T. W. Riddle visited in Council Bluffs today.

—Born—to Mr. and Mrs. Judge A. N. Sullivan, a girl.

—The Louisville Advertiser has been superseded by the Observer which again comes on deck with G. W. Mayfield & Co, as proprietors.

—Dr. Cook has moved his office to the front room of the Carruth block where he can be found from 10 to 12 a. m. and 2:30 to 4:30 p. m.

—Regular services now at the tabernacle in South Park each Lord's day at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Sunday school at 10 a. m. All are invited to attend.

Miss Annie Mayer, sister of S. D. Mayer, of New York City, and Miss Cora Oppenheimer of Louisville, Ky., are visiting at the home of Mr. Mayer in this city.

—Rev. J. T. Baird, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will preach for Rev. Wood at the tabernacle in South Park next Lord's day evening at 8 p. m.

—A fine baby boy, yes, two of them—bouncing baby twins—arrived at the home of Judge S. M. Chapman last night. THE HERALD extends congratulations with a county of other friends.

—The Nebraska state encampment of the Sons of Veterans closed their meeting at Holdredge last night. Plattsmouth delegates made a proposition to secure the next encampment here but failed on account of her far eastern location, and Lincoln was chosen.

—Philip Krause has purchased himself a residence property in the Third Ward, of S. F. Thomas, on Marble street east of Judge Newell's. Phil knows the STAR CITY has backed him up and demonstrates his confidence in the town by permanently locating in the Third Ward.

—All parents who possibly can should take a holiday next Tuesday, and with their children go on the M. E. Sunday school excursion to Cushman Park, near Lincoln. Tickets have been prepared for sale to those desiring to attend that can be purchased now and presented to the ticket office Tuesday at the B. & M. depot and receive in exchange a round trip ticket to the park. The round trip full fare is $1.25 and half fare 65 cents.

—The "New Era Exposition" at St. Joe this fall, mentioned in the HERALD recently, pays attention only to farm products. Fine stock and horse racing which generally gets away with fair premiums will be set aside and money will be given to farm produce. As an example of what will be done, a prize of $500 cash will be paid for the largest twelve ears of corn bound together with the husks. The exposition will be open from September 3 to October 5.

—The Third ward was a topic for general discussion today, and it is now conceded that the charges of election frauds at the polls there are proven to be wholly false and maliciously gotten up, as recent developments show the ward is capable of greater accomplishments than many are willing to admit. The legal fraternity are all rejoicing and are happily released from all charges that have been made, and the accusers will now have to acknowledge they were made through ignorance. THE HERALD will explain by calling attention to the birth notices today.

A Comfortable Home

is one where a man that is weary can rest himself upon a nest sofa, if he is hungry he can go to the cupboard or safe and get something to eat, if he is thirsty he can draw a glass of cold water from the refrigerator, if he has company he can show them into a neatly furnished parlor and give them an elegantly arranged spare room, if the wife has sewing she can rest comfortably in a low rocking chair, in going out to call a fine dresser is at hand to arrange the appearance before and there is always a hat rack in the hall to keep personal property on and a jar to receive the wet umbrella. Be comfortable and happy and furnish your house from the Furniture Emporium of HENRY BOECK.

All invalids not benefited by present treatment, are in vited to call at parlors of the Riddle House Fridays. Physicians will be welcome. J14 d & w 1m.

THE WATER QUESTION.

The Difficulty Existing Between the City and the Water Company.

Will Lay no Mains until Paid for Lowering Last Fall.

Liable to Get into Court.

There is at present a difficulty existing between the city and the water company, which causes the water company to refuse to make any extensions of its water mains, and as the full circumstances are not generally well understood the HERALD will briefly attempt to explain them.

Last summer when the city was grading the streets, some of the water mains on Main street and elsewhere were exposed so that it was necessary to lower them. The water company, (the Western Construction Company), after lowering these mains presented a bill for actual costs, to the council for the work, and the city refused to pay it, claiming it was the duty of the company to keep their mains at proper level. The city ordered an extension of water mains, and then the company refused to extend the mains (nevertheless they would get the legal hydrant rental on them) till paid for the lowering of those other mains. Now this spring the city again instructed the city clerk to notify the company that all hydrant rental money would be withheld till the mains ordered last July were completed. Now the matter takes its first step towards court. The officials of the company at Boston consult their attorney, H. E. Bolles, of that city, on the matter, who of course reviewed the water ordinance and renders a "decision" for the company, finding—1st, The city is obliged to pay the annual rental for the 50 hydrants, the use and benefit of which they have had. They cannot take and accept your (the company's) goods, and then refuse to pay for them.

2d, The city is obliged to pay you (the company) for the cost of changing the location of any hydrants or mains directed by it.

3d, The city is obliged to pay you for change in location of any hydrants or mains which the city, by any action on its part, has physically rendered necessary to the reasonable operation of business.

4th, If you fail to put in extensions legally required by the city, they will have an independent and proper remedy against the water company therefore.

This is the way the matter now stands; the decision of Mr. Bolles has been read to the council and referred to the city attorney, and it is not unlikely that the matter will find its way into the courts.

Wedding Bells.

A pretty home wedding was celebrated last evening (4 o'clock) at the home of the bride's parents on Marble and Eleventh streets. Belle A. Wendell was the charming bride and Alvin E. Gass was the fortunate groom. All the appointments of the wedding were characterized by quiet elegance. The Rev. J. T. Baird of the First Presbyterian church officiated, rendering the beautiful service of the wedding ring. The rooms were made sweet and attractive with a profusion of choice flowers. A large, beautiful bell of cream tea roses, purple and white pansies, with trailing smilax, was suspended in the bay window of the parlor, and under it, on a pure white rug, stood the bridal couple during the ceremony and consequent congratulations. The bride wore an exquisite creation of white silk, made empire with broad sash about the waist, the bodice was sleeveless, the long undressed gloves of white quite covering the arms. She held a bouquet of bride's roses; a cluster of white rose buds at the throat were the only ornaments worn. The groom was attired in conventional black.

The ceremony was witnessed by intimate friends of the contracting parties, some of whom were from abroad. The presents were numerous and exceptional. An elaborate luncheon followed the ceremony and at its close the bridal couple departed for the west. Their trip includes points of interest in Colorado and Utah. They will be at home to friends after July 10th, residing at Pacific Junction, Iowa, where Mr. Gass holds a responsible position with the C. B. & Q. railroad.

Sensible People

will have nothing to do with "cure-all" medicines that are advertised to cure everything from chilblain to a broken neck. Read the list of diseases that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure: Affections of the throat and lungs, incipient consumption, disordered liver, sore throat, bronchitis, asthma, catarrh, ulcers, tumors and swellings caused by scrofula and bad blood; fever and ague and dropsy. This is not like a cure-all but it is not. This great "Discovery" will really cure all these complaints simply because it purifies the blood upon which they depend and builds up the weak places of the body. By druggists.

Good Old Times.

In one of the prominent barber shops of this city is an old colored man, who has been a barber nearly all his life. "Gentlemen don't take near the trouble with their hair that they used to," he remarked, as he deftly avoided slicing off an ear with the scissors. "Before the war nearly everybody that was any way fashionable had to have his hair curled. It was parted on each side of the head and curled up in the middle with the finger tongs. The younger men had their hair frizzed. We did that by curling it tight on irons and then combing it out. It was the soldiers who first started the fashion of short hair. Of course, they had to fix their hair so that it would be the least trouble, and finally everybody fell into their way. In those days, instead of having female hairdressers, the ladies who were getting ready for a ball or reception sent for a barber. Many a time I've gone out with all my curling irons and fluting irons to fix a lady's hair. They wanted their hair smooth in front and curled in long ringlets down their back. Sometimes the curls would be so long that they could sit on them. Often it has taken me three hours to do up a lady's hair, and I never got but a quarter, whether it was three hours or fifteen minutes."—Washington Critic.

A Tiny Republic.

A German traveler has discovered the very smallest republic in Europe. It is the hamlet of Goust, in the lower Pyrenees. It belongs neither to France nor to Spain. It has somewhat over 100 citizens, Roman Catholic in religion, who live by silk weaving, and constitute a brave and self dependent commonwealth. They have no taxes nor any other public charges. They have no mayor or other civil official. They have not even an established church or priest of their own, as they have incorporated themselves ecclesiastically with the neighboring village of Laruns, where their children are baptized, their betrothed couples married and their dead buried. The citizens of this republic live to a very great age. There are said to be both male and female centenarians among them. They always marry "foreigners"—that is to say, inhabitants of the neighboring states of France and Spain. Nobody is either rich or poor, noble or churl, master or servant.—Chicago Times.

Caught at Last.

Father (shouting down stairs in an angry voice)—Mary!

Mary (who is with her beau, who has been waiting on her for about three years)—Yes, sir.

F.—Is Mr. Slowcoach there?

M.—Yes, sir.

F.—Is he proposing to you that he is staying so late?

M. (to Mr. Slowcoach in a frightened whisper)—Oh! what shall I say?

Mr. S. (trembling in his boots)—Say yes.

M. (to her father)—Yes, papa.

F.—All right, all right; excuse me. Tell him he can have you. Bless you both, my children. He needn't hurry away.—Boston Courier.

A Questionable Success.

Angelina—And now that you have visited her school, Edwin, what is your decision regarding Madame Francois for our children? As to discipline, does she give that proper attention?

Edwin—Indeed she does, my dear. I was there the whole morning, and madame seemed to devote the entire time to preserving order.—Harper's Magazine.
