A PROSPECTOR'S STOLEN FORTUNE. THE BEST SALVE in the world for Cuts Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever

Bandits Compel a "Forty-niner" to Reyeal the Hiding Place of $100,000. "The good old days are gone," sighed the Forty-niner, "and they'll never come again. When youth's pulse beats high with pleasure, when the sky is clear and there are no black and lowering clouds on the horizon, when, in short, a man feels that all he has to do to acquire a controlling interest in the earth is to apply at the office and hand in his name, then-why, then life is worth hving." "What's the matter?" I inquired. "I've been thinking again. I tell you, think. If he can remember without thinking he's all regit, but when he gets to comparing the present with the past he's in a bad way, and he's sure to get downhearted. "California?"

"Yes. Can't help it. 1 will be thinkscore years and ten, and I've only got enough money to procure the necessities of life. And who is thankful for that? Who is grateful for roast beef and potatoes when he has an appetite for terrapin and champagne? And yet once I had more money than I could have spent during my whole life," "How was that?"

"In 1851 I was prospecting in California, and struck it rich. My partner and I located a claim that had millions in it. apparently. We didn't have capital enough to work it, and so we went up to Frisco to find a purchaser. We found him too. His name was Moore, and he was a well known character on the coast. He had made a couple of millions working a mine he had bought for $500. Well, we convinced him we had a good thing, and he gave us $200,000 in my share anywhere, so I loaded it in flour bags on a cart and drove down to San Jose. In the hills back of the town was a cave 1 had discovered a year before. It was so situated that it couldn't be discovered except by accident. "I buried the money in a corner of the cave and went gleefully back to San Jose. As soon as I got into town a party of Mexican bandits captured me and informed me that if I didn't conduct them Fricke & Co. It is warranted to con | to my buried treasure I was a dead man. Life was sweet to me at that time, and I didn't hesitate. They dug up my $100-000, gave me $200 to keep me from want and rode off to the southward. I never saw any of them again for ten years, when I met one of the band in Los Angeles. We had a friendly conversation, in the course of which 1 asked him how he and his companions knew that I possessed the treasure. " 'You couldn't have seen me carry it to the cave,' I said, 'for if you had there would have been no need of taking me prisoner.'

Origin of the Clearing House.

A correspondent asks: "When and where did she 'clearing house' originate?' In 1775 the bankers of London rented a house in Lombard street and fitted it with tables and desks for the use of their clerks, as a place where bills, notes, drafts and other commercial paper might be exchanged without the trouble of personal visits of employes to all the metropolitan banks. Transfer tickets were used, and by means of this simple plan transactions involving many millions were settled without a penny changing hands. The Bank of England and every other important bank in London are members of the Clearing House association. The first clearing house in the United States was established by the associated banks of New York in 1853 .-St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The Treatment of Dandruff. Dr. Edward Clarke states that he has had good results in persistent dandruff
