My hair was falling out and what remained turned gray. I was induced to try Ayer's Hair Vigor, and in a few weeks the disease in my scalp disappeared and my hair resumed its original color."—(Rev.) S. S. Sims, Pastor U. B. Church, St. Bernard, Ind.

"A few years ago I suffered the entire loss of my hair from the effects of tetter. I hoped that after a time nature would repair the loss, but I waited in vain. Many remedies were suggested, none, however, with such proof of merit as Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began to use it. The result was all I could have desired. A growth of hair soon came out all over my head, and grew to be as soft and heavy as I ever had, and of a natural color, and finally set."—J. H. Pratt, Spafford, Texas.
