THE JOKER.

Today's sunshine is acceptable. Recently people have not walked home in the starlight. A few days of bright sunshine will convince the doubtful that it is summer.

THE JOKER is confident that he can state, without prevarication, that Plattsmouth can't be beat. In saying this he has reference both to her ball club and the town at large.

Now is the time of year that the man with an arm burnt with mustard and an eye put out with powder, but securely concealed by a dark goggle, comes to the back door and with a pitiful jing-o-ling says "Please ma'am, can't you give a poor man something to help him. He was in the terrible explosion at Kallamazoo and is trying to get to Nebraska City." Bread is acceptable but money is preferred. Bread gets to the alley and money to the nearest saloon.

It is an actual fact that the town is impressing outsiders with the fact there are material changes going on in her midst. One evening as THE JOKER propped himself against the Nation Bank corner and was gazing at the types of humanity that were passing he noticed an honest faced elderly couple coming up the street in their Sunday best, shawl, valise and cane, evidently, having just got off the train. They didn't look like city folk, but reminded one that they had come to visit and would be glad when they got to the stopping place. They came to the bank corner and stopped. The old gentleman gazed across the street earnestly for a few moments, and at the same time seemed somewhat amazed. His better half stood by holding his arm seemingly innocent of what he was pondering in his heart and waiting for him to proceed. Then with apparent astonishment the old man turned to a bystander and exclaimed "Where's that hotel gone to?"

The effect of using Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup is unlike all medicines containing opiates or poisons, it being entirely free from them. It cures rheumatism by purifying the blood.

Edison's Laboratory. Among the materials stored in Edison's laboratory are samples of every substance in the world; the thousands of pigeon holes and drawers contain skins, feathers and furs of the whole animal creation, bones and tusks of all sorts of creatures, minerals, barks, grasses, drugs, fruits and gums in bewildering completeness. Some of the species are so rare that they are kept like diamonds, in little folded papers. The grotesque nature of some of the materials there collected prompted the inquiry:

How can you ever want such things as sharks' teeth or rhinoceros' horn? "That shows that you don't know what queer things electricians use," replied our modern Virgil. "During the progress of the experience with the incandescent electric light, for instance, nearly everything one can think of was tried as a primary material from which to form the delicate carbon filament whose incandescence is the source of the light. Finally, as perhaps you know, shreds of one particular variety of bamboo were found to give the most gratifying results; and there, by the way, you can see a few bales of the very reeds from which those strips are cut. Again, the delicate needle, which, affixed to the under side of the vibrating diaphragm of the phonograph, indents the smooth, revolving surface of the waxen cylinder, had to be formed of some material possessing peculiar properties of elasticity and rigidity. Scores of the most unlikely substances, both organic and inorganic, natural and artificial, were tried before the right one was hit upon. And so it goes with all the details of electric appliances."—Cosmopolitan.

When it comes to a land for farmers to prosper in, none is better than Cass county. A drive across this county in any direction will not fail to convince one that the farmer that understands managing will not fail to prosper with the favorable seasons that Nebraska climate affords. It is also a cheering and comfortable appearance that is presented by the many good barns which have been erected in the last few years, and in which the owners take an honest pride. In the neighborhood of the corners of Eight Mile Grove and Centre precincts are several large and well planned barns—good samples of the best in the country. They are located on the farms of Jacob Tritsch, size 40x48; John Henning, 42x60 and Martin Frederick, 42x48; good healthy and high basements for stock, and are planned for farmers' economy by Geo. Merkle the contractor of that vicinity.

IMPORTANT TO THE CITIZENS.

A Traveling Man Creates Great Excitement in the Empire Home. INDEPENDENCE, IOWA, Oct. 14, 1888.

Rheumatic Syrup Co., Jackson, Mich. GENTS:—Your Mr. Brooks came here tonight and registered as agent for Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup, and as he did so it awakened in me an interest never before realized in a guest at my house. You will not wonder at it when I tell you the story. For years I have been greatly afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism, the pain and soreness of the joints at times being almost unbearable; could move about only with the aid of crutches. In addition to this my stomach became badly diseased, and neuralgia set in, which threatened to end my day. A traveling man stopping with me gave quite a history of your Syrup, and the peculiarities of its combination, which induced me to try it. I have taken six bottles and no act in my life affords me greater satisfaction than in writing you I am a well man.

It will be a pleasure for me to answer any communications, for I believe it to be the best remedy ever formulated. A. S. BOWLEY, Proprietor, Empire Home, Independence, Iowa.

THE HERALD Job Rooms are the most complete in the county.

It Was All Right. Our marriage is not a failure, is it, dear? No. And we just live like two turtle doves in leap year, and not a riplet rises to mar the harmony of our gently flowing lives does it!

No. And you love to bring up the coal for me, and hang out the clothes, and build the fires in the morning, and do everything to make your little wife happy?

Yes. And you want me to ask mother down to spend a couple of months with us? Now don't say no, but come and kiss me, that's a dear.

Yes, I will when you drop that rollingpin. —Texas Siftings.

If all that has been said by orators and poets since the creation of the world in praise of women were applied to the women of America, it would not do them justice for their conduct during the war.—President Lincoln.

His Serious Fault. A physician was negotiating the other day for a horse, which was warranted sound, a good roadster and everything that the heart of a driver could desire. As a final precaution he inquired: "Is he afraid of anything on the road?" "Well, not much of anything," hesitated the owner. "He shies a little at anything high—like the entrance to a cemetery." "And the man did not realize that he had said the wrong thing till the doctor's quizzical expression took the wool from his wits. Well, we are all a bit afraid of the entrance to a cemetery, but, shy as we may, thither we foud.—Boston Commonwealth.

Gathered Roses. "We thought her dying when she slept, And sleeping when she died." But the bitterest sting of such a sorrow is to think she might have been saved! They saw the rose fade on her cheek and the eye grow dim. Had they but known of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery who can tell but she might still be with them, the sunshine of their home.
