

West Fourth Ward School Notes.
This school is under the supervision of Miss Maggie Wright and Miss Hemple, with an enrollment of one hundred and twenty-three pupils, and a brighter lot of children would be hard to find.

Friday afternoon was devoted to literary exercises, and to say that it was a success would be drawing it very mild. It has been our privilege to listen to children in exercises of this kind quite often and those of yesterday excelled anything we have as yet heard. The children had their parts almost perfect and their acts showed excellent training.

The teachers of this building may well feel proud of their efforts, which are highly appreciated by the patrons, many of whom were present yesterday to smile on the efforts of the happy children.

Among the visitors were Prof. McClelland and the senior class, Mrs. E. Young, Mrs. A. G. Hatervis, Mrs. Jas. Pine, Mrs. Charles Butler, Mrs. Wash Smith, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Cochran, Mrs. B. Hemple, Miss Kate Hemple and others too numerous to mention.

Following is the program:

Are we in it? Are we in it? Are we in it?
Well I should say so, when it comes to wall paper, or wall paper or wall paper, we are clear in it, that is with the largest stock greatest variety and the lowest prices. We call the attention of, and invite, every one to come and examine our stock and prices. Who are we that advertise thus? We are the lowest price, and the leading house in the wall paper business, the only small things about us is our prices. Gering & Co., druggist.

Diffusion.
Oh, sweet reality long deferred
Blest hope so fair and strong!
And love notes trembled in each soft word
Till spured my spirit like some glad bird
Whose heart to tenderest depths is stirred
And my soul burst forth in song!

No fear gave warning or doubt demurred:
Faith lulled in slumbers long
That same sweet symphony oft recurred,
And dearer, tenderer each time heard,
Like wood note wild of a love mad bird
Whose being is lost in song!

Ah, page of destiny, dim and blurred
With tears of pain and wrong!
Ah, means of agony all unheeded!
Blind fool to trust in a woman's word!
Nay, never again shall this heart be stirred
By glories of sun or song!
—Montgomery M. Folsom in Atlanta Constitution.

Old Jokes Are Good.
A professional humorist said the other day: "There is a great truth about jokes which both readers and writers recognize in practice, but do not often formulate. It is this:
A good joke improves no less with age than does wine. Once upon a time there was a famous speaker whose tolerably bad lecture started off and ended with two of the most exquisite jokes ever invented. People traveled miles and sat patiently through the same lecture year after year to split their sides laughing at the same old jokes. After the effect of the introductory joke had worn off there was always perfect silence until the lecture was three-quarters done, when the anticipations of an audience which had never been swindled would begin to break out in gurgling laughter, nods, winks and whispers of "It's coming!" And when at last this well seasoned old chunk of wit brought the performance to a close the very roof was raised.

But one fatal night there was a bad case of dyspeptic pessimism in a front seat. It is true that when he roared "chestnut" at the first joke the audience nearly mobbed him, but the lecturer's tender spot was touched. He prepared a new lecture, which began and ended with two absolutely fresh jokes. When the lecturer walked upon the platform with his new manuscript in his hand he received an ovation.

The first new joke seemed to stupefy the people. But a few sentences of the new lecture woke them up, and they rose as one man and demanded their money at the box office. At the next town the lecturer affixed the old jokes to the new lecture, and all went so well that he is still cracking them with constantly increasing success.—Chicago Mail.

A "Homeless" Novelist.
Mr. David Christie Murray has been recounting to the good people of South Australia how he became a novelist. On his first arrival in London he found, like so many others, the difficulty of getting employment on the press. Before the turn of the tide came, he says, he had four days' wandering in the streets, and at nights sat on the benches of the Thames embankment in most curious company. He was at last helped by the late John Lovell, of the Press association, afterward of the Liverpool Mercury, who "invented" some work for him, and sent him two guineas in a pill box, labeled "To be taken immediately."—London Tit-Bits.

A Curious Apache Belief.
The Apache Indians' religious belief prevents them from committing murder in the dark. If a dozen Apaches should discover a man sleeping by his camp fire at night no amount of money would hire them to attack him until the sun came up. They believe that if they kill a man at night their own souls will walk in eternal darkness forever. Knowing this curious superstition, hunters, scouts, trappers and others traveling through the Apache nation move about during the night and lay by in some safe retreat during the day.—St. Louis Republic.

The word catarrh, as popularly used, means either nasal catarrh or bronchitis. Nasal catarrh is often helped by snuffing up, so as to carry it into the mouth, a weak solution of salt and water, repeating the operation several times a day. Where the disease is very persistent, it is well, when possible, to try a change of climate. In bronchitis the case should be attended by a physician.

Electric Bitters.
This remedy is becoming so well and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise. Baby is Sick.—The woeful expression of a Des Moines teamster's countenance showed his deep anxiety was not entirely without cause, when he inquired of a druggist of the same city what was the best to give to a baby for a cold? It was not necessary for him to say more, his countenance showed that the pet of the family, if not the idol of his life was in distress. "We give our baby Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," was the druggist's answer. "I don't like to give the baby such strong medicine," said the teamster. "You know John Oleson, of the Waters-Talbot Printing Co., don't you? Inquired the druggist. His baby, when eighteen months old, got hold of a bottle of Chamberlain Cough Remedy and drank the whole of it. Of course it the baby vomit very freely but did not hurt it the least, and what is more it cured the baby's cold. The teamster already knew the value of the Remedy, having used it himself, and was now satisfied that there was no danger in giving it even to a baby. For Sale by F. G. Fricke & Co Druggists.
