CITY CORDIALS.

Tonight will be Evangelist Miller's last meeting in Plattsmouth.

An upright man will walk in the middle of the road tonight.

The Sons of Veterans are to have an entertainment two weeks from next Tuesday.

James D. Durlin and Miss Maud Nichols were married yesterday by Rev. J. T. Baird.

Conductor Ballinger has for several days been unable to attend duties on the Schuyler run of the B. & M., being laid up with tonsillitis.

The rain last night caught a large congregation of people at the M. E. church unprepared for it, but most of them got home without serious dampening.

Wm. Snyder came in from about five miles south of town this morning with a half demented tramp he had arrested. He will be set free again, however, as he is able to care for himself.

Credit for the securing of the new hotel for Plattsmouth, as far as her citizens are concerned, rests largely on F. Carruth, R. B. Windham and J. W. Johnson, whose zealous efforts were influential in pushing ahead the enterprise.

Several large piles of driftwood which have collected and piled on the east side of the sandbar are now out of reach to the owners. Yesterday the river made a rise and surrounded the wood with water before a dozen loads could be hauled away.

Last night a good soaking rain fell over all this section of the country. It was a most welcome occurrence to everybody, farmer or citizen. The farmer, it will relieve of his anxiety about the "Spring drouth," and the city people will for a time be rid of dust, and have a supply of rainwater.

C. W. Snyder, who was postmaster at Cedar Creek for a time, and is well known over Cass county, died of consumption at Papillion, Sarpy county, yesterday. Mr. Snyder was strongly suspected last winter as a postoffice official, and gave up his position and moved to Papillion.

The fifteenth annual tournament of the Nebraska Sportsmen's association is to be held at Norfolk in May. Five thousand live pigeons have been guaranteed. Shooters will be classified according to record. Some "champion shots" will be there, but doubtless they will go home abashed after a round with the Plattsmouth boys.

The board of trustees of the Presbyterian church met tonight to consider what shall be done for a church, now that the church lot is sold and must be vacated. No steps have been taken in this line, but it is understood that a handsome and commodious church structure will be erected on some suitable lot at no distant day.

The Boston Stars, to be at the opera house Saturday night, play at Boyd's in Omaha two nights next week and are in every way first-class. Our Omaha correspondent writes that he has been assured by Mr. Boyd that they are fine and they expect big houses there and he thinks they should draw well here. If you want to enjoy a fine musical treat go and see them Saturday night.

We are acquainted with quite a number who "get more papers than I can read now" and do not want a local paper—as long as they can borrow it from a neighbor. Those fellows always take a paper published in New York or somewhere, containing thrilling and blood curdling romances, such as make the young despise home and yearn for the day when they can break away from home restraints and go out in the far west and become "bad men" and die with their boots on.

The revival meetings in the Methodist church during the past two weeks have kept up in attendance and interest without the least falter. Last night the church was again filled to standing room. Mr. Miller has never failed to sing one or more beautiful solos, and the continued large attendance is proof of the appreciation the people of Plattsmouth have for him. The meeting last evening was successful in winning souls for Christ, as have been all others, and the evangelist will leave many converts here the fruits of his labors.

Y. M. C. A. and church members can go and hear the "Boston Stars" at the opera house tomorrow night, without any hesitation, or seeing or hearing anything of an immoral nature. They come to us strangers, but are highly recommended by ministers, Sunday school superintendents, secretaries of Y. M. C. A. and the press at large. The performance will be what it is represented to be, and if you read in another column the letter from "Bill Nye" regarding them, and if you go to hear them tomorrow night you will never regret it.

EIGHT DAYS TO PUNISHMENT.

Forger McCann Will Serve a Season in The Penitentiary At Hard Labor.

Sentenced For Six Years

Court opened this morning at usual time. The jury from the case which was heard yesterday, Plattsmouth Street railway vs. F. R. Guthman was called to the jury box. Frank McCann, who plead guilty to forgery yesterday, was brought into court to receive sentence; there being about fifty spectators present. McCann sat seemingly unconcerned before the court. About three minutes was taken in the sentencing which was about as follows:

Court, (to deputy sheriff Miller).—"Is the prisoner here?"

Miller—"Yes sir."

Court—"The prisoner will stand."

McCann rose to his feet, stood in his natural stooped posture with his hands behind him, and the court continued:

"What have you to say why sentence should not be passed?"

McCann: "Nothing."

"How old are you?"

"Twenty-six."

"Where was your home before coming to Nebraska?"

"Ohio."

"How long since you came here?"

"Two weeks."

The court then recited the particulars of the forgery to the prisoner, speaking of the nature of the crime in the sight of the law, and circumstances connected with this forgery, to which McCann would occasionally reply with an assenting "yes sir." Closing these remarks the court said: "Taking the evidences as he has been able to gather them, finds little in this case to recommend him (the prisoner) to the clemency of the court, but that the punishment may be swift and speedy the court has taken all things into consideration, and the sentence of the court is: You be taken from the court here and confined in the penitentiary of this state for the term of six years at hard labor, Sundays excepted, none of which shall be in solitary confinement, and that he pay the costs of this trial."

The prisoner expressed no feeling outwardly at all, and was removed from the court room to the jail by the deputy.

The remarkable feature of this case is the swiftness with which McCann was brought to justice, and made to feel the arm of the law, and in how short a time a crime can be accomplished to send one to the penitentiary for years. Only eight days ago he appeared at the First National bank and enquired after the responsibility of the men whose names he wished to forge.—C. R. Vallery and Joshua Murray,—stating he was about to close a deal in cattle with them. The next day—one week ago today—he returned to the bank with the forged note and, had he not feared detection, could have sold it for $500 cash, but rather took a draft for $500, and his own caution was the trap that caught him. In eight days from the time McCann planned the forgery, he finds himself on the way to the penitentiary to spend six years at hard labor, and repentance.

District Court Notes.

Two years ago when the Plattsmouth Street Railway company was incorporated it seems that F. R. Guthman, F. D. Lenhoff, J. V. Weckbach, J. V. Egenberger and W. H. Pickens were among the subscribers to the enterprise. After the track was removed from Main street and for various reasons, the subscribers were withheld, as not being collectable from the understanding of the manner of subscription. Suit was brought in this court to secure the payment of the subscriptions. The case against F. R. Guthman, who subscribed $100 was tried yesterday and the jury instructed this morning. The jury found for plaintiff damages in the amount of $100 and costs of the case. The other cases being on the same ground as Mr. Guthman's this one will settle them all in favor of the company.

This afternoon the case of J. H. Bauer vs. John M. Waterman was heard and submitted to the jury.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. J. A. Connor returned from Ashland yesterday.

T. W. Riddle was a passenger to Lincoln this morning.

The Plattsmouth delegation to Omaha this morning consisted of J. R. Cox and family, J. G. Peterson, John Mathias, Sam Shumaker, Jas. Sage, William Neville and Tom Murphy.

Some interesting facts are given in the second annual report of the state board of transportation. The report covers the year ending June 30, 1888. The railroad companies operating in this state paid in taxes to the amount of $910,670.46, a little over five per cent of the earnings in the state. The total mileage in Nebraska June 30, 1888, was 4,905 miles. Seventy-eight per cent of the track is laid with steel rails. During the year eighty-eight people were killed by accidents and 548 were injured.

BOUND TO BOOM.

The Building Season in Plattsmouth to Open by Creating a Fine Hotel.

Preliminaries Completed.

This spring has long been looked to, to open a grand boom in the way of erecting buildings. Many contracts have been drawn and let on dwelling houses and minor improvements to be done this season, but last night arrangements were completed whereby the building boom will be given a good impetus by the erection of a fine hotel. The board of trade committee, trustees of the Presbyterian church and J. E. Riley met at Byron Clark's office last night and closed the deal of the purchase of the Presbyterian church lot. As stated in the Herald before, the lot was bought for $3,500, Mr. Riley paying $2,500 and citizens $1,000.

It is intended to begin operations for the erection of the hotel as soon as possible. The hotel is planned to be one erected after the most modern fashion, with all American conveniences. As a building it is to be 83x140 feet, a front of 88 feet on Main street, and a front of 140 feet on Sixth street, which fronts are to be of pressed brick. The hotel is planned to be erected at a cost of $25,000, will be three stories high, with trimmings of Sioux Falls granite. This will be a hotel building of attractive appearance from the outside, and all first-class furnishings within. The brick for the main portion of the building will be made in this city. Bids for reducing the lots to grade have been published, and the work will be pushed. Today a suitable location for the old Stadelman house is being looked up, and the building will be moved as soon as a good location is found.

Bill Nye's Letter.

WORLD OFFICE, New York, Dec. 23.
Dear Mrs. B:—When the papers state that the Boston Stars are going to favor your city with a date, do not make other engagements for that evening nor allow Mr. B. to do so.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune," and there is a tide in the affairs of shows which is ditto, and leads to a happy time. The Stars will give you joy at the time, and something to remember: with pleasure afterward.

Yours truly,
BILL NYE.

Go and hear them at the opera house tomorrow night, and you will not regret it.

Clarkegn Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The senate confirmed the nomination of J. S. Clarke to be first assistant postmaster general. Clarke was born at Brooksville, Ind., in 1845. He learned the printer's trade when a boy, and removed with his family to Iowa when 12 years of age. He became editor of the Register in 1868, and in 1870 he and his brothers became proprietors of that paper and are still its owners. In 1869, 1870 and 1871 he was chairman of the Iowa state republican committee. In 1872 he was appointed postmaster at Des Moines, and held the position until 1880. He has long been a close friend of Blaine, and headed the Iowa delegation for him to the national conventions of 1876, 1880 and 1884. He has been twice a member of the republican national committee, and was a member of the executive committee and bore a prominent part in the campaign of 1884. He was a member of the national convention of 1888, and after the withdrawal of Allison's name turned with his state to Harrison. He was made vice chairman of the republican national committee and spent the whole campaign at republican headquarters in New York.
