Remarkable Facts.
Heart disease is usually supposed to be incurable, but when properly treated a large portion of cases can be cured. Thus Mrs. Elmina Hatch, of Ellsbury, Ind., and Mrs. Mary L. Baker, of Ovid, Mich., were cured after suffering 20 years. S. C. Liburger, druggist at San Jose, Ill., says that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure which cured the former, cured several others. For instance, Levi Logan of Buchanan, Mo., who had heart disease for 30 years, says two bottles made him "feel like a new man." Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold and guaranteed by F. G. Fricke & Co. Book of wonderful testimonials free.

Some years ago Chamberlain & Co., of Des Moines, Iowa, commenced the manufacture of a cough syrup, believing it to be the most prompt and reliable preparation yet produced for coughs, colds and croup; that the public appreciate true merit, and in time it was certain to become popular. Their most sanguine hopes have been more than realized. Over three hundred thousand bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy are now sold each year, and it is recognized as the best made, wherever known. It will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment. For sale by F. G. Fricke & Co.

The holding of the World's Fair in a city scarcely fifty years old will be a remarkable event, but whether it will really benefit this nation as much as the discovery of the Restorative Nervine by Dr. Franklin Miles is doubtful. This is just what the American people need to cure their excessive nervousness, dyspepsia, headache, dizziness, sleeplessness, neuralgia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, etc. It acts like a charm. Trial bottle and fine book on "Nervous and Heart Diseases," with unequalled testimonials free at F. G. Fricke & Co. It is warranted to contain no opium, morphine or dangerous drugs.

MRS. MERGES.

Remarkable Rescue.
Mrs. Michael Curtis, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. The old doctor was of the opinion of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her Druggist suggested Dr. King's new discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from the dose. She continued it a week and after taking ten bottles found herself sound and well now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this great discovery at F. G. Fricke & Co.'s Drug Store, 24th St., and 21st St.

Wills' Nerve and Liver Pills.

Unequaled for men, women, children. Smallest, mildest, safest. 50 doses, 25c. Sample free at F. G. Fricke & Co's.

The New Discovery.
You have heard your friends and neighbors talking about it. You may yourself have heard one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. If you have tried it you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is, that when once given a trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever after holds a place in the house. If you have never used it and should be afflicted with a cough, cold or any throat, lung or chest trouble, secure a bottle at once and give it a fair trial. It is guaranteed every time, or money refunded. Trial bottles free at F. G. Fricke & Co's druggist.

ART OF PRIMITIVE MEN.
Two Totally Distinct Types Are Found Among Uncultured Races.

Whoever has examined the handicraft of savage peoples knows well that from a very early age two totally distinct types of art arise spontaneously among uneducated races. One is imitative and the other decorative. Paleolithic men—for example, the cave dwellers of prehistoric Europe before the glacial epoch—had an art of their own of a purely imitative and pictorial character. They represented on fragments of bone and mammoth ivory realistic scenes of their own hunting expeditions.

Here, a naked and hairy brute, flint spear in hand, stalks wild horses unsmiled in the grassy plain; there, a couple of reindeer engaged in a desperate fight with their antlers hard locked in deadly embrace; yonder, again, a mammoth charges unwarily with wide open mouth, or a snake glides unseen beneath the shelter of a log of an unsuspecting savage. All their rude works of art reproduce living objects, and tell, in their naive way, a distinct story. They are pictorial records of things done, things seen, things suffered.

Paleolithic men were essentially draughtsmen, not decorators. But their neolithic successors, of a totally different race—the herdsmen who supplanted them in post-glacial Europe—had an art of an entirely different type, purely and solely decorative. Instead of making pictures they drew concentric circles and ornamental curves on their boats and dwellings; they adorned their weapons and their implements with knobs and necks, with crosses and bosses; they wrought beautiful patterns in metal work as soon as ever they advanced to the bronze using stage, and they designed intricate brooches and bracelets of exquisite elegance, but they seldom introduced into their craft any living object; they imitated nothing, and they never in any way told a pictorial story.

Now these two types of art—the essentially imitative or pictorial and the essentially decorative or aesthetic—persist throughout in various human races, and often remain as entirely distinct as in the typical instances here quoted. The great aim of the one is to narrate a fact; the great aim of the other is to produce a beautiful object. The first is to speak historical, the second ornamental.

In developed forms you get the extreme case of the one in the galleries at Versailles; you get the extreme case of the other in the Alhambra at Granada. The modern Esquimaux and the modern Bushman resemble the ancient cave dwellers in their love of purely pictorial or story telling art; a man in a kayak harpooning a whale; a man with an assegai spearing a springbok; these are the subjects that engage—I will not say their pencils—but their sharp flint knives or their lumps of red ochre.

On the other hand, most central African races have no imitative skill. They draw figures and animals ill or not at all, but they produce decorative pottery and other ornamental objects which would excite attention at Versailles, and be well placed at the arts and crafts in the new gallery. Everywhere racial taste and racial faculty tend most in the one or the other direction. A tribe, a horde, a nation, is pictorial, or else it is decorative. Rarely or never is it both alike in an equal degree of native excellence. —Fortnightly Review.

An Artist Fooled.
Irving Montagu writes in "Wanderings of a War Artist": "One evening I met two very fascinating Spanish girls in a quiet quarter of Paris, one of whom, being a blonde, was enveloped in a white mantilla. It being customary on meeting a white mantilla to extend her somewhat similar homage to that paid to royalty, I raised my hat, and stepped on one side to allow the couple to pass, when, in doing so, I saw to my horror, by the light of the moon, that they were followed closely by a grim and grotesque reptile, half lizard, half frog, which with a series of spasmodic bounds, was making directly for their heels. Oh, the horrid beast, the indescribable monstrosity! To rush forward and trample on the uncanny thing was the work of a moment.

"I was dumfounded; my exploit of heroism, far from inducing the gratitude I expected, was immediately followed by roars of laughter, the merry ring of which reverberated on the still night air. 'Unconscionable fool' does not express the littleness I felt as I was subjected to the ridicule of those wily dandies, and if a man is capable of that becoming peculiarity, I must have blushed scarlet. I had trodden on El drag— a piece of cloth cut into the semblance of some monstrous lizard, and attached by a thread to the skirt of the maiden, so that, by certain dexterous movements and hitches it could be made to leap after her as she hurried along. It was the Basque equivalent for the old English jokes practiced on the 1st of April."

Great Expectations.
Miss Lawson—Tom Lackland will be a great catch now.
Mr. D'Argent—Why? He hasn't any money.
Miss Lawson—Yes, but he'll be worth a million soon. His uncle died yesterday.
Mr. D'Argent—I thought the old gentleman never liked Tom.
Miss Lawson—He didn't. That's just it. He left the whole of his fortune to found a free library.—Kate Field's Washington.

Property Destroyed.
"They have queer laws out in Missouri."
"In what way are they queer?"
"Here's an account of the arrest of a man for breaking a horse's gait."—Munsey's Weekly.

After the Arrival of the New Baby.
Mama—Johnny, why don't you come in to see mama when she's sick? Don't you love me any more?
Johnny—Oh, yes, mama; but I didn't know but perhaps it might be catching. —Puck.
