THE Omaha Bee, in looking for the position of leading organ of the democracy, pays a deserved tribute to a letter written by Governor Thayer from Lincoln this morning which fully establishes it as the cherished position of the leading democratic paper in the state. A republican that will support this vile sheet after its treachery is neither true to his party nor to himself.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S argument in vetoing the direct tax bill will make it rather awkward for President Harrison to sign it. Boston Herald.

President Cleveland also made arguments to hundreds of vetoes of old soldier bills, but it has not made President Harrison feel awkward while signing them. The men are built differently. Inter-Ocean.

A FARMER near Searsboro, Iowa, while digging a well the other day struck a vein of natural cheese three and one-half feet thick at a depth of eighty-three feet. He has just received an analysis from a reputable Chicago chemist, who says it is a cheese of a very high grade. It is of a beautiful golden color and will keep any length of time." If he keeps following this lead he will probably strike the pie formation from which are quarried those of the railway restaurant variety. Ex

AFTER looking with calmness for the cause of the splendid municipal victories won in New York this spring, the Albany Journal comes to the conclusion that it can be nothing else than a reaction against the lying done about the new tariff law by the democrats during the last campaign. Other causes have contributed to the general discomfiture of the bourbons, and "a re-aroused republican party confronts a divided and demoralized democracy throughout the interior of New York." That begins to sound like old times. State Journal.

RECOGNIZING BLAIN'S SERVICES

The address to Mr. Blaine of the wholesale merchants in New York City, signed by firms representing $24,000,000 invested in actual business, is a remarkable testimony of the appreciation of the great services rendered to American trade by Mr. Blaine's policy of reciprocity. The signers of the address do not belong to any one party. The names of democrats as well as republicans are appended to it.

The magnificent stroke of statesmanship by which Mr. Blaine has secured for this country a market that will absorb millions of dollars of American products so far transcends ordinary party measures that sensible and patriotic democrats join in the praise that is universally bestowed upon the secretary of state for the services he has rendered the country by the inauguration of a policy which promises to produce results of incalculable value.

The signers of the address are men of affairs, who can set a proper estimate on the character of the benefits that Mr. Blaine has been instrumental in conferring on the country. They cannot, therefore, be misled by the carping criticism of free-trade and mugwump press, which is doing its best to minimize and depreciate the policy of reciprocity with South America. New York merchants who have dealings with South American States, and have therefore a practical knowledge of what reciprocity with these countries can effect, radically disagree with the views of these anti-Blaine sheets. These sheets, however, may be expected to keep up their attacks on reciprocity, which they assail principally because it is associated with the name of one whom they hate. Irish World.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.

SIR CUPID.

Sir Cupid once, as I have heard,
Determined to discover
What kind of a man a maid preferred
Selecting for a lover.
So, putting on a soldier's coat,
He talked of martial glory;
And from the way he talked, they say,
She seemed to like the story!

Then, with a smile sedate and prim,
He changed his style and station;
In shovel hat and gaiters trim
He made his visitation.
He talked of tithes, discoursed on that,
Of Palestine and Hermon;
And from the way he preached, they say,
She seemed to like the sermon.

Then dressed again, he came to her
A courtier, ruffling gaudy;
He [illegible]
As [illegible]

And [illegible]
