The livery barns will furnish conveyance next Friday night for the lecture at Mercerville for 25 cents round trip.

There are twenty-two steam boats plying the waters of the Missouri River between St. Louis and Sioux City.

Jim Muir's "New Home" canine is a dandy with the words of the favorite sewing machine deftly painted on his side.

A member of the depot force is reported as being married, but is too modest to mention it. We will give his name shortly.

Hal Johnson, conductor of the Rock Bluffs express, was reported in three minutes late this morning owing to a defective track.

The Capitola Butts, Ol Butts' river steamer, laid up all night down near the bridge. It was bound for Omaha and "weighed anchor" for that point about 6 o'clock this morning.

Next Saturday is Decoration day, one of the most impressive holidays of the year. A day, full of patriotic sentiment, and loving remembrance of the sainted soldiers who sacrificed their lives to protect the honor and unity of their country.

Plattsmouth people have never seen in this city as interesting a show as "The Twelve Temptations," to be at the opera house to-morrow night. THE HERALD will stake its dramatic reputation, on everybody being delighted who are so fortunate as to attend.

Major Pinkerton, the night operator, has been promoted to the position of night agent. As the pay has not been increased with the honors, he takes great comfort in listening during the long hours of the night to the stirring music furnished by Dovey on his $500 violin.

District Court.

Christian Gauer vs. John Black for breach of warranty is on trial this afternoon. A divorce was granted Mrs. Brittain against her husband as prayed for in her petition.

Why is it?

There is an ordinance in this city against horses and cattle running at large on streets or alleys. Now the question arises as to why it is not enforced in all cases and why it is that it is enforced in certain localities and against certain parties and not against others? In this matter, as well as many others, there is too much of a disposition or fact as you please, to ask, "well, whose cow is this," and "who does that mule belong to?" Oh, well, better not do it. He might feel bad, and besides, look at the influence the man exerts," and all this kind of bosh is practiced in this matter. A poor man whose cow comes in the way is bled every time. The man with the influence and almighty dollars turns his cows and mules loose and devil a word do you hear. To the writer's own personal knowledge, the city police impounded three head of cattle; two of them were owned by one man. He paid his dollar and took charge of his stock, and before the gate was locked, and in less than two minutes afterwards, the other one was turned loose, with the remark that "well, I guess I might as well turn her loose. Perhaps they will take care of her and send her in cash; the other stood in with the gang."

A little girl came very near being kicked Monday by a mule while playing in its own door yard, and the animal was not out by accident, either; it is out almost every day and has been for months. The police have been apprized of this matter but pay no attention to it—at least the mule still roams at will. The query is—why is it?

This matter should be looked into. If the ordinance is defective, remedy it. If the ordinance is not in accordance with the law, repeal it and let us all turn our stock out. If the law is all right, then let our officials enforce it and place every man on an equal footing and not make pets and law breakers of a portion of our citizens and law abiding citizens of the balance. If our police is to blame in this matter, then remedy that, but let us take some steps that will place Plattsmouth citizens on an equal with equal protection, regardless of political influence.

CRITICISM.

Election of Officers.

The Odd Fellows elected officers for the ensuing year at their hall last night as follows: Noble grand, Lora Davis; vice grand, C. H. Peters; secretary, E. J. Hansen, Jr.; J. G. Larson was elected a delegate to the grand lodge.

The Track Layers.

The M. P. folks got as far as the Lydia Livingston farm, south of John Cummins', last night and can easily reach Capt. Wiles' to-day. And if there is no rain to prevent, they will lay track in the city limits to-morrow. The B. & M. people are getting ready for the track layers on the Platte river bridge to-day by shifting the track over to the east side so that the M. P. will have more room. It is said the patent reversible frogs will be put in, so that neither train will have to stop to turn switches or keep a switchman on the ground. The depot materials will be brought in and work begun on that structure as soon as the track reaches this city.

That Other Road.

The Omaha Bee, in speaking of new roads likely to be built, touches up the line that Plattsmouth expects to get, as follows:

The second road that is looking for an Omaha connection is the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City, the "Maple Leaf" line. This company has a line from Chicago to St. Paul and one to Kansas City, touching also at St. Joseph. A line to Omaha is all that the company needs to cut a pretty wide swath in the business from Missouri river points. It is the purpose of the company to build a line from the Kansas City branch to Omaha commencing at or near Des Moines and running through the southern tier of Iowa counties between the Rock Island and Burlington lines.

Plans for this extension were ripe a year ago and work was about to be commenced when the money market became so close that cash for railroad building was withdrawn entirely.

Mr. C. R. Berry of St. Joseph, assistant and general freight agent of the road, was in Omaha yesterday and informed a reporter for the Bee that the building of the proposed line to Omaha was again being considered and that probabilities were that work would be commenced within a month. "By the use of the Wabash connection," said Mr. Berry, "the 'Maple Leaf' took 9,000 carloads of Wabash freight for eastern points last year. The company can't afford to stay out of Omaha and I predict that the 'Maple Leaf' will be in a position to haul a good share of Nebraska's big corn crop to market this fall."

List of Letters.

Remaining unclaimed in the Post Office at Plattsmouth, May 27, 1891, for the week ending May 20:

Adams, G. W. Brown, E. E. Chas. F. M. Danielson, John Deel, E. E. Hawkin, J. E. Iselder, Laberghen, Chas. Polys, Rena Smith, Robt. E. Sch. vander Adam Van Fleet, Robt.

Persons calling for any of the above letters will please say "advertised." H. J. STREIGHT, P. M.

The "police court" is on the jury this afternoon in the district court, hence no news from that quarter.

Henry Gering and Dr. Deane, L. L. Murray are enjoying themselves at the State Pharmaceutical Convention which is now in session at Reatrice.

Don't forget the "Twelve Temptations" at the opera house to-morrow night it will be by all odds the greatest show of the year. If you miss it you will regret it.

The Riley block, or rather the square of which the Riley block is the largest part, will furnish a nine to play a nine recruited from the square between Boeck's corner and Carrieth's at the bull park next Monday.

Two cars of oranges from California and one car of race horses passed through on the passenger train this morning bound for Chicago. They were transferred at Ashland and came in on the Schuyler to connect again with No. 4.

R. W. Hyers was censured a year or two ago for representing to the farmers that the Nebraska Live Company was an unsafe institution. Today the company is bankrupt and is in the hands of a receiver as Mr. Hyers predicted it would be.

The "Twelve Temptations" showed to crowded houses three nights in succession at Omaha less than six months ago yet they are there again this week for three nights, certainly a good showing as to the merit of the entertainment.

Gust Reinheckel is reported dangerously ill at Colorado City. The folks here received a message yesterday morning saying some of them should come at once; an indication showing that he is worse. Albert left on the first train for his bedside. We hope he will find him much better on his arrival.

A large company of Portuguese citizens passed through Omaha yesterday on their way to California. They were an unusually bright appearing crowd of foreigners and carried with them an interpreter. One of the boys in the crowd, a lad about thirteen or fourteen years of age, got off the train at Omaha to look about the depot, and while he was out on his tour of observation the train and party moved out, the interpreter carrying his ticket. The poor fellow soon discovered he was left without ticket and money, and being unable to make anyone understand him, as Portuguese is a rare language, he started west on the B. & M. track at a lively trot for California. The unfortunate boy may have a hard time of it before he is able to make anyone understand who he is and where he wants to go, as the party were compelled to go to Hastings before they could obtain a layover. We learned from the interpreter that the boy's name was "Gonzalus."
