

CITY CORDIALS.

J. L. Polk is clerking in the drug store of W. J. Warrick.

C. E. Wescott is the latest purchaser of two of the finest lots in South Park.

L. T. White has purchased a lot in South Park and commenced the erection of a residence thereon.

The free lecture at the M. E. church tonight by Rev. J. M. Jeffrey will be a good opportunity to post up on Utah.

The remains of Daniel Unzicker were sent to Milford this morning for burial. The family and parents of deceased were passengers for Milford to attend the funeral.

The columns of the WEEKLY HERALD were so overcrowded with ads this week that it was necessary to issue a ten page addition this morning to contain all the matter.

The sound of the hammer in every direction and the erection of new houses on every hand is a very prosperous showing for the city, and an enlivening tonic for sleepy kickers.

A son of S. L. Furlong, living near Rock Bluffs, died last night at 8 o'clock of consumption. The remains will be buried tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Wm. Young cemetery.

A general desire to clean up and make things look new seems to have struck the Main street merchants this spring and a number of them are painting and re-arranging their store rooms to good advantage.

It was announced in this paper last night that Ed J. Streight had been elected by the board of directors as assistant financial secretary of the Y. M. C. A., which was not correct, however. Mr. Streight was elected to be assistant general secretary.

The establishing of the Chicago avenue lumber yard by John C. Cummins and son Charley, is under way, and the lumber is being hauled to the grounds, corner Rock street and Chicago avenue, and arranged as rapidly as possible. Mr. Cummins is not a new man at the business, having run a lumber yard on Pearl street till about six years ago, when he sold out to Richey Bros.; but he finds it desirable to again embark in that line of business with his son. They will erect sheds and build an office soon, and hope to be ready for business by April 1.

About a twenty-five carload of stock will be kept on hands.

John Waldruff, a tough bum who has been laying around the city for some time, disregarding orders to leave the city, is now serving a term of about seven days and a half in the city jail. Last night he became intoxicated enough to be very boisterous and about 1 o'clock this morning went to the depot and was going to do desperate things with the nightwatch, Pose Smith. Smith blew his call whistle and officers Johnny Fitzpatrick and James Grace were soon on the scene. Waldruff was not satisfied with a warning and he was arrested. This morning he was arraigned before Judge Clifford charged with being drunk and disorderly, and sentenced to jail. Two days of his term will be on bread and water.

Complaints have come in from time to time during all the winter from different parties about the loss of chickens. Someone would raid their coop after dusk and carry away any where from six to a dozen chickens. Until this week it has been a mystery to the officers who were doing this work, though the right parties were suspicioned. It proves to be three young fellows named Tom Hart, John Brown and Wm. Phillips. Phillips is nearly of age, while the other two are boys about fourteen. It appears that they made it a practice to keep themselves supplied with spending money during the winter with chickens which they would steal, and find a ready market for. One butcher on asking why the game was always brought at night received the reply from Hart that his mother had 200 hundred old hens which she intended to sell off and raise young ones, and they could only be caught after dark. The boys discovered this week that they were about to get into trouble and the two older ones skipped town, leaving Hart behind. He lays the stealing on the boys, but does not deny that he sold the game and had his share of the boodle. Within the last week three or four hen houses were raided.

FROM AN ORIENTAL SHORE.

Ten Japanese of Royal Rank Pass Through Plattsmouth on a Pleasure Tour.

Gazing on Civilization.

One of the Pullman drawing cars attached to No. 2 yesterday afternoon was occupied by a royal party of ten from Japan. As the train only stopped two minutes the Japs did not leave their car and many were not aware of their presence on the train.

In dress the men were very English, being clad principally in tweed suits and fore and aft caps. They were all small in stature and very ordinary looking people, indeed. The four ladies of the party were dressed according to Redfern. They dressed their hair a la Psyche and looked entirely American except as to their faces. The party consisted of the Count and Countess Sawa, the Marquis and Marchioness Maeda, Mr. Saitan, master of ceremonies to his royal highness and his wife, the mikado, Lieutenant Yoshie, commander of the navy, and his wife, Mr. Kato, of the royal household, Dr. Miura, physician to the mikado. Lieutenant Yoshie was the only member of the embassy who can speak English intelligibly, but he speaks the language fluently, and takes great pleasure in answering the questions put to him by a politely interested person.

The party, sailed from Japan on the 16th of February and arrived in San Francisco on the 4th inst. After a pleasant visit in the city of the Golden Gate they came on east. The party is traveling principally for pleasure, incidentally examining the navies of the different countries they visit. Their present destination is Washington, and from there to New York, where they will board ship on the 6th of April and sail for Paris, where they will visit the exposition.

Lieutenant Yoshie has visited America on several occasions, but the other members of the party breathe the ozone of Uncle Samuel's domain for the first time. They are delighted with what they have seen and greatly surprised to find that "the people of these United States have reached such a high degree of civilization."

On the 11th of last month the Mikado, by royal decree, gave to Japan its first constitution, which entirely changes the form of government, making it similar to that of England.

District Court Proceedings.

Judge S. M. Chapman left last night for Lincoln where he opened court this morning, and Judge A. W. Field arrived in Plattsmouth last evening and took Judge Chapman's place on the bench here. Judge Field was accompanied by court reporter Oscar A. Mullen, of Lincoln. This term of court has been a very poor one for jury cases, the reason seems to be, there were not many on the docket and the majority of them that were there were continued over till the May term. The jury in the case of Bachelor vs. the C. B. & Q., for $5,000 damages, was out from Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock, till last evening, when they returned a verdict finding for defendant. The last jury of this term was probably impaneled this morning in the case of Champion Machine Co. vs. Fred Gorder; and the jury men were relieved from duty today. Court will probably be continued a week or two in finishing up the docket.

MAN AND BOY.

The Oldest Man and His Grandchild, the Fattest Boy in Nebraska.

John Johnson, who now resides at Ashland, in Saunders county, says the Omaha Republican, was born in Cataga county Ohio, Oct. 22, 1790. He is therefore 99 years old, and probably the oldest man in the state. He owns a farm west of Ashland, and was the first white man who ever set foot in Saunders county. That was about 1852 or 1853. Since that time he has always lived there. He was married at 18 years of age to Rosanna Dunn, of Meadville, Pa. He had two sons and one daughter by that Union. About twenty-eight years after the marriage he lost his wife and five years later he married again. His second wife was Jane Wahlett. He had three daughters all of whom are married. The children were reared in and among the Pawnees and Otoes when Pawnee Chas. was chief. Mr. Johnson is strong, healthy and active, and when called upon by a representative of the Republican he danced a reel with all the activity of a man of twenty-five years.

Mr. Johnson is particularly proud of his son James F. Johnson, who has a son that tipped the scales at 100 pounds when but 13 months of age.—Leader,

This recalls the old chestnut that has been hashed and rehashed until it is jizzy, but which is none the less true, that nine men out of ten believe that they can do better newspaper work than the man in the business. Who, that has been grinding "public opinion" for any length of time, has not been given to instructions and pointers and advice by people who wouldn't be able to write a column in a week if they were put down to it? The missionary of the newspaper business doesn't call on the lawyer to show him how to make a brief; he seldom hunts up a clergyman to show him the best pulpit attitudes; he never endeavors to show the dentist how to pull teeth; he would consider it impertinent to discourse on the best plans of repairing watches to a watchmaker. But the lawyer and clergymen and dentists and watchmakers and butchers and bakers and horseshoers and stokers and undertakers and milkmen think they are doing great good by explaining to a newspaper man the best methods of doing his work.—Lincoln Journal Topics.
