CITY CORDIALS.

The Goose house finishings were freshly painted today. Keep it before the people that Platts-mouth is the STAR CITY of Nebraska.

J. M. Schnellbacher set up the cigars today all around. Cause—it's a nice young lady.

Platts-mouth is a city located to become a city, and is moving ahead with admirable energy.

One great fact that insures Platts-mouth's future is, people here and abroad have confidence in her.

A number of young folks of this city contemplate taking in the ice cream and table supper at Three Groves tonight.

The soft balmy breezes they blow in the mornings now, are exceedingly refreshing, and remind us that we live in the fair land of Nebraska.

Several city ordinances of interest to the citizens will be found in today's issue of the HERALD. Read them and ponder Platts-mouth future in your heart.

Printed notices calling the special election to vote bonds for a court house have been sent out over the country, and ordered published in every paper in the county.

The docket for the May term of district court which opens Monday, May 27 is published. In all there are 145 cases, eight criminal, fifty-two Jury, and eighty-five equity cases.

THE HERALD acknowledges the receipt of a complimentary ticket to the Seventh Annual Tournament of the Nebraska Firemen's association to be held at Red Cloud, July 16-19, 1889.

The recent rains have been a little severe on the railroad services. A wash-out west of McCook yesterday delayed flyer No. 2, two hours and thirty minutes. No. 1 and 5, from the east, were also late this morning.

The obsequies of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Sheffer were held at the family residence on Main street this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The rooms were filled with friends at that hour. Rev. J. T. Baird conducted the ceremony. The remains were interred in Oak Hill cemetery.

Last evening Deputy Sheriff Miller received a message from Merriam, commander of Ft. Laramie, Kansas, which read "Wm O'Day is a deserter from Co. F. seventh infantry. Deliver him at Ft. Omaha and claim $30 reward." O'Day is the deserter arrested here on Tuesday by Deputy Miller, and was this morning taken to Ft. Omaha by Miller as requested.

A transcript of proceedings in the case of Paxton & Gallagher vs. J. M. Woodson, which was heard in the county court several weeks ago, was filed with the district clerk today, the case having been appealed by Mr. Woodson. It was a suit of replevin in which plaintiff levied upon a horse and wagon for a debt of J. M. Woodson but Fred Woodson claims ownership in the property.

W. A. Rucher, a night switchman in the yards, had a narrow escape from being injured this morning. Just about his time to quit work he was engaged in switching and was holding on the side of a car. As the car passed over the switch it passed close enough to cars on another track to brush him off. He fell to the ground with considerable force and got a bruised face, but was not hurt enough to be laid up.

Few persons who do not have daily experience realize the great benefit that Platts-mouth is deriving from the enterprises that are on foot in the city now. The fact that there is one of the largest and finest hotels under process of construction here is known all over the county; and the news of the electrical plant to be established here has gone like fire throughout the neighboring states and was taken note of. When the hotel was contracted for, letter after letter came to Secretary Herrmann, of the Board of Trade, from large manufacturing concerns desirous of giving figures to the proper parties on "the safest and most improved boilers" and "the finest hotel equipments made." Now come letters from electric supply houses and factories desiring to fit up the plant here with engines, boilers, dynamos, etc. etc. These letters come from various large cities in the east showing that Platts-mouth is recognized on account of her advantages as a city, and her improvements are taken note of.

THE HERALD Job Rooms are the most complete in the county.

Plenty of feed, flour, graham and meal at Heisel's mill. tf

SATURDAY'S BALL GAME.

The People Are Waiting to See a Game of Spirit.

The next ball game will be held Saturday afternoon at the ball park at 3 o'clock. It is being awaited for with impatience and a big attendance will turn out if the weather is favorable. The participants are Platts-mouth vs. West Omaha. This Omaha club has never yet played at our grounds but they come with good credentials, and as we have the best grounds in the state a fine game is anticipated. The following is the field position of the clubs:

Table with columns for PLATTS and WEST OMAHA, listing player names like McCarthy, Patterson, Crow, Bell, Baumen, etc.

The game played April 30, was a good starter for the season, was largely attended and the Platts-mouth team done good work, which casts a shadow ahead that equally good, or better maneuvers will be made by the home team to make it interesting.

E. H. Wooley, of Weeping Water, is in the city.

State Expenses.

It might be interesting to the HERALD readers to know for what and how much the expenditures and appropriations of the last legislature were. The report of state auditor shows the amounts to be as follows: The total appropriation was $2,380,328.00. Of this amount $316,240 went for new buildings, improvement and repairs, only a small portion being for new buildings. Two years ago the appropriations for new constructions amounted to $822,791.65. The salaries of members and employes of the house of representatives last winter amounted to $68,076.62; the senate bill for the same was $35,613. The miscellaneous expenses were $56,125.90. A few other sums are to be included in the cost of the session which foots up to $190,000. The appropriations for the state library and the judiciary amount to $222,819.70. The executive department receive $189,284. Miscellaneous appropriations foot up to $68,497.04.

A WRITE-UP FOR PLATTSMOUTH Her Business Men Take a Page in an Omaha Paper.

C. R. Camp representing The Western Advocate or Camp's Emigrant Guide, of Omaha, was in the City today and successfully solicited among the business men, to give the town a write-up, of one page in the Advocate, "an illustrated literary and agricultural journal devoted to the interest of the home seker." Mr. Camp's proposition was to write the city up for $50 cash. He solicited among the citizens for $1 subscriptions and soon raised $52, and Platts-mouth will soon have an illustrated page in that paper. Every opportunity to give the STAR CITY a prominent place in the minds of the people, at home and abroad, should be improved, and THE HERALD observes this movement with pleasure and hopes the advertising of the city will be liberally pushed this summer, and at the same time desires a fair patronage of its own columns, which will be devoted to the same end. Great possibilities are within the grasp of Platts-mouth's advantages, and the more they are advertised the more they will be patronized. The STAR CITY don't need to wait till any clouds roll by to take the lead among Nebraska's "jems," for she naturally has a front seat at the industrial inducement show, and all that people, industry and capital, are waiting for is to have the light turned on; then the wise men of the east, north, south and west will come.
