A TERRIBLE WRECK

A Passenger Train Falls Through a Bridge Near St. George, Ontario.

DEAD AND DYING HUMANITY

A List of the Killed and Injured—The Inaugural March of 1841—An American Bridge Builder's Sad Fate.

An Appalling Disaster.

St. George, Ont., Feb. 27.—The St. Louis express passing here eastbound, about 6 o'clock this evening, went through the bridge just east of the station. A broken tire on the engine wheel caused the rails to speak, and the first passenger car, Pullman car and dining car went through the middle section of the bridge. The Pullman car which contained most of the passengers, was thrown clean off the bridge, turning completely over and landing right up.

The dining car stands on end against a pier. The passenger car remains on the bridge, having stripped the ties ahead of it. Eight or ten persons who were killed and about thirty wounded were taken out of the cars.

The dining-room car contained about seven persons besides the waiters. Supper had just commenced, and in a few minutes the car would have been filled, and must have perished.

The following is a list of killed: George Teggat, of Mitchell; William Wemp, of London; Dr. Swan and A. W. Francis, of Woodstock; Mr. McLean, of the firm of McLean & Beecher, of Detroit; Mr. Baines, of Hamilton; Captain Moore, of Bradford; Mr. Peers, of Woodstock.

The following are more or less seriously injured: Thomas L. Douty, temperance lecturer; Mrs. Jennings and May Jennings, of Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Buddin, of Dorchester; Miss Higgins, of Toronto; Mrs. McLeod, of Ingersoll; Miss Chaffee, of Pontiac, Mich.; James Hyslop, of Goodrich; Dan Peacock and R. W. Knight, of Woodstock; John McKinley, of Detroit; Fred Hancock, London; George Forbes, of New York; J. R. Marshall and Mrs. J. R. Marshall, of Regina; John H. Wilson, colored; of Chatham; Mrs. Evans, of Hamilton; George Margetta, dining car conductor, of Niagara; Robert Hilton, of St. Catharines; Mr. McLaughlan, of London; Conductor Wenell, D. W. Kain, of Woodstock; Wm. Bennett, of Sanilias, Mich.; Dr. H. Lequesne, of Cleveland, Ohio; A. W. Francis, of Woodstock, and Mrs. A. S. Kendall, of Detroit.

St. George, near where the accident occurred, is on the Great Western branch of the Grand Trunk.

The Same March.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Memories of William Henry Harrison will be plentiful at the inauguration of his grandson. The inaugural committee has received a letter from a lady at Sykesville, Md., requesting that the inaugural grand march, composed by Miss Susanna Warfield and played by the Marine band during the inauguration ceremony of William Henry Harrison in 1841 be again played during the ceremonies next week. Miss Warfield is now a lady ninety-five years old and would be highly gratified to know that the music composed by her in honor of the first Harrison was heard also in the inaugural ceremonies of his grandson. A copy of Miss Warfield's march was sent recently to Mrs. Harrison at Indianapolis and it is understood she wrote to the committee here requesting that it be played Monday next.

Plenty of lumber has been used in preparing for the inauguration, but the only thing that has yet taken shape is a log cabin. It was put up today in front of the Peace monument at the head of Pennsylvania avenue. Although more fragile than one in the days of "Tippecanoe and Tyler too," it looks habitable. It is about 10x12 feet, and stands just at the base of the triumphal goddess, about whom a graceful flag already waves.

This old cabin will be the first thing that greets the eyes of the troops as they march down the avenue with Gen. Harrison at their head, and many will be the cheers that will ring out for William Henry Harrison and Benjamin, his grandson.

Fearful Fate of an American Bridge Builder in Australia.

TOWANDA, Pa., Feb. 28.—The Union Bridge company took a contract a year or so ago for building the great Hawkesbury bridge at Sydney, New South Wales. The company sub-let the work to Ryland & Morse, of this city. The Ryland of the firm was the well known bridge builder, S. V. Ryland. The partners

OLD AND CURIOUS COINS.

PIECES OF SCARCE KINDS OF MONEY AND THEIR FANCY PRICES.

The Goddess of Liberty in Different Positions—Coins from American Mints That Are More Prized Than Those That Were Current in the Days of the Caesars.

A craze which of late years has greatly developed and at this time shows no sign of falling off, is that of collecting rare coins. Chicago leads all western cities in the number of its numismatists and boasts some fine collections. It might be supposed that the demand would be principally for coins of great antiquity, but this is not the case. The chief inquiry is for sets of American coins, and some numbers are so rare as to readily command fancy prices. In certain years some descriptions of coins were not minted at all, while in other cases few copies were issued. Other coins are valued because of some error or eccentricity in the die; in fact, any variation from the ordinary types, if in good condition, will bring more than its face value.

Custom Correspondence.

DEAR EDITOR:—Not seeing anything in your valuable paper for quite a while in recognition toward Cullom, I thought to drop you a few items from our little berg and let your many readers know whereof we speak.

Cullom is situated in a beautiful valley on the B. & M., nine miles west of the county seat of Cass county, and is surrounded with one among the best farming communities that can be found in the state.

On inquiry we get the information that sixty-five car loads of grain have been shipped from this point since the beginning of the new year.

There are two scales here for weighing grain put in by the farmers and an elevator for handling grain is talked of as a necessity and would undoubtedly pay any one for their investment.

The ladies of Cullom gave a basket supper the 10th inst. for the benefit of the church which was a grand success. The school house where the supper was held was decorated in the most elaborate style, which does great credit to the Cullomites. As near as we can learn there were thirty-one dollars made above all expenses. Quite a delegation of ladies and gentlemen from Cedar Creek and Louisville attended the supper.

The Cullom school is taught by Mr. J. B. Meisinger, which is in a flourishing condition. Services every other Sabbath in the church, conducted by Rev. Hawes, a Methodist minister of Nehawka.

Mr. J. B. Thomson, of the firm of Dovey & Thompson, have a fine lot of feed steers on their farm.

Hornpipe.

Horning School District.
W. L. Hull will take possession of the W. T. Cole farm in a few days.

Benjamin Brunner, who has run the Perry Walker farm for two years past, will soon report on a farm near Murray.

It is reported that articles sold well at the sale of Mrs. Cole's on Tuesday.

The basket supper at Cottonwood school given for Mr. Surface's benefit on Tuesday night was well patronized and goodly number of the young gens each captured a basket and the fair owner thus realized a neat little sum of money.

The literary society last Thursday eve adjourned sine die. Such a society is a great source of pleasure and gives ample means for improvement.

There will be a meeting at the Horning school house on Thursday night, March 7, to engage in the discussion of the prohibitory amendment. Everybody is invited to come and take part in the discussion. It is a question that interests all. Would not "ye edit it" and your "brother" across the way come over and help us?

Mr. Surface, of the U. B. church, who has been working on this circuit for two years, will occupy another field the coming year.

FANNIE CLARE.

The Ideal Woman of the Future.
"The ideal woman of the future," says an eminent physician, "must be a woman of grand and strong physique. Bulwer says: 'The match for beauty is a man, not a money chest.' Equally true is it that the match for the ideal man, the coming Twentieth century man, is a woman, not a bundle of aches and pains. And woman will not have gone far in her search for health before she will have discovered that her dress is a fetter self imposed, which she herself must summon strength to break.

She must cast off her slavery to the fashion plate and go back to the freedom and grace of the old Greek ideals and find in the deep bosomed Junos and the stately, well poised Venuses of antiquity, with their loose girdles and flowing lines of drapery, her models in dress. She must be strong and many sided mentally. All art, all culture, all those mighty principles of physical and psychical law—of which an ancient Greek has said that "the divinity is mighty within them and growth not old"—must minister to her intellectual wants, for how shall she give life who knows not the principles of life. Last and best of all, she must be grand in that freedom and purity of soul which shall make her love a royal boon, a gem worthy of all knightly and chivalrous homage to the man who shall call her—wife."—Philadelphia Press.

A Shrewd Dog.

Of a sedate but cunning dog out in California this story is told: On one occasion a rabbit was started, and all the dogs with the exception of Bonus dashed off in full pursuit. We were astonished to observe that he, foregoing the intense excitement of the chase, deliberately trotted by a short cut to a hollow oak trunk, and crouching at its base calmly awaited the coming of the fleeing rabbit. And he was not disappointed, for the pursuing dogs pressed the rabbit so hard that after making a long detour, it approached the place of refuge. As it was about entering the hollow trunk, Bonus sprang up and captured it. Now, this old dog was used to hunting rabbits in that field, and knew that the rodents were in the habit of flying for safety to that hollow tree. Moreover, this story is true.—Philadelphia Times
