CITY CORDIALS.

—The Louisville Observer is too casual an observer.
—Mr. W. H. Baker's two children who were reported seriously ill with lung fever a few days ago, are gradually recovering.
—Messrs. Jones & Fitzgerald drove a party of their friends to W. T. Cole's sale yesterday afternoon behind their handsome team—"Fortune" and "Nip."
—Mr. W. D. Jones took his departure yesterday afternoon by the flyer for Fairfield and other Iowa towns with the intention of purchasing some fine stock horses.
—The Journal says the HERALD will drop its WAD about the first of March. The Journal will be Cutright out unless its former local editor returns to its assistance.
—The Y. M. C. A. young men who are attending the convention being held at Pawnee City, will return to Plattsmouth on Monday. The convention will adjourn tomorrow.
—One of the sisters was fortunate enough to draw the pig raffled off at the fair. The question is what will she do with it? She has already signified her intention of buying a farm.
—The three toughs named George Staddler, John Nagel and Andrew Robb who were convicted and fined $40 each several months ago for assaulting John Bauer and son near Cedar Creek, paid their fines this morning.
—It is estimated that the ladies, under whose auspices the Catholic Fair was held this week, realized over $1200 from the receipts of the three evenings. This amount will be applied in payment on the school house, and it will liquidate the debt.
—The street car money box was tapped last Thursday night by two boys who broke into the street car house and secured a few dollars which the driver had left in the box as he did not consider it worth the trouble of opening the box. They did not secure any "fat take". It is supposed that the boys who stole the money do not live any great distance from the car house.
—News of the death of J. W. Clark, brother of city attorney Byron Clark, was received here last night. The deceased had been unconscious for some time before his death which has been expected for several days. He has been a sufferer from Bright's disease for years, and has sought advice from the most eminent physicians in the east and had also visited the hot springs, but only to gain a little relief. He has many friends in this city and over the county who will deeply mourn his loss. He leaves a wife and one child—a little girl—who have the sympathy of the entire community. The funeral will occur tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home at Weeping Water. There are several of his intimate friends in this city who will attend the funeral tomorrow. Those who wish to pay the last tributes of respect to their deceased friend can reach Weeping Water in time to attend the funeral by taking the 7:40 train and going by way of Omaha.

Girls Read This.

When a respectable young man desires the acquaintance of a lady, he does not stand upon the street and seek her acquaintance through a flirtation. But on the other hand, the flirt of the street, no matter how innocent and fair her intentions may be, is the last person he would select as his life's companion. He desires purity without suspicion. The girl who engages in this kind of absurdity should bear in mind that she not only endangers her reputation and puts a stain upon her name, but that her name is a byword among those with whom she flirts, to be bandied about in saloons, on the street corners and in low down unholy places in the town, fastening upon her a stigma that will cling to her for years after she had attempted to mend her ways.—Ez.

AN EDITOR "COWED."

He Bids a Big Price on a Scrawny Heifer and Supposes he Has a Bonanza Cow.

About two miles south of the city yesterday afternoon, there was a large auction sale of farm stock belonging to Mr. W. T. Cole. A good number of stock dealers of the city attended the sale and among the number was Mr. Sherman, of the Journal, who became a prominent purchaser on account of his reckless bidding. As the sale progressed, the editor fastened his optics on a fine cow which he much admired and made up his mind he would have her at any price. As the auctioneer called out "Who will make the next bid?" the editor "raised him one" and as a little opposition was offered he kept up a cry which put him in advance of all his opponents, and much to his satisfaction for a short time the cow on which he had bid so heavily was sold to him—but not the beautiful animal he had admired and supposed he was bidding for, but a scrawny cow which the boys say will not give the editor enough milk for his tea. We do not know yet whether Mr. Sherman has succeeded in disposing of his "white elephant," if not we know he is still worrying to figure out some scheme whereby to get his money back.

The Two Orphans.

"The Standard Theatre company, which appeared at Turner hall last evening, in the "Two Orphans" turned people away, showing the inadequate size of our one place of amusement. The "Two Orphan" although a somewhat stale piece, never fails to draw and when produced by as good a company as the Standard it is no wonder. The leading parts of "Henriette" and "Louise" taken by Ella Richardson and Mamie Harvey were excellent and both display that artistic element and sympathy which is necessary to truthfully portray those characters. The performance was a succession of encores and the large audience was more than satisfied. Jessie Crisp as "Mother Frochard" is beyond criticism. The part could not be trusted in better hands. The special scenery carried by them is gorgeous and made the stage of the hall brighten up like a diamond. The company will be here the entire week and give a matinee on Saturday afternoon."—Racine, Wis., Daily Times, Tuesday, Dec. 4, 1888.

The "Two Orphans" will be at Plattsmouth next week. Prices, 15 cents for children under twelve years old; 25 cents gallery and 35 cents admission. No extra charge for reserved seats. Secure your tickets at J. P. Young's.

Nebraska Jottings.

A directory of Otoe county is soon to be published.
Arrangements are being made to put in twenty telephones at Madison.
Ed. Renkins, publisher of the Sentinel and postmaster at Hoopes, has also gone into the drug business.
At a special election last Wednesday, Nebraska City voted to issue $20,000 bonds for the erection of a new school house.
J. A. Wallace, a furniture dealer at Pawnee City, was stricken with apoplexy last Wednesday.
Fred Pierce shot and killed Samuel Ankeny last Tuesday night near Sargent. The shooting was the result of a quarrel that had apparently been settled. There were five bullets in the murdered man's body.
The members of the various fire companies of the Fremont fire department are contemplating the purchase of a steam whistle as an additional alarm in case of fire, the idea being to have it located at the water works.
The Columbus Journal says: "Considerable enthusiasm has been awakened this week by the rumor that a representative of the ladies' aid society from Boston was here for the purpose of looking up a location for a national orphans' home."

Morning District.

Annie Beins has arrived at home from Wisconsin. She was called home on account of the serious illness of her brothers Fred and Henry. Wm. Hull and his wife, a sister of the sick boys, is expected home from Virginia soon.
It is reported that the "commanding queen" of Cottonwood school "threw up the sponge" last Thursday. Cause—the lack of a little "sand."

On Thursday night of last week as the young people (some on foot and some in vehicles) were returning home from the literary society at Horning's school house a race was started by eight or ten boys on horse back. One horse got a leg fast in the wheel of a buggy belonging to Andy Morrow breaking the wheel off. The rider had to dismount and take the wheel from the animals leg. During the melee two other horses with their riders were thrown to the ground. Such reckless racing of horses is dangerous business and should be stopped.
W. T. Cole is moving his effects to the Beeson property.

FANNY CLARK.

Lost—A pocket memorandum in Fitzgerald's hall, Thursday night, with a note given me of $600, also some receipts. The finder will be rewarded by returning the same to E. G. Dovey & son. Persons are cautioned not to buy this note.

Standard Theatre Co.

A fair-sized audience gathered at the opera house last evening to witness the rendition of the five act drama "The Octroon, or Life in Louisiana," as presented by the standard Opera company. This company have, so far, sustained the well merited praise they have received from both the press and the public elsewhere. This evening they will put on the boards the thrilling and sensational drama "Under the Gas Light." Grand matinee Saturday afternoon.

The above we copy from the Nebraska City Press of February 13. Secure your tickets and go and hear "The Two Orphans" next Monday night, it will cost you only 35c, and if the company is not as represented, you will not be out much.

The Pot Hook Puzzle.

The inventor of the pot hook puzzle, which the street "fakers" are selling everywhere now, is John Dempsey, an Atlantic City house painter. He tells his story of how he discovered that the dimpled double and twisted bit of copper wire would make a puzzle for the amusement of the populace. "We use that sort of a hook, a double one, to hang our paint pots on when we are painting from a ladder. One day in putting my looks into a bag to carry them home a couple of them got caught. Well, as they were of no use to me unless I could separate them, I sat down and worked to get them apart. I must have spent half an hour twisting and turning the hooks and tugging and pulling, when suddenly, without any effort, they untangled themselves. This seemed so strange to me that I tried to put them together and succeeded. I then showed the trick to some friends of mine at Atlantic City, where I live. About three months after that I was doing some work at the Brighton, and at noon I showed this trick to a fellow while one of the guests was looking over my shoulder. Well, what does this guest do but pack his trunk, take the next train for New York, and now they are turning them out at the rate of 20,000 a minute, and I never made a cent out of it." The device has almost maddened persons who have sought to take the two hooks apart, but Dempsey is madder than any of them.—New York Graphic.

Sweets from Coal Tar.

The French government has become alarmed at the cheapness with which saccharine may be produced from coal tar. It considers that the composition of that substance with cane and beet sugar is dangerous to the health of the community, and it is said that it is already being extensively used as an adulterant. To remedy this evil a measure has been passed absolutely prohibiting the importation of saccharine or saccharinated substances.—San Francisco Chronicle.
